REPORT.

Office of Factory Inspector,

Albany, January 31, 1900.

To the Legislature:

The Fourteenth Annual Report of the Factory Inspector of the State of New York is herewith presented for your consideration. We feel that we have cause for mutual felicitation, in that we are able to call your attention to a decidedly marked improvement in the general character of our work.

During the year 1899 we have noted with great satisfaction the increased interest in the work of the Department which has been manifested by the people of the State. From all directions, and from all classes of citizens, there has come to us that which establishes beyond question or doubt, the fact that the Department of Factory Inspection is regarded as one of the most important branches of the State administration. Our work is watched and followed with the keenest interest and appreciation. We have studiously applied ourselves to the task of fostering and encouraging this tendency among our people, feeling convinced that they have but to realize fully the beneficial character of the work performed by us, to make them loyal friends and supporters of the Department. We have endeavored to administer, with strict impartiality, all the laws referred to us for attention and enforcement, always recognizing the important fact, that in the proper enforement of our factory and other legislation, lies the secret of our success. We have not lost sight of the fact that the manufacturer or employer has certain rights and privileges under the law, as well as the worker or employe. We have not knowingly violated any such rights. Great care has been exercised in dealing with the many varied interests with which we are brought in contact, to the end that the arm of the law could not be charged with interfering or retarding the industrial growth of our State or of endangering its supremacy as a manufacturing centre.

Governor Roosevelt, in his message to the Legislature one year ago, urged the enactment of certain amendments to our laws. The Legislature heeded his recommendations, amending our laws and increasing our force of inspectors, thereby materially extending the sphere of our power and usefulness.

Reference will be made to these amended and new laws under the proper heading and we will undoubtedly be able to satisfy the most skeptical mind of the eminent propriety and wisdom of the course taken by our Governor and the Legislature in relation to our Department.

SUMMARY OF WORK.

The following is a condensed statement of the work of the Bureau for the year last past and ending November 30, 1899:

The month of May, 1899, marked the commencement of a new era in the history of the Department of Factory Inspection in this State; not so much because of a new regime, but because the people, through the Legislature and the Executive, had delegated to us new powers, had increased our responsibilities, had brought the Department into new relation, and we were confronted with the task of formulating a mode of procedure for the discharge of these new obligations. We must confess that as yet we are not entirely free from the limitations of the formative period, but we are pleased to be able to say that we are now in a position to move without uncertainty and embarrassment.

LAWS.

So much has been said in former reports upon the subject of factory legislation that we deem it a useless waste of time to repeatedly cover this ground. We regard this class of legislation as a proper exercise of the State's police powers—extending to the workingmen and women of the State such protection as they are entitled to, without interfering with the interests of the employer, to the injury of the business.

Under the provisions of chapter 192 of the Laws of 1899, our Department, in a certain sense, becomes a department for the inspection of public works. Section 3 of article I of the Labor Law, which regulates the hours of labor and the wages to be paid on all public works, is to be enforced by our inspectors.

THE "EIGHT-HOUR" LAW.

Section 3 of the Labor Law, commonly called the Eight-hour Law, is without doubt one of the most far-reaching and important pieces of labor legislation ever enacted. It is the first effective law of this character this State has ever had. Former laws for the regulation of the hours of labor on public works were so framed that they were easily evaded, the provisions thereof permitting overtime for extra compensation, thereby always furnishing an effective means of violation without redress or penalty.

The present law absolutely prohibits overtime or overwork upon public work, whether for the State or a municipal corporation, except in cases of emergency caused by danger to life or property. The pretense of working for extra compensation is therefore removed, and eight hours is the rule on public contracts entered into on and after May 12, 1899.

Since the provisions of article I of the Labor Law went into effect there have been lodged with the Department some 115 complaints reporting violation of its requirements; 60 of these complaints were sustained on investigation, and a compliance secured and established. In eight cases the complaints were sustained, our effort to secure compliance failed, and the matters were placed in the hands of the district attorneys of the counties wherein the violations occurred. In 17 cases the complaints were not sustained and in 10 cases investigation revealed the fact that the provision of the law did not clearly apply. In the case of 20 complaints the matters are now pending final settlement.

The terms of the law are so broad and far-reaching that they embrace every contract and all kinds of day labor of a public character which in its performance contemplates the employment, in any capacity, of laborers, workingmen or mechanics. No distinction is made, no contract or other form of public work is exempt. It will therefore be seen that its ramifications are widespread and extensive, and an absolutely literal interpretation of its provisions would preclude the purchasing of stock articles under public contract, unless these same articles were produced under the conditions specified in the law. It is eminently just and proper that the State should lead in all kinds and classes of reform, and the trend of the times is toward a general short workday of eight hours. Why then should we not insist that everything purchased with the people's money should be produced under the very best conditions obtainable in the matter of hours of labor and wages paid to the producers?

The observance of a universal eight-hour workday would undoubtedly prove of immense value and benefit to our working people, and, eventually, to the State and nation. Is it not possible that under its operation the producing capacity of our workers would be enhanced and increased? The time that would be devoted by them to the recreation and development of their physical, mental and moral faculties could not but prove of incalculable benefit. It will be admitted by all that a correct or scientific knowedge of the principles applicable to any class of work or trade, coupled with skill to apply that knowledge, is far superior to mere brute force or muscular energy. The need of the hour seems to be men of intelligence, and surely the opportunity to acquire knowledge should be within the reach of every workman, tradesman and mechanic. Another argument in support of the universal eight-hour day is that a higher, better and more intelligent grade of citizenship will ultimately result therefrom.

Long hours of hard manual labor destroy the mental appetite in almost every instance. The man is unfitted for reading or study—he is physically tired—and his intellect is inactive. The drain upon his vitality has been continuous and heavy and he must needs sleep in order to recuperate. This continues indefinitely—each succeeding day being but a repetition of the former. Under these conditions, how can the workman familiarize himself with the questions of import that agitate the public mind? The proper exercise of the elective franchise depends upon a clear conception and understanding of the issues involved in questions of public or governmental policy. Reduce the hours of labor to eight per day and each workman who desires to be informed will have the necessary time at his disposal in which to acquire knowledge. Another argument in favor of an eight-hour day is that it would mean a greater division of the opportunities to work and to earn a living, helping, in a measure at least, to relieve congested conditions and to solve the oft-recurring problem, "What shall we do with our unemployed?"

Allied to the question of a legal workday of eight hours is the question of wages to be paid for labor performed upon public work. The law provides that "the prevailing rate for a day's work in the same trade or occupation," must be paid. Every complaint which has been lodged with the Department relative to a violation of this law made the specific charge that less than the "prevailing rate of wages" was being paid for work on public contracts. Our investigations generally sustained the charges, but the perplexing question was almost invariably asked of us, "What is the prevailing rate of wages?" Officials of municipalities, and contractors, argued that inasmuch as they hired and paid their workmen by the hour, they were only required to pay for a legal workday at the hourly rate of compensation. We have steadfastly maintained that the Legislature did not intend to limit the earning capacity of workingmen, and we have been fairly successful in securing compliances upon the theory that the correct meaning of the law is, that each workman employed on public work must receive for a legal workday of eight hours, the prevailing rate of wages paid for a full day regardless of the number of hours accepted as constituting such full day. The amount of wages to be paid for labor on public work is therefore a question of fact and must be determined by a careful and searching inquiry in each and every locality where the issue is raised.

Our investigations of complaints on this point have been extensive and exhaustive, and the result as a rule, very gratifying. We recognize fully the importance of an absolutely fair and impartial adjudication of such issues. We have not permitted our natural pre-disposition in favor of the workingman to swerve our judgment or to influence our action. The contractor or employer's rights have at all times been carefully considered and our efforts have been directed toward securing a compliance with the provisions of the law, without arousing opposition on the part of the people to one of the best labor laws ever placed on our statute books.

In order to enable us to more effectively enforce this law, we would respectfully recommend that the Penal Code be amended, so as to conform to the textual construction of the statute relative to the liability of sub-contractors and others for a violation of its provisions.

RAILROAD LAW.

The provisions of the statute relative to the hours of labor on street surface and elevated railroads are not entirely satisfactory The ability of railroad companies to evade the requirements of this law is well known and the difficulty experienced in an effort to enforce the law is due mainly to its defective construction. It should be so amended as to prohibit the employment of any person for more than 10 hours in any one day of 24 hours upon any street surface or elevated railroad in cities of the first and second class.

WEEKLY PAYMENT OF WAGES.

During the year the Department has investigated 34 serious complaints relative to violation of the provisions of the Weekly Payment Law. Of these complaints 13 were sustained on investigation and a compliance with the law insisted upon and obtained. Eight complaints were found to be groundless, and in 13 cases charges were made against concerns to which the law did not apply. The deputy inspectors of the Department brought to our attention 39 violations of the Weekly Payment Law, all of which were promptly attended to and full compliance with the terms of the statute secured.

This law affords protection to workingmen against the methods of individuals who band themselves into incorporated or joint stock concerns for the transaction of business, and who depend mainly upon the labor of their employes to carry them along on the business tide. Owing to the anxiety of the men to secure employment and to then retain it, they become the unwilling and defenceless prey of such combinations, ofter having to become the forced creditors of these corporations in order to unable them to discharge their obligations to some other presumbably richer corporation. To guard the interests of the weak and defenceless toiler, the State, by whose grace the corporation exists, provides that each such corporation shall pay to its employes their full wages in cash each and every week.

It is a singular and remarkable fact, that although this law has been in effect for many years, some of the best informed men in the ranks of labor are ignorant of its provisions. It affects no business unless the same is conducted or carried on by a corporation or join stock company organized under recognized laws. Notwithstanding this fact, complaints are frequently filed against individuals and private companies, co-partnerships, etc. It is the rule of the Department to carefully investigate all complaints, and we often find that our time has been wasted, simply because the party making the complaints did not know or understand the scope of the law.

TRADES UNION LABEL.

The Department has not been called upon to investigate or prosecute a single violation of the law regarding labels, brands, etc. This would imply and indicate that our State is comparatively free from violations of the law in this respect.

SCAFFOLDING.

The importance of the provisions of the law relative to scaffolding, ropes, etc., has not been fully determined or realized by but a very few, even of those whose interests are protected thereby. We have received but five complaints about defective scaffolds, and in each case a full compliance with the law has been secured. Our deputies have, however, on several occasions taken the initiative, thereby themselves becoming the complainants; and, as a results of their efforts, compliance with the law has been secured in many instances.

The protection afforded to the life and limb of workmen employed and engaged in building operations and general construction should receive the careful attention of all workingmen and also of all others who are interested in their welfare.

There is no class of work which offers greater inducements to risk the use of poor, weak and defective appliances and tools. The cost of scaffolding, tools, etc., is a large and important item in the account of a general contractor, and naturally he is quite anxious to cut down to a minimum the final cost of equipment, in order that the margin on the contract may be correspondingly larger.

In the absence of a good "employers' liability act" upon our statute books, the importance of a strict enforcement of the provisions of our Scaffolding Law cannot be overestimated, and the attention of workingmen generally is called to the law.

FACTORY LAW.

The articles of the Labor Law, that might be distinctly referred to as the Factory Law, have so often been the subject of comment that we feel we can pass on to the consideration of the application of amended portions thereof, without in any way impairing the value of this report.

CHILD LABOR.

The importance of a thorough and forceful application of the provisions of the "Child Labor Law" is fully understood and appreciated. In many instances we have had to prosecute violators of this provision of the law, and our earnest efforts to secure convictions have been very successful. We are determined to apply ourselves with still greater energy to a stringent enforcement of this law, believing that such a course can only result to the advantage of the State and its varied interests. The education of the native born and immigrant child is a matter in which the State is deeply concerned. The caliber of its future citizenship is of great import; and without a thorough and conscientious application of the Compulsory Education and Child Labor Laws, the sharp lines dividing our citizens into certain classes must necessarily become more and more evident. There is no greater factor in the elimination of class differences than a liberal education, hence the importance of preventing the employment in any factory or place of business of a child of school age.

The various health and education departments in the manufacturing centers of the State could do much to aid the Factory Department if greater care was exercised by them and those serving under them when issuing certificates to children who may apply for the same. The language of the statute is plain, and every officer who has a duty to perform under its provisions should familiarize himself with its contents.

During the past year the Department found 20,191 children under 16 years of age employed in factories, etc., throughout this State. Of this total number, 2,602 of the children were employed in places where the clothing trade was being carried on and 182 in bakeshops, confectioneries, etc. There has been filed with the Department by the various health boards throughout the State some 16,240 duplicates of certificates granted to children between 14 and 16 years of age who sought employment in factories, mills and workshops.

MINORS AND WOMEN.

During the legislative session of 1899 the law restricting the hours of labor for minors under the age of 18 years and all women employed in the factories, mills and workshops in this State was so amended as to prohibit their labor between the hours of 9 p. m. and 6 a. m. This new departure, in so far as it relates to night work in factories by women over 21 years of age, has created a vast amount of discussion, and correspondence on the subject has been quite extensive. Manufacturers have contended that full-grown women should be permitted to work on night shifts, that is, when two separate gangs are operated and the factory is kept running day and night.

Acting in conformity with an opinion rendered by Attorney-General J. C. Davies, we have strictly prohibited the employment of women under such circumstances. The law specifically states that no female shall be permitted or required to work more than 60 hours in any one week. During the year several complaints were received relative to violations of this provision of the law. On receipt of the complaints the matters were immediately investigated and compliances obtained without recourse to the courts. It has been suggested that section 77 be again amended to the extent of permitting women over 21 years of age to be employed at night work, provided they are not required or permitted to labor during the hours of the day. The question, if brought up, should receive the most careful consideration and should be thoroughly canvassed. There is much that can be said both for and against the proposition.

OPERATION OF DANGEROUS MACHINERY.

Section 81 of the Labor Law provides for the protection of employes engaged in the operation of dangerous machinery. There is no more important duty to be performed by the Factory Inspector than the enforcement of the provisions of the above-mentioned section of the law. The official record of accident reports which have been filed with this Department plainly shows that 71 per cent. of the casualties occur in connection with machinery of various kinds.

The Department finds that the total number of accidents of all kinds reported for 1899 is 1,622, against 1,110 for the year 1898. The increased number of reports received plainly indicates that the Department has this year been most successful in impressing upon manufacturers, etc., the importance and the necessity of promptly making returns to this office when an employe sustains injury as a result of lack of proper protection on machinery, or through personal carelessness. The more particular manufacturers and others are about the matter of reporting casualties to this Department the better able we are to cope with the dangerous conditions which bring about accidents, injuries, loss of life, limb, etc.

|---|---|
| Total number of accidents for the year | 1,622 |
| Fatal | 45 |
| Serious | 91 |
| Slight | 1,486 |

Machines on which accidents occurred:

|---|---|
| Saws | 161 |
| Gearing | 39 |
| Elevators and hoists | 86 |
| Presses (all kinds) | 189 |
| Calendars | 4 |
| Pulleys and belting | 59 |
| Lathes | 39 |
| Cotton and woolen machines | 70 |

|---|---|
| Emery wheels | 19 |
| Buffers | 3 |
| Buzz planers | 51 |
| Stamping machines | 4 |
| Set screws and shafting | 5 |
| Drop hammer | 25 |
| Dough mixer | 1 |
| Wood-working machines | 52 |
| Miscellaneous machines | 362 |
| No machines | 452 |
| | 1,622 |

The specific requirements of the statute are comprehensive and broad enough to embrace every machine of whatever description and all the parts thereof.

However, we feel that in this matter our Department has not progressed as rapidly as might be desired and expected. The latest and most improved methods and devices for guarding against accidents and casualties of all kinds should be known to each and every one of our inspectors. Opportunities to carefully study every new appliance and safeguard should be afforded to them, in order that the best possible results be obtained from their work. Each inspector should be able to intelligently explain to a manufacturer the proper manner in which to comply with any order issued for the guarding of dangerous machines and their various parts. The Department is not as effective and up-to-date in this respect as it should be. The service can and should be improved in this direction. To this end we shall recommend that a sum of money be appropriated for the express purpose of fully investigating this important feature of our work, and for the preparation and publication of a bulletin which will be instructive and valuable to the inspectors and the public generally.

We feel that in many instances, the safety devices now in use are but poor makeshifts, and it is our purpose and our desire to advance our work along this line to a standard that will compare favorably with the work performed by the best Departments in existence, both at home and abroad.

Therefore, we trust that the Legislature will follow our recommendation by supplying the Department with funds sufficient to enable us to perfect the service in this respect and along the lines indicated.

FIRE ESCAPES.

There is nothing more fearful to the factory employe than the contemplation of death by fire while engaged at labor in a mill or factory.

The great tendency to economize in ground space, and the greater ease with which power is transmitted, is no doubt responsible to a great degree for the high factory buildings which are at the present day so numerous. The avenues of exit from all factory buildings of three or more stories in height should be so arranged as to permit every person employed therein ready and easy means of escape in an emergency, and it should be possible to effect escape without the least risk or danger to life or limb. When we find that such conditions do not exist in factory buildings of three or more stories, it becomes our duty to require the erection of proper and suitable fire escapes. The plan and specifications prepared by the Department, provide for the erection of a good, substantial and practical fire escape. If properly constructed and the means of access to the platforms thereof are unobstructed, the danger of loss of life in case of panic or fire is greatly minimized if not entirely removed.

The Department exercises the greatest care when ordering the erection of fire escapes. The matter of place where escape will land, proximity of stairways and elevator wells, are all taken into consideration when determining best location for proposed or contemplated escapes. If this was not the case, the provision for improved means of exit in case of fire, might be neutralized by leading or landing the persons availing themselves of the escape into what might prove a veritable fire trap.

During the year the Department issued and secured full compliance with 195 orders calling for the erection of new fire escapes. In addition to this, and, as a result of our efforts, the defects in construction of existing escapes have been remedied and improved upon in 419 cases. We can safely say that in the matter of fire protection, our factory buildings are as well equipped as any in the land.

Of course it is true there are thousands of factory buildings in the State without outside fire escapes; but a glance at these same places will develop the fact that ample protection is afforded those employed therein. One stairway enclosed in a brick tower, with fire doors opening into the tower from each floor, will afford a greater amount of protection than would two fire escapes erected on the outside of the building. In modern factory construction the safety of employes is carefully considered and looked after. No factory building should be erected, if intended to accommodate a large working force, unless two stairways, enclosed in independent fireproof towers, are provided, one in each end of the building. In following this suggestion the necessity for outside fire escapes is obviated, and the best kind of protection is thereby afforded factory employes.

SANITATION.

It is important to the manufacturer that all persons employed by him be in such physical condition as will enable them to apply themselves to their work in such a way as to produce the very best results, both as to quality and quantity. This being the case one would suppose it would naturally follow that every manufacturer would carefully study the laws of health and would see to it that such laws were not violated in or upon his premises. A plentiful supply of pure air is essential to good health; without it men become slow and listless in their movements. Poor ventilation and impure air drain human vitality so rapidly that the result of close confinement under such conditions is startling. Yet we often find that the manufacturer—in his eagerness to produce goods to meet his orders—openly violates the laws of health and the laws of the State by overcrowding his shop or his factory workrooms. Not only do they reduce the supply of oxygen by overcrowding their workrooms, but, owing to the lack of the simplest means of ventilation, the carbonic acid gas exhaled by the occupants of the room remains there, and as a consequence thereof the air becomes utterly unfit for respiration.

Under our present laws the Department is empowered to restrict the number of persons that may be employed in a workroom; also, to require that proper means of ventilation shall be provided to insure a sufficient supply of fresh air and the thorough removal of impure and injurious gases and odors. The powers vested in the Department are judiciously exercised to the great advantage of the workers employed in mills, factories and workshops throughout the State. The health and comfort of factory employes are carefully looked after and guarded. When necessary the Department insists upon the construction of ventilating shafts and up-to-date sanitary closets; also, wash and dressing rooms where we find women are employed. The proper care of these necessary improvements is a most important matter and considerable time and attention is devoted thereto. Orders to keep water closets and other sanitary appointments in a clean condition at all times are continually issued by the Department and our persistency in this respect has in some instances resulted in the employment of a person whose sole duty is to properly look after and keep these places in a clean and lawful condition at all times.

INSPECTION OF BOILERS.

The condition of the plant which generates the motive power of every workshop and factory is necessarily an interesting and important subject. It should be kept up to the highest standard of efficiency at all times, in order that the very best results may be obtained, and so that the capital invested in the business conducted shall produce at least a fair return. It is a false theory of economy that leads a manufacturer to regard grudgingly the sum of money that must be expended in order to maintain his power plant in a thoroughly safe and efficient condition. The rapid advancement made in the science of electricity during recent years has undoubtedly opened up a field which is pregnant with wonderful possibilities, and doubtless the next 25 years will see the steam power plant superseded by the dynamo and the motor; the powerful forces of the electrical currents will be made captive and applied to turn the wheels of industry which are now driven by steam power. While the transition from steam to electric motive power is in progress, and while we are pending the establishment of this new force, it is very important that attention be paid to the vessels that generate steam, to the end that they be kept in a safe and sound condition at all times.

The Legislature of 1899 enacted a law which requires that all boilers used for generating steam or heat for factory purposes shall be kept in good order and that the owner, agent, manager or lessee of a factory shall have such boilers inspected by a competent person once in six months; the boiler inspector to be approved by the Factory Inspector.

In the enforcement of the provisions of this law the Department has labored diligently. There can be no doubt as to the immense value of such a law; it decreases the number of boiler explosions and materially lessens the dangers attending factory pursuits.

The total number of boiler inspection certificates filed with this Department between May 1 and December 1, 1899, is 3,764. The boilers in use in factories, etc., in the cities of Greater New York, Buffalo and Syracuse are not subject to the provisions of this section of the law, inasmuch as they are inspected in accordance with local laws and ordinances.

The enactment of this law has resulted in the inspection and overhauling of boilers that have never undergone an examination since their installation; but the full extent and character of the inspections made is in many instances unknown to the Department. We have no means of determining the competency of the boiler inspector, although it is specifically provided in the law that such inspector must be approved by this Department. In this respect the operation of the law is very unsatisfactory. If the Department is to be held responsible for a proper enforcement of the provisions of the law, it should be clothed with power to take the necessary steps to determine the fitness of those who are employed by manufacturers and business men to inspect and examine their boilers. The Department should be empowered to issue a certificate or commission to persons aspiring to make boiler inspections in accordance with the law, the certificate or commission to be based upon results of a rigid examination taken by these people to establish clearly their qualifications and fitness to perform such service.

It is not feasible or practicable for our regular Department inspectors to be charged with the duty of inspecting boilers in the various factories, etc., visited by them, inasmuch as when they are making an inspection of an establishment it is absolutely necessary that shafting, machinery, etc., be in operation, and when this is the case the boilers in these places are not in a condition to be inspected.

We find that a very large percentage of the boilers in use in this State are insured and are regularly inspected by representatives of insurance companies. Ordinarily the inspections made by the representatives referred to are reliable and correct; the Department invariably accepts their certificates, and, if necessary, we issue certain orders for repairs and improvements based on their reports.

We have found, however, that occasionally dishonest men get into the employ of these companies. When such matters are brought to our attention we do not hesitate to expose the guilty parties. Recently we found that a representative of a reputable company reported an internal inspection of a boiler and made certain recommendations. Orders were accordingly issued and an inspector from this Department called on the firm to ascertain whether or not orders had been complied with and necessary matters attended to. The manufacturer stated to our deputy that he did not understand how the inspector from the insurance company had reported an internal inspection, as their boiler was carrying over 60 pounds of steam on the date of the inspector's visit. The Department immediately communicated with the company with which the inspector in question was connected inasmuch as we regarded such conduct reprehensible and untrustworthy.

It is earnestly hoped that the Legislature will take steps to make more effective this important feature of the law and that we will be furnished with the funds necessary to carry into effect our recommendations.

POLISHING AND BUFFING.

The provisions of sections 81 and 91 of the Labor Law are applicable to machines used for polishing purposes. The removal of dust, injurious particles, etc., from grinding and polishing wheels is an important and interesting matter for consideration. This question has caused as much all-round annoyance as any single provision of the Factory Inspection Law. The employes on the one hand, through their labor organizations, are finding fault with the Department for what they are pleased to term its laxity; while, on the other hand, the employer is charging us with undue haste and harshness, over zealousness, and anxiety to bring about compliance with this provision and requirement of the statute. We have, regardless of both, endeavored to strike a happy medium whereby the rights of the workingman are preserved without injury to the interests of the employer.

It is often urged by an employer that to install an exhaust system at the time the order is issued, would cripple him in many ways. We frequently find that the power plant is carrying its maximum load and to add sufficient horse power to operate a fan would not only render the exhaust service ineffective, but would also reduce the velocity of the line shafting itself, thereby curtailing the output of the plant. Where electric power can be secured we urge its utilization to operate the fans independent of the general power plant of the factory. This suggestion disposes of the objection that the steam engines are carrying their full quota and cannot properly take on the addition of an exhaust fan. It it our purpose to enforce the law on this point with firmness, impartiality and with due consideration for all interests involved. During the year the Department issued and secured full compliance with 110 orders to install exhaust fan systems.

Relative to the provisions of the law regulating the employment of women and minors upon polishing and buffing wheels.

This law went into effect, April 20, 1899, and immediately the question arose as to whether or not under said law male minors under 18 years of age, and all women were prohibited from working upon or operating any and all kinds of polishing and buffing wheels in use in manufactories, etc., in this State.

The Department was of the opinion that they were not so prohibited, except upon certain kinds of wheels, specifically referred to in the statute. However, in order to set ourselves right in the matter and so that our conclusions might be correct, and especially, for the purpose of satisfying certain parties that we were not assuming powers which were not conferred upon the bureau, the following communication was addressed to Attorney-General J. C. Davies:

STATE OF NEW YORK:

FACTORY INSPECTOR'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, N. Y., August 2, 1899.

Hon. JOHN C. DAVIES, Attorney-General, Albany, N. Y.:

Dear Sir.—I beg to submit for your consideration and opinion the enclosed section of Labor Law relative to "Employment of women and children at polishing or buffing."

The point I wish to have determined is whether this section prohibits the employment of women and children on every kind of polishing or buffing wheel, or, does it only apply to polishing or buffing wheels upon which stone or emery dust is being used?

In some places we find women and children operating buffing wheels upon which a certain kind of powder or composition is used. Can we permit these women and children to continue operating these wheels?

I trust you will favor me with your valued opinion in this matter at an early date, and oblige

Yours very truly,

JOHN WILLIAMS,
Factory Inspector.

In due time the Department received an opinion on the matter and the following is a copy of letter from General Davies covering inquiries submitted in our communication:

STATE OF NEW YORK:

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
ALBANY, August 4, 1899.

Hon. JOHN WILLIAMS, State Factory Inspector, Albany, N. Y.:

Dear Sir.—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 2d instant in which you ask if you can permit women and children to operate any kind of buffing wheels, in view of the provisions of chapter 375, Law of 1899.

Permit me to quote the provisions of this law:

"No male child under the age of eighteen years, nor any female, shall be employed in any factory in this State in operating or using any emery, corundum, stone or emery polishing or buffing wheel. The owner, agent or lessee of a factory who employs any such person in the performance of such work is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined the sum of fifty dollars for each such violation. The Factory Inspector, his assistants and deputies, shall enforce the provisions of this section."

You will observe that the polishing or buffing wheels mentioned in this law are such as are composed of emery, corundum, stone or emery. It would seem, therefore, that a polishing or buffing wheel not using those prohibited articles would not come within the prohibition, and, in my judgment, could be used by women and children in the same manner and to the same extent as in any other business which is not prohibited by law.

Yours truly,

J. C. DAVIES,

Attorney-General.

The above letter from the State's legal adviser plainly shows that our interpretation of the provisions of the law was correct. The Department has been enforcing the provisions of the section in accordance with the lines indicated in the opinion rendered.

Should women be debarred from employment on all kinds of polishing wheels? We think not. In many of the jewelry manufacturing establishments, women are employed to polish very fine and very delicately constructed articles of jewelry. After many years of service they have become experts at their business and they receive high wages for their labor. The officers of the Department are informed that the touch of these employes is so fine and so sensitive that their services are indispensable, and that men could not satisfactorily fill their places. It is proper to restrict and limit the employment of women; but, it is not proper to prohibit their labor in certain fields; and, to this Department, it appears especially wrong to attempt to prohibit their labor when their service is found to be as valuable, as effective and as well paid for as that of men.

COMPLAINTS.

During the year the Department has received numerous complaints. In former reports the importance of furnishing specific information when filing a complaint, has been dwelt upon. Notwithstanding the admonition, the improvement in the character of complaints submitted is not very noticeable. The total number of complaints received this year amounts to 860 against 589 complaints received during 1898. Many of the complaints received during the present year are the result of misunderstanding of the provisions of the amended law. All complaints have been carefully and thoroughly investigated with the result that we find but 46 per cent. of the same are sustained on investigation as against a percentage of 50 per cent. sustained on investigation during 1898. It has been a question with the Department as to whether or not anonymous complaints would be accorded the time and attention of our inspectors for the purpose of investigating the charges submitted in them. We are inclined to the policy of treating as unreliable the information furnished by persons who fear to trust the Department with their names in connection with the matter regarding which complaint is made.

The various different matters to which the complaints filed with us related, are set forth in the table which follows:

TENEMENT HOUSE MANUFACTURE.

No subject has in recent years received a larger share of attention from students of industrial conditions, philanthropists, labor leaders and legislators, than that of "Tenement House Workshops," or as they are commonly called "Sweatshops."

The rapid growth of the terrible system which has been introduced in the large centres of clothing manufacture is recognized to be a menace to the moral and industrial welfare of the country. As a means to check its further growth and to regulate the existing evil, the people of the State naturally turned to the Legislature for relief. An earnest effort was made to get at the root of the evil in this State when chapter 655 of the Laws of 1892 was enacted. The provisions of this law, however, were found to be ineffective. The act simply prohibited the introduction, as workers, into the tenement workroom or workshop, of persons not members of the family living in the apartments. From time to time certain amendments were enacted for the purpose of correcting defects in the law and to increase its value and effectiveness. But not until the winter of 1899 did our law makers give us a statute that is calculated to eventually surround this dangerous method of production with such restrictions and regulations as will reduce to a minimum the risks connected with it.

Our present "tenement made articles" law is fashioned somewhat after the law of Massachusetts, the operation of which has given eminent satisfaction. Our amended tenement law went into effect September 1, 1899, just three months before the close of our report year. Its operation thus far has clearly developed the fact that "sweating" or home manufacture, exists in Greater New York to an alarming extent. The law requires that each room in a tenement or dwelling house or in a building in the rear of tenements or dwelling houses, used for the manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing of any of the articles specified in the section, shall be licensed by the Factory Inspector. Before such license is granted, application must be made therefor, and an inspection of the premises must be made by the Factory Inspector to determine whether or not the conditions existing therein would warrant the issuance of license permitting the use of the room or rooms for purposes enumerated in the statute.

Up to November 30, 1899, 10,135 applications for licenses were received by the Department. Of this number, 6,229 were received at our sub-office in New York city. Up to the same date a total of 6,360 applications were carefully investigated—3,130 of which were investigated in Greater New York. Licenses were granted to 4,942 parties making application for same, and of this number 1,894 were issued to persons in New York city. The Department refused to grant licenses in 918 cases; 843 of the applicants who were refused licenses resided in the metropolis. The balance of this mass of work has been about evenly distributed throughout the cities of Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Troy and Albany.

The above figures very plainly indicate that in connection with this line of work, no comparison can be made between the work of our Department and the labors performed by Factory Inspection Department in other States.

The total number of licenses issued by the Massachusetts Department from October 1, 1898, to September 30, 1899, was 433. The whole number of licenses in force in that State on October 1, 1899, being 1,187. The total number of applications disposed of by the Massachusetts Bureau during the entire year was 533. These figures are taken from the official report of Hon. Rufus R. Wade, Chief of the Massachusetts Department.

As has been suggested, the subject of tenement manufacture is an interesting one, and the information gained in relation thereto in the short period that has elapsed since our amended law went into effect, is doubtless eagerly looked for; therefore, we deem it proper to submit a few facts and conclusions for your consideration at this time.

To organize our department so as to cope successfully with the difficulties surrounding this branch of the service was no small task. We applied ourselves to the work realizing that the public generally was watching our movements closely and was expecting immediate results.

In order to impress upon the manufacturers, whose business was affected, the important features of the law, a circular letter was prepared and sent out by the Department early in the summer. Some 5,000 copies were mailed to these parties in the various manufacturing centers of the State. The effect of the letter was very noticeable. Inquiries come in from all directions, indicating clearly that the enforcement of the law was expected, and that generally speaking the manufacturers were in sympathy with the Department in its effort to deal successfully with the problem.

When September 1st arrived, the applications for licenses began pouring in at an average rate of about 150 each day. To investigate and dispose of these applications which were steadily flowing in was a herculean task. The Department was not prepared for such an inflow. We could not assign enough of our deputy inspectors to this work in order to keep up with it, without crippling every other branch of the service. It would have been dangerous and improper to follow such a course.

In Greater New York, where the tenement work is a crying evil, 15 inspectors were detailed on this work, but did not spend their whole time thereon, as other work had to be performed by them in their respective districts.

In Greater New York, 3,130 applications were investigated in three months; from which 1,894 licenses were granted, and 843 were refused a license, because of the unsanitary condition of the premises, etc.; 128 applicants were not found at places of residence given. The remaining 265 are accounted for as follows:

|---|---|
| Duplicate applications filed | 41 |
| Applications filed (law not applying to articles manufactured) | 49 |
| Front shops (licenses not necessary) | 51 |
| Removals | 111 |
| On file awaiting action | 13 |
| | 265 |

The investigation of tenement workrooms by the inspectors of this Department has brought to light some remarkable phases of human life and character.

Volumes could be written based upon the recital of their experiences.

The intense interest in the existing conditions manifested by various societies, and the apparent determination to aid in the amelioration and improvement aimed at by this Department is most encouraging and inspiring. We hail with delight this growing propensity among a class of people whose influence for good cannot be overestimated. The eagerness with which they seek information, and the willingness evinced to risk all kind of danger to help the unfortunate victims of our present industrial system, is the strongest kind of proof of the popularity of governmental control and regulation of certain productive industries. It is a function of the government to protect its citizens against all evils and dangers, even against themselves, if they by their own act endanger their lives and the lives of those dependent upon them. While referring to the above mentioned societies, we might add that sometimes their efforts are misguided, and there is an apparent clash between them and the properly constituted authorities whose duty it is to enforce the laws. We deplore these instances of misunderstanding, and hope that as we move along toward the common end, we may hereafter the better understand each other, so that there may be had between our Department and what is sometimes designated the "citizen effort" a better and more thorough co-operation. There is room for all who wish to enter this great work, but we submit, that in order to secure the best results the efforts should be directed from one responsible source; by this method uniformity would be the order. A systematic prosecution of the work alone will bring about an improvement in the matter of tenement manufacture.

What is responsible for the "sweating evil?" Many are the answers presented to this question. Some say unrestricted immigration. Others say the competitive system of manufacture. We say it is both.

The fierce competition among manufacturers results in the cutting down of margins on all kinds of goods. It is but natural then that the manufacturer should endeavor to reduce the cost of production. How is this accomplished? By changing the system of production. Relieving himself of the expense of shop rent and the cost of maintenance, he enters into a contract with some person who runs a small tailoring shop to manufacture and put together the goods which are cut in his cutting-room. The contractor does the machine work upon the goods in his shop, but his space is too valuable to be utilized by finishers, so he gives it out to the home-worker to be finished in the tenement at piece-work prices that would astonish the community if they became known. The length to which these unscrupulous contractors will go to sweat the dollar which they receive from the manufactures is amazing. Many of them are utterly devoid of conscience and honor. The greed of gain has taken possession of their whole being. The circumstances under which the goods are made does not concern them. In squalid, filthy rooms, surcharged with the foulest odors and often laden with disease germs, the most costly articles of wearing apparel are occasionally found. We, however, submit that the worst features of this evil is in connection with the making up and finishing of the cheap grade of goods. The costly articles are bought and worn by the well-to-do, who, if they are unfortunate enough to become victims of a disease as the result of wearing a tenement-made garment, are able to secure and pay for the services of a physician. On the other hand, the cheap goods are bought and worn by the poorer class, who when overtaken by disease often have to struggle as best they can without medical aid, because their limited means prescribe the services of the paid physician. We must deal mercilessly with these contractors.

Who are the tenement workers? They are mostly, if not entirely, of the ignorant immigrant class who come to our shores. It is a rare thing to find a native American engaged at work in a tenement The tenement workers are mostly Italians. Among the shop workers and contractors the Hebrews predominate. The dense ignorance of the Italians make them an easy prey to the shrewd Hebrew contractors. The unfortunate feature about the whole thing is the fact that we have no prospect of immediate relief. The steamship companies are pouring into our great seaport a steady stream of these undesirable accessions to our population. They come and they stay in the densely crowded sections of East New York, making that part of the great city a veritable hotbed for the propagation of every conceivable form of vice. It would help materially to solve the sweating problem if immigration was suspended for the next decade. We would recommend that the Legislature petition the United States Congress to take such steps as will afford the desired relief.

THE APPLICATION AND OPERATION OF THE LAW.

The practical value of the present law can only be determined by a close and careful observation and study of the results obtained under a strict application of its provisions to existing conditions. The system, the evils of which the law is designed to overcome and correct, is no weakling, but is of gigantic proportions, deep seated and deep rooted, hence a thorough and fruitful application of the law is very difficult. It should be borne in mind that in order to get at the seat of the evil, we have to reach not only the actual worker in the tenement or shop, but also the contractor who furnishes him with work, and further, the manufacturer who owns the goods. We also come in contact with the owner, agent, or lessee of the building wherein the goods are made. This means a very large amount of work which must be performed when fractious parties are met with.

The Department has been subjected to unwarranted criticism over what the critics call our failure to enforce the Tenement Law. We have not been able to revolutionize the "sweating" districts in Greater New York, and with our present wholly inadequate force cannot hope to accomplish this task within a very short time. We aver, nevertheless, that the work performed thus far has borne good results, and the method adopted by the Department is awakening the parties involved to a realization of the fact that the law is to be respected and obeyed.

In order to enable us to determine with a degree of accuracy the question whether all parties subject to the provisions of the law are complying with its requirements, we address the following communication to each manufacturer whose business is subject to our surveillance:

STATE OF NEW YORK:

Your attention is hereby called to the provisions of section 101, Article VII of the Labor Law (marked copy enclosed). Pursuant thereto, you are hereby requested to furnish to this Department within seven days from date hereof, a complete list of names and addresses of all persons to whom you give material to be manufactured, etc. Information furnished must be correct. Enclosed you will find blank for this purpose. If one blank is insufficient, more will be furnished upon application.

Failure to comply with this request will render you liable to the penalty prescribed in section 384-1 of Penal Code.

Yours respectfully,

Factory Inspector.

In response to this letter we invariably receive either the blank furnished, properly filled out, giving the names of contractors, etc., or a letter to the effect that all goods are manufactured on the premises. The Department then takes the lists furnished, and to each contractor whose name appears thereon, the following letter is mailed:

STATE OF NEW YORK:

From the contractor we receive the names and addresses of the tenement and shop workers. In this way we are provided with a means of checking and closely following the statements furnished to the Department. A letter-press copy is made of each and every letter issued to manufacturer and contractor, the same properly indexed, thereby giving us a complete and correct record which can be readily referred to at any time. In this respect, however, our records are far from as complete as we would have them, inasmuch as the system has been in operation but a short time. But, when perfected, we are persuaded that the arrangement in vogue will prove of incalculable value and aid to us in our labors.

Section 102 of the Labor Law provides for the tagging or labeling of goods made under unlawful conditions. In order to avoid interminable complications when dealing with manufacturers and contractors who have not previously violated the law, and whose materials are discovered being made under unlawful conditions in tenements and shops, we notify them by postal card, for which purpose the following has been prepared:

Ordinarily the parties concerned are given twenty-four hours' notice; if such notice is disregarded the arrest of all parties involved in the violation is brought about—the Department depending upon the courts to sustain this most beneficial law.

Section 103 of the law relates to the duties of boards of health relative to tenement-made articles. In the matter of the enforcement of the provisions of this section of the statute we are greatly handicapped. The health officer is not obliged to move in the premises—even though contagious disease exists—until called upon by the Factory Inspector, who may or may not find the disease immediately within the apartments he inspects. This section should be so amended as to require the departments of health, in cities of the first class, to each day notify the Factory Inspector of all cases of contagious disease discovered by them or brought to their attention. In every case the disease should be specified and full names and addresses of occupants of infected apartments should be furnished.

The following blank form of report has been prepared for the use of our inspectors in handling this section of the law. The form is found to be exceedingly useful when conditions and circumstances which should be referred or reported to other departments are met with:

Reports of contagious diseases and unsanitary and unclean premises, which are a menace to the health of the community, are referred to the department of health. When buildings are reported to be in an unsafe or dangerous condition, such reports are immediately referred to the building departments, inasmuch as those bureaus, under the provisions of city charters, have duties to perform in relation thereto.

To the time of closing this report we have had no occasion to take steps, under the provisions of section 104, to prevent the importation into our State of goods unlawfully manufactured in other States. We are, however, in possession of information which will render us alert to the possibilities of infractions of the law in this repect. The Department will be unrelenting in its prosecution of any person or persons who attempt to evade the stringent enforcement of the law in this State, by having work performed in other States.

Pursuant to the provisions of section 105 of the statute there has been prepared a personal notice blank to be served upon owners, lessees or agents of tenements or dwelling houses, or shops in the rear of tenements, etc. Under the terms of this notice, and according to the provisions of the law, the tenant who persists in violating the law on said premises must be dispossessed. It will readily be seen that in this manner we have several parties to deal with, and the processes to be followed cannot but prove effective to eventually remedy, and we trust ultimately entirely remove, this unseemly blot on our civiliation.

Careful investigation of applications for licenses, as we have already remarked, has brought to our attention some wonderfully interesting facts bearing upon the mode of living as practiced in the tenement buildings of our large cities. The reports submitted by our inspectors bring to light many peculiar characteristics possessed by the immigrant population in the congested territory called the Lower East Side in the borough of Manhattan.

In these places, where quantities of ready-made clothing are finished, we have found many instances of the very worst kind of over crowding. Two, and sometimes three, families are herded together in apartments of two, three and four rooms. The aggregate number of persons living promiscuously in this manner ranging from eight to fourteen. What standard of morality can be maintained under such conditions? What must be the environments of the children reared under such circumstances? What must the characters be that are molded in these unhealthy, unwholesome dens? Right in the very heart of one of the most enlightened and one of the produest cities of the earth—where civilization and its attendant benefits seems to be at its best—we have found some of the darkest spots of which the human mind can possibly conceive. From these hovels of human habitation, where men, women and children of all ages herd together like so many cattle, some of our proudest and most respected citizens are drawing large dividends in the form of extortionate rentals. They may endeavor to shirk the responsibility for the conditions existing in these places by holding that they leave the conduct of their affairs to agents, but we believe that the responsibility in the main forces itself upon them, despite their attempted evasion of it.

The municipal government of Greater New York should take cognizance of the existing conditions. Rigorous measures must be adopted by the departments having jurisdiction in this directon, in order to abate the practices which if not regulated and restricted, are liable to become troublesome and eventually dangerous.

Quite recently one of the inspectors connected with this Department was threatened with bodily harm while prosecuting his labors. He was engaged in the work of tagging materials in a tenement when threatened. Police protection was secured and the man who threatened the inspector was arrested and held for trial, bail being fixed at $300. It will be remarkable if the law can be successfully enforced without the enactment of a tragedy, as we have to deal with a class of people who are impulsive and hot-headed.

There has been presented to us the spectacle of a family of six persons—father, mother and four children—living in one small room 12 feet x 8 feet x 8 feet, or 788 cubic feet. In this one room they cook, eat, work and sleep, paying as rent for this accommodation the sum of $3.50 per month. After their night's sleep the bedding is packed up, and the bedstead is turned into a dining table and a work bench alternately. Should sickness and disease overcome some member of the family what a pitiful picture is presented to us, and it is one fraught with utmost danger. Such incidents demand that the crying evil of tenement "sweatshops" be stamped out as effectually as possible.

Our present law will accomplish this, but the people must be patient, and they must be prepared to hear and to listen to the most harrowing tales of distress and privation. They must also stand ready to succor those upon whom the hard hand of the law will heavily fall.

Every day, as it were, a new wail is heard and a fresh cry is raised over the terrible conditions in the tenements owing, it is held, to the "non-enforcement" of the law therein.

We are tempted to enter the preserve of the current report year to refer to one case in particular which has recently been brought to our attention. In connection with the narration of the incident it was said that if the factory laws were properly enforced the conditions would not have existed.

For the purpose of comparison we shall parallel the incident, as related, with an official report from one of our inspectors regarding another case wherein is clearly illustrated the result of a rigid application of the provisions of the law.

WHERE THE LAW WAS NOT ENFORCED.

The New York Evening World of January 18th, 1900, reported the proceedings of the New York Diet Kitchen Association.

At this meeting Dr. Annie S. Daniel, a physician of New York city, reported on her visits to the tenement houses where manufacturing is done. Her report is interesting and unquestionably true. During her narrative she spoke of one case which is particularly interesting and which we grant is an illustration of a condition where the law was NOT enforced. She is quoted as saying:

"You might not believe it, but I recently ran across a case where a woman could not spare the labor of a child only three years old. Some children at that age are actually useful in fixing trimmings on women's dresses." It is said that the word picture of the little one at work caused the shedding of tears. And, no wonder, for Dr. Daniels was speaking to a sympathetic audience.

A child of such tender years at work in a tenement sweatshop, would appeal to the hardest heart and arouse the sympathies of the most callous soul.

WHERE THE LAW WAS ENFORCED.

Application No. 3867, asking for a license, was received at our sub-office in New York. The premises from which application came were carefully investigated and inspected and a license was refused the applicant, for sanitary reasons. The applicant was a woman, presumably a widow who had three small children depending upon her for support.

On January 10th, 1900, our inspector who was detailed to inspect and investigate the condition of the premises for which license had been refused, reported as follows on the case in point:

NEW YORK, January 10, 1900.

Application No. 3867.

This person was refused a license on November 22, 1899; the contractor refused to give her more work to do in her apartments in violation of the law. Therefore, she has been obliged to go to the shop to work, to support herself and little ones. I found on my visit to her room, three small children—the eldest apparently not over five years of age, alone in a cold room, no fire whatever, and the place almost entirely bare of furniture.

I learn from the housekeeper of the premises, that this mother goes to work at seven o'clock in the morning; she returns at noon to give the children some dinner, then goes back to work, not returning until six o'clock in the evening. These little children are alone all day with absolutely no one to look after them or keep a fire to warm them.

JOHN H. STORY,
Deputy Inspector.

From a purely humanitarian standpoint which narration presents the most pitiful picture? On the one hand we have the three-year old child helping its mother in the home—never out of her sight—always where the mother could attend to its needs and allay its fears and suffering. While, on the other hand, we see the mother compelled to desert her three little ones of very tender years, going out to the shop to work, because the law prohibited her bringing the work into her home. As a result thereof these unfortunate little ones are thus deprived of the scant care a hard-working mother could bestow upon them, they are left alone in a tenement, shut up in a fireless room, with no one to attend to their needs. Is this not a sadder picture than that presented by Dr. Daniels? We do not attempt to mitigate the frightful conditions existing in places that our inspectors have not up to this time reached, but we do say that the strict and unrelenting enforcement of our present law will cause untold misery and suffering. However, the Department cannot permit itself to be swayed by sympathy or emotion. It is plainly its duty to strictly apply and enforce the provisions of the law. It may be proper and meet that some shall suffer in order that those who follow may enjoy the fruits of our labor.

We express the hope that the children of the tenements may become the subjects of the care and charity of those who are in a position to bear this portion of the "white man's burden;" and we also hope that in our efforts to improve the state of affairs we may be recipients of the valuable aid of all parties interested in our work.

BAKESHOPS.

The beneficial results of careful and thorough bakeshops inspection is patent to the interested observer of conditions existing in the bakeshops and confectioners of this State to-day.

The officers of the Department seldom if ever meet with opposition or objection in the prosecution of this line of their work. All parties affected by the provisions of the Bakery Inspection Law invariably readily accept and act upon suggestions and recommendations made by our inspectors, and it is in but few cases we are called upon to threaten legal proceedings unless the requirements of the law are strictly observed and complied with.

The work incidental to maintaining clean and healthful conditions in our bakeshops and securing obedience to all requirements of the statute, has been carried on with greater than usual regularity inasmuch as we have made a determined effort to bring as many shops as possible up to the standard required by law.

Substantial changes have been brought about in many shops and it is gratifying to note the improvements completed in accordance with the recommendations of the Department.

The work performed by the bureau during the year includes the careful and thorough inspection of 4,100 separate bakeshops and confectionery establishments. Many of these places have been inspected two, three and even four times during the year. Changes were recommended and fully complied with in 2,409 different shops.

There probably exists no more difficult place in which to maintain a pure atmosphere than in the ordinary bakeroom. In order to improve the air as far as possible and to provide improved methods of ventilation, the Department secured compliance with 847 orders requiring hoods and pipes to be supplied in bakerooms. Invariably, in each case where these ventilating hoods and pipes are installed, the bakeshop proprietor and his employes are marked in their praise of the bettered conditions brought about.

Nearly every, if not all, improvements suggested by the Department are in the direction of bringing about improved sanitary conditions together with real economy of time and labor on the part of the employes. Improved surroundings tend to the comfort of the bakers employed and being enabled to perform their labors under reasonably comfortable circumstances, their unconscious appreciation of the conditions is shown by quicker and more rapid work.

During the past year the Department has received 72 complaints against bakeshops. These complaints were thoroughly investigated with the result that 26 were found to be established on fact and sustained.

The following detailed list of orders issued by the Department, all of which have been fully complied with, will give but a slight idea of the amount of labor performed by the bureau in its work of looking after the condition of bakeshops during the past year:

Reduce hours to sixty per week, 375; cease employing minor, 104; file certificates, 37; provide pipe and hood or ventilate bakerooms, etc., 847; sanitary plumbing and drainage, 144; increase height of bakeroom to at least eight feet, 290; clean premises, remove coal, ashes, etc., 645; repair, and limewash or paint walls, ceilings, provers, etc., 2,707; repair, scrape, oil floors, etc., or provide new floors, 1,053; remove beds, beddings, etc., and cease sleeping in bakeroom, etc., 222; keep dogs, chickens, etc., out of bakerooms, 118; provide wash sink, running water, flashing, remove casing, etc., 458; provide water closets, remove water closets from bake and storerooms, provide separate water closets, etc., 173; clean, ventilate, repair, flush water closets, etc., 164; hand rails, new steps, repair stairs, etc., 444; guard machinery, 34; guard elevators, hoistways, etc., 12; general orders, 69.

The foregoing record establishes a full compliance with 5,186 orders issued against bakeshops. In consideration of the increased number of establishments inspected it is pleasing to note that the necessity for giving the same orders over and over again in many places has been entirely done away with. This is due to the extra effort made by the Department to bring about good conditions in the places most needing improvement, and requiring that such conditions shall be maintained at all times.

Complaints are frequently received to the effect that the Bakeshop Law is violated in that more than sixty hours per week are required of bakery employes. During the year the Department received seventeen such complaints, only three of which were sustained on careful investigation.

In former reports the Department has dealt at length with the question of the difficulty experienced in securing convictions for overtime work. The courts have established a ruling that the evidence and affidavit of the employe must be secured against his employer. It is readily seen that such a proceeding on the part of the employe means the loss of his employment in almost every instance, hence the hesitancy and fear which characterizes the action of the journeymen bakers in connection with this matter. The conditions existing in the baking trade no doubt make the question of holding a job one of supreme importance to the baker and he cannot be censured for making an effort to protect himself from the unpleasant experiences of a weary search for a new place.

The Department has every reason to believe that the Bakery Inspection Law can be made more effective provided certain minor changes are made therein. It is probable the bureau will draft a bill for submission to the Legislature, and we hope thereby to secure a strengthening of the provisions of the statute, making its enforcement an easier task without in any way impairing its present strong features.

MINING.

In addition to the foregoing work performed by the Department, we are pleased to be able to report that the 123 mines in operation in this State during the year have each received at least one careful and thorough inspection. Many of the mines have been inspected twice or oftener during the year, all covered mines having received at least two inspections. It has been our policy to bring about the very best conditions possible in the mines with the least necessary friction. We are fortunate in having been able to secure full and complete compliance with the orders issued against mines operated by forty-two companies doing business in this State. Orders have been issued against fifty concerns, eight of which have additional time in which to comply with our recommendations.

The work of the year just closed has required the exercise of our mine inspector's wisdom and discrimination in handling the various matters brought to his attention for investigation, etc.

Eight mines were condemned by our mine inspector. In each case the employes were withdrawn and mines closed. All eight mines caved in, as foreseen by the inspector. In one instance the superintendent was strictly cautioned to at all times carefully watch the condition of the mine.

During the month of November, 1899, a movement was noticed in the mine, the workmen were withdrawn therefrom, mine entrance fenced and closed and danger signs conspicuously posted around the place. About six weeks after the cessation of operations in the mine it collapsed and had it not been for the fact that our inspector so carefully instructed the mine superintendent concerning the danger which might approach at any time, it is very probable great loss of life would have resulted from this cave in. The unsafe condition of the mine was due to the fact that it had been improperly worked in previous years—the pillars in the light or upper mine not being directly over the pillars in the dark or lower mine. This condition generated a weakness which caused our Department to fear that at some time the mine would become unsafe and dangerous, and this weakness ultimately brought about the collapse of the mine.

In the matter of ventilation the conditions obtaining in the mines in this State are found to be all that could be expected. Also, the boilers used in connection with mining operations are very generally well cared for and looked after, being regularly inspected and examined by persons competent to do the work.

The condition of stairs and ladders into mines has been a subject accorded close attention, and the Department requires every precaution to be taken for the prevention of accident to employes ascending or descending the same, that they may not run the risk of falling into a flying bucket or car or being hurled many hundred feet to the bottom of mine shaft. During the year just passed we have received but one complaint relative to steps into mines. In this instance it was found that there existed no cause for the complaint.

At the present day there can be no question as to the beneficial results attending the action of the Legislature in placing the supervision, inspection, etc., of mines in this State under the jurisdiction of the Factory Inspection Department. The extent and importance of the labors performed and the conditions brought about in our mines as a result of our studied efforts cannot but prove satisfactory to all who are interested in the development of the mining properties of this State.

Our Department is fortunate in that its mining inspector is an officer thoroughly interested and familiar with his work. The report which he has submitted, and which is appended hereto, is in itself good proof of his fitness for the office he occupies. Not a complaint has been filed relative to the administration of our Mining Laws. The experience gained by our mine inspector during many years of active and practical service in various kinds of mines qualifies him beyond a doubt to render satisfactory service in his capacity of mine inspector for the State of New York.

The hazardous character of mining enterprises renders it absolutely necessary that stringent measures be adopted to protect the men employed in this industry. The greatest care is continually exercised to determine as to the safety of the mines and quarries being operated in this State. As a proof of the correctness of the foregoing, we refer to the report of accidents. In a total of 123 separate mining plants, three persons met death and one party was seriously injured. When we consider that the total number of men employed in our mines is 5,947, it will be readily seen that the percentage of serious accidents is very low. The increase of the number of persons employed in our mines is 1,263, or an increase of more than 26 per cent. over the number employed during the year 1898. Although mining is not generally regarded as a particularly important factor in the industrial development of our State, still it may be interesting to some to know that during 1899 a total of 2,509,437 tons of ore, etc., were mined. The mining properties of the State are estimated to be worth about $25,000,000. They are credited with embracing about 250,000 acres of land.

During the past year no amendments have been made to the rules and regulations governing the operation of mines.

The Department feels that the duties imposed upon the mine inspector are many, arduous and exacting, and that the performance of these duties is attended with much danger and difficulty. The compensation for services rendered by him is considered to be inadequate. The State can afford to pay more generously for such service. Therefore it is earnestly recommended that the Department be afforded the means wherewith to increase compensation for this line of work to the sum of $1,800 per annum, and that the law be so amended as to allow and permit such action on our part.

THE APPRENTICESHIP LAW.

The Department has practically nothing to report with reference to the provisions of the Apprenticeship Law, the enforcement of which is one of the duties of the Bureau.

However, during the month of August, 1899, an attorney in the city of Buffalo, N. Y., called the attention of this office to the fact that a woman filed complaint with him to the effect that her son had been working for the past two years as an apprentice for his uncle and that the arrangement did not have her consent.

The matter was referred to an inspector for investigation. A careful examination into the facts in the case revealed that the provisions of the law did not apply. The youth was over 18 years of age and was at liberty to stay with his uncle or leave and secure other employment at pleasure.

PROSECUTIONS.

The Department found it necessary to institute 67 prosecutions for violation of the provisions of the labor laws. In some instances we have found unintentional violations, the offending parties being ready and willing to comply with the requirements of the law when the provisions of the statute were clearly understood. But in the above number of cases it was found absolutely necessary to take the matters to court for adjudication. Convictions were secured in 33 cases; 13 parties were acquitted and 7 cases were withdrawn for good and sufficient reasons. We now have 14 cases pending, and in each instance it is hoped the Department will be able to bring about a successful conclusion. The amount of fines imposed for violations of the Labor Law during the year is $675.

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF FACTORY INSPECTORS.

The value of the annual gatherings of members composing the International Association of Factory Inspectors cannot be overestimated. On these occasions the various departments and bureaus of factory inspection of the different States and Provinces are well represented. Here an excellent opportunity is afforded for an interchange of views and experiences along the lines of our duties, and this is of great benefit. From year to year this Department has been creditably represented at these conventions and during the latter part of August, 1899, it was the privilege of a delegation of our inspectors to attend the meeting held in the ancient city of Quebec. In addition to the delights of these annual trips, the intercourse to be had with the veteran inspectors who are invariably to be found present at the conventions is most profitable and instructive. The expense connected with the affair yields many returns for the time, etc., expended, inasmuch as these annual conventions of the International Association are a source of education to the inspectors fortunate enough to enjoy the privilege of attending them. The papers read and the discussions which follow their reading go far to fit the inspectors present for a better and more intelligent performance of their manifold duties. These annual meetings are of especial importance to the end that a uniform system of factory inspection may be established and carried out. As a result of these gatherings a better and clearer understanding and comprehension of the laws of this and other States is secured, and this knowledge practically used tends to reduce mistakes on the part of our inspectors, renders errors in judgment of rare occurrence and proves a material advantage to them in innumerable ways.

In the appendix of report will be found a copy of the proceedings of the last Annual Convention of the International Association.

LABOR LAW

TO BE ENFORCED BY FACTORY INSPECTOR.

Labor Law to be Enforced by Factory Inspector

ARTICLE I.

§ 1. Short title.—This chapter shall be known as the Labor Law.

§ 2. Definitions.—The term employe, when used in this chapter, means a mechanic, workingman or laborer who works for another for hire. The person, employing any such mechanic, workingman or laborer, whether the owner, proprietor, agent, superintendent, foreman or other subordinate, is designated in this chapter as an employer. The term "factory," when used in this chapter, shall be construed to include also any mill, workshop or other manufacturing or business establishment where one or more persons are employed at labor. * * * Whenever, in this chapter, authority is conferred upon the factory inspector, it shall also be deemed to include his assistant or a deputy acting under his direction.

§ 3. Hours to constitute a day's work.—Eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work for all classes of employes in this state except those engaged in farm and domestic service unless otherwise provided by law. This section does not prevent an agreement for overwork at an increased compensation except upon work by or for the state or a municipal corporation or by contractors or sub-contractors therewith. Each contract to which the state or a municipal corporation is a party which may involve the employment of laborers, workmen or mechanics shall contain a stipulation that no laborer, workman or mechanic in the employ of the contractor, sub-contractor or other person doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contract shall be permitted or required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by fire, flood or danger to life or property. The wages to be paid for a legal day's work as hereinbefore defined to all classes of such laborers workmen or mechanics upon all such public work or upon any material to be used upon or in connection therewith shall not be less than the prevailing rate for a day's work in the same trade or occupation in the locality within the state where such public work on, about or in connection with which such labor is performed in its final or completed form is to be situated erected or used. Each such contract hereafter made shall contain a stipulation that each such laborer, workman or mechanic employed by such contractor, sub-contractor or other person on about or upon such public work shall receive such wages herein provided for. Each contract for such public work hereafter made shall contain a provision that the same shall be void and of no effect unless the person or corporation making or performing the same shall comply with the provisions of this section; and no such person or corporation shall be entitled to receive any sum nor shall any officer, agent or employe of the state or of a municipal corporation pay the same or authorize its payment from the funds under his charge or control to any such person or corporation for work done upon any contract which in its form or manner of performance violates the provisions of this section, but nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to persons regularly employed in state institutions. [As amended by chapter 567, Laws of 1899.]

§ 4. Violations of the labor law.—Any officer agent or employe of this state or of a municipal corporation therein having a duty to act in the premises who violates, evades or knowingly permits the violation or evasion of any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of malfeasance in office and shall be suspended or removed by the authority having power to appoint or remove such officer agent or employe, otherwise by the governor. Any citizen of this state may maintain proceedings for the suspension or removal of such officer agent or employe or may maintain an action for the purpose of securing the cancellation or avoidance of any contract which by its terms or manner of performance violates this act or for the purpose of preventing any officer, agent or employe of such municipal corporation from paying or authorizing the payment of any public money for work done thereupon. [As amended by chapter 567, Laws of 1899.]

§ 5. Hours of labor on street surface and elevated railroads.—Ten consecutive hours' labor, including one-half hour for dinner shall constitute a day's labor in the operation of all street surface and elevated railroads, of whatever motive power, owned or operated by corporations in this state, whose main line of travel or whose routes lie principally within the corporate limits of cities of more than one hundred thousand inhabitants. No employe of any such corporation shall be permitted or allowed to work more than ten consecutive hours, including one-half hour for dinner, in any one day of twenty-four hours. In cases of accident or unavoidable delay, extra labor may be performed for extra compensation.

§ 6. Hours of labor in brickyards.—Ten hours, exclusive of the necessary time for meals, shall constitute a legal day's work in the making of brick in brickyards owned or operated by corporations. No corporation owning or operating such brickyard shall require employes to work more than ten hours in any one day, or to commence work before seven o'clock in the morning. But overwork and work prior to seven o'clock in the morning for extra compensation may be performed by agreement between employer and employe.

§ 7. Regulation of hours of labor on steam surface and elevated railroads.—Ten hours' labor, performed within twelve consecutive hours, shall constitute a legal day's labor in the operation of steam surface and elevated railroads owned and operated within this state, except where the mileage system of running trains is in operation. But this section does not apply to the performance of extra hours of labor by conductors, engineers, firemen and trainmen in case of accident or delay resulting therefrom. For each hour of labor performed in any one day in excess of such ten hours, by any such employe, he shall be paid in addition at least one-tenth of his daily compensation. No person or corporation operating a line of railroad of thirty miles in length or over, in whole or in part within this state, shall permit or require a conductor, engineer, fireman or trainman, who has worked in any capacity for twenty-four consecutive hours, to go again on duty or perform any kind of work, until he has had at least eight hours' rest.

§ 8. Payment of wages by receivers.—Upon the appointment of a receiver of a partnership or of a corporation organized under the laws of this state and doing business therein, other than a moneyed corporation, the wages of the employes of such partnership or corporation shall be preferred to every other debt or claim.

§ 9. Cash payment of wages.—Every manufacturing, mining, quarrying, mercantile, railroad, street railway, canal, steamboat, telegraph and telephone company, every express company, and every water company, not municipal, shall pay to each employe engaged in its business the wages earned by him in cash. No such company or corporation shall pay its employes in scrip, commonly known as store money-orders.

§ 10. When wages are to be paid.—Every corporation or joint-stock association, or person carrying on the business thereof by lease or otherwise, shall pay weekly to each employe the wages earned by him to a day not more than six days prior to the date of such payment. But every person or corporation operating a steam surface railroad shall, on or before the twentieth day of each month, pay the employes thereof the wages earned by them during the preceding calendar month.

§ 11. Penalty for violation of preceding sections.—If a corporation or joint-stock association, its lessee or other persons carrying on the business thereof, shall fail to pay the wages of an employe as provided in this article, it shall forfeit to the people of the State, the sum of fifty dollars for each such failure, to be recovered by the factory inspector in his name of office in a civil action; but an action shall not be maintained therefor, unless the factory inspector shall have given to the employer at least ten days' written notice, that such an action will be brought if the wages due are not sooner paid as provided in this article. On the trial of such action, such corporation or association shall not be allowed to set up any defense, other than a valid assignment of such wages, a valid set-off against the same, or the absence of such employe from his regular place of labor at the time of the payment, or an actual tender to such employe at the time of the payment of the wages so earned by him, or a breach of contract by such employe or a denial of the employment.

§ 12. Assignment of future wages.—No assignment of future wages, payable weekly, or monthly in case of a steam surface railroad corporation, shall be valid if made to the corporation or association from which such wages are to become due, or to any person on its behalf, or if made or procured to be made to any person for the purpose of relieving such corporation or association from the obligation to pay weekly, or monthly in case of a steam surface railroad corporation. Charges for groceries, provisions or clothing shall not be a valid offset for wages in behalf of any such corporation or association. No such corporation or association shall require any agreement from any employe to accept wages at other periods than as provided in this article as a condition of employment.

§ 13. Preferences in employment of persons upon public works. —In the construction of public works by the state or a municipality, or by persons contracting with the state or such municipality, only citizens of the United States shall be employed; and in all cases where laborers are employed on any such public works, prference shall be given citizens of the state of New York. In each contract for the construction of public works, a provision shall be inserted, to the effect that if the provisions of this section are not complied with, the contract shall be void.

§ 14. Stone used in state or municipal works.—All stone used in state and municipal works, except paving blocks and crushed stone, shall be worked, dressed and carved within the state. There shall be inserted in each contract or specification hereafter awarded by state, county or municipal authorities, authorizing or requiring the use of worked, dressed or carved stone, except paving blocks or crushed stone, within the state or such county or municipality, a clause to the effect that such stone shall be so worked, dressed or carved within the boundaries of the state as required by this section. If a contractor of the state or any municipality therein, shall use stone, except paving blocks and crushed stone, which has been worked, dressed or carved without the state, the state or such municipality shall revoke the contract of such contractor and be released from liability thereon.

§ 15. Labels, brands, et cetera, used by labor organizations.—A union or association of employes may adopt a device in the form of a label, brand, mark, name or other character for the purpose of designating the products of the labor of the members thereof. Duplicate copies of such device shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, who shall, under his hand and seal, deliver to the union or association filing or registering the same a certified copy and a certificate of the filing thereof, for which he shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar. Such certificate shall not be assignable by the union or association to whom it is issued.

§ 16. Penalty for illegal use of labels, et cetera; injunction proceedings.—A person manufacturing, using, displaying or keeping for sale a counterfeit or colorable imitation of a device so adapted and filed, or goods bearing the same, shall be subject to a penalty of two hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action brought in a court of competent jurisdiction by the person aggrieved; one-half of which penalty, when recovered, shall be paid to the plaintiff and one-half to the overseer of the poor of the town or an officer having like power of the city, wherein the person aggrieved resides, for the benefit of the poor of such town or city. After filing copies of such device, such union or association may commence an action to enjoin the manufacture, use, display or sale of counterfeit or colorable imitations of such device, or of goods bearing the same, and the court may restrain such wrongful manufacture, use, display or sale, and every unauthorized use or display by others of the genuine devices so registered and filed, if such use or display is not authorized by the owner thereof, and may award to the plaintiff such damages resulting from such wrongful manufacture, use, display or sale as may be proved, together with the profits derived therefrom.

§ 17. Seats for female employes in factories.—Every person employing females in a factory shall provide and maintain suitable seats for the use of such female employes, and permit the use thereof by such employes to such an extent as may be resonable for the preservation of their health.

§ 18. Scaffolding for use of employes.—A person employing or directing another to perform labor of any kind in the erection, repairing, altering or painting of a house, building or structure shall not furnish or erect, or cause to be furnished or erected for the performance of such labor, scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders or other mechanical contrivances which are unsafe, unsuitable or improper, and which are not so constructed, placed and operated as to give proper protection to the life and limb of a person so employed or engaged. Scaffolding or staging swung or suspended from an overhead support, more than twenty feet from the ground or floor, shall have a safety rail of wood, properly bolted, secured and braced, rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portions of such scaffolding or staging and extending along the entire length of the outside and the ends thereof, and properly attached thereto, and such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure.

ing or any of such parts is found to be dangerous to life or limb, the factory inspector shall prohibit the use thereof, and require the same to be altered and reconstructed so as to avoid such danger. The factory inspector or deputy factory inspector making the examination shall attach a certificate to the scaffolding, or the slings, hangers, irons, ropes, or other parts thereof, examined by him, stating that he has made such examination, and that he has found it safe or unsafe, as the case may be. If he declares it unsafe, he shall at once, in writing, notify the person responsible for its erection of the fact, and warn him against the use thereof. Such notice may be served personally upon the person responsible for its erection, or by conspicuously affixing it to the scaffolding, or the part thereof declared to be unsafe. After such notice has been so served or affixed, the person responsible therefor shall immediately remove such scaffolding or part thereof and alter or strengthen it in such manner as to render it safe, in the discretion of the officer who has examined it, or of his superiors. The factory inspector and any of his deputies whose duty it is to examine or test any scaffolding or part thereof, required by this section, shall have free access, at all reasonable hours, to any building or premises containing them or where they may be in use. All swinging and stationary scaffolding shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight required to be dependent therefrom or placed thereon, when in use, and not more than four men shall be allowed on any swinging scaffolding at one time. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 20. Protection of persons employed on buildings in cities.—All contractors and owners, when constructing buildings in cities, where the plans and specifications require the floors to be arched between the beams thereof, or where the floors or filling in between the floors are of fire-proof material or brick work, shall complete the flooring or filling in as the building progresses, to not less than within three tiers of beams below that on which the iron work is being erected. If the plans and specifications of such buildings do not require filling in between the beams of floors with brick or fire-proof material all contractors for carpenter work, in the course of construction, shall lay the underflooring thereof on each story as the building progresses, to not less than within two stories below the one to which such building has been erected. Where double floors are not to be used, such contractor shall keep planked over the floor two stories below the story where the work is being performed. If the floor beams are of iron or steel, the contractors for the iron or steel work of buildings in course of construction or the owners of such buildings, shall thoroughly plank over the entire tier of iron or steel beams on which the structural iron or steel work is being erected, except such spaces as may be reasonably required for the proper construction of such iron or steel work, and for the raising or lowering of materials to be used in the construction of such building, or such spaces as may be designated by the plans and specifications for stairways and elevator shafts. If elevating machines or hoisting apparatus are used within a building in the course of construction, for the purpose of lifting materials to be used in such construction, the contractors or owners shall cause the shafts or openings in each floor to be enclosed or fenced in on all sides by a barrier at least eight feet in height. If a building in course of construction is five stories or more in height, no lumber or timber needed for such construction shall be hoisted or lifted on the outside of such building. The chief officer, in any city, charged with the enforcement of the building laws of such city and the factory inspector are hereby charged with enforcing the provisions of this section. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 21. Factory inspector to enforce provisions of article.—The factory inspector shall enforce all the provisions of this article. He shall investigate complaints made to him of violations of such provisions and if he finds that such complaints are well founded he shall issue an order directed to the person or corporation complained of, requiring such person or corporation to comply with such provisions. If such order is disregarded the factory inspector shall present to the district attorney of the proper county all the facts ascertained by him in regard to the alleged violation, and all other papers, documents or evidence pertaining thereto, which he may have in his possession. The district attorney to whom such presentation is made shall proceed at once to prosecute the person or corporation for the violations complained of, pursuant to this chapter and the provisions of the penal code. If complaint is made to the factory inspector that any person contracting with the state or a municipal corporation for the performance of any public work fails to comply with or evades the provisions of this article respecting the payment of the prevailing rate of wages, the requirements of hours of labor or the employment of citizens of the United States or of the state of New York, the factory inspector shall if he finds such complaints to be well founded, present evidence of such non-compliance to the officer, department, or board having charge of such work. Such officer, department or board shall thereupon take the proper proceedings to revoke the contract of the person failing to comply with or evading such provisions. [New section added by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

ARTICLE V.

FACTORY INSPECTOR, ASSISTANT AND DEPUTY.

Section 60. Factory inspector and assistant.—There shall continue to be a factory inspector and assistant factory inspector, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The term of office of each shall be three years. The term of office of the successors of the factory inspector and assistant factory inspector in office when this chapter takes effect shall be abridged so as to expire on the last day of December preceding the time when each such term would otherwise expire, and thereafter each such term shall begin on the first day of January. There shall be paid to the factory inspector an annual salary of three thousand dollars, and to the assistant factory inspector an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars.

inspectors, not more than ten of whom shall be women, and who may be removed by him at any time. Each deputy inspector shall receive an annual salary of one thousand two hundred dollars. The factory inspector may designate six or more of such deputies to inspect the buildings and rooms occupied and used as bakeries and to enforce the provisions of this chapter relating to the manufacture of flour or meal food products. One of such deputies shall have a knowledge of mining, whose duty it shall be, under the direction of the factory inspector, to inspect mines and quarries and to enforce the provisions of this chapter relating thereto. The factory inspector may appoint one or more of such deputies to act as clerk in his principal office. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 62. General powers and duties of factory inspector.—The factory inspector may divide the state into districts, assign one or more deputy inspectors to each district, and may, in his discretion, transfer them from one district to another. The factory inspector shall visit and inspect, or cause to be visited and inspected, the factories, during reasonable hours, as often as practicable, and shall cause the provisions of this chapter to be enforced therein and prosecute all persons violating the same. Any lawful municipal ordinance, by-law or regulation relating to factories or their inspection, in addition to the provisions of this chapter and not in conflict therewith, shall be observed and enforced by the factory inspector. The factory inspector, assistant and each deputy may administer oaths and take affidavits in matters relating to the enforcement of the provisions of this chapter. No person shall interfere with, obstruct or hinder by force or otherwise, the factory inspector, assistant factory inspector or deputies while in the performance of their duties, or refuse to properly answer questions asked by such officers pertaining to the provisions of this chapter. All notices, orders and directions of assistant or deputy factory inspectors given in accordance with this chapter are subject to the approval of the factory inspector.

§ 63. Reports.—The factory inspector shall report annually to the legislature in the month of January. The assistant factory inspector and each deputy shall report to the factory inspector, from time to time, as he may require.

§ 64. Badges.—The factory inspector may procure and cause to be used, badges for himself, his assistant and deputies, while in the performance of their duties, the cost of which shall be a charge upon the appropriation made for the use of the department.

§ 65. Payment of salaries and expenses.—All necessary expenses incurred by the factory inspector in the discharge of his duties, shall be paid by the state treasurer upon the warrant of the comptroller, issued upon proper vouchers therefor. The reasonable necessary traveling and other expenses of the assistant factory inspector and deputy factory inspectors, while engaged in the performance of their duties, shall be paid in like manner upon vouchers approved by the factory inspector and audited by the comptroller. All such expenses and the salaries of the factory inspector, assistant and deputies shall be payable monthly. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 66. Sub-office in New York city.—The factory inspector may establish and maintain a sub-office in the city of New York, if, in his opinion, the duties of his office demand it. He may designate one or more of the deputy factory inspectors to take charge of and manage such office, subject to his direction. The reasonable and necessary expenses of such office shall be paid, as are other expenses of the factory inspector.

ARTICLE VI.

FACTORIES.

Section 70. Employment of minors.—A child under the age of fourteen years shall not be employed in any factory in this state. A child between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years shall not be so employed, unless a certificate executed by a health officer be filed in the office of the employer.

§ 71. Certificate for employment, how issued.—Such certificate shall be issued by the executive officer of the board, department or commissioner of health of the city, town or village where such child resides, or is to be employed, or by such other officer thereof as may be designated, by resolution, for that purpose, upon the application of the child desiring such employment. At the time of making such application, there shall be filed with such board, department, commissioner or officer, the affidavit of the parent or guardian of such child, or the person standing in parental relation thereto, showing the date and place of birth of such child. Such certificate shall not be issued unless the officer issuing the same is satisfied that such child is fourteen years of age or upwards, and is physically able to perform the work which he intends to do. No fees shall be demanded or received for administering an oath as required by this section.

§ 72. Contents of certificate.—Such certificate shall state the date and place of birth of the child, if known, and describe the color of the hair and eyes, the height and weight and any distinguishing facial marks of such child, and that, in the opinion of the officer issuing such certificate, such child is upwards of fourteen years of age, and is physically able to perform the work which he intends to do.

§ 73. School attendance required.—No such certificate shall be granted unless it appears to the satisfaction of such board, department, commissioner or officer, that the child applying therefor has regularly attended at a school in which reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, English grammar and geography are taught, or upon equivalent instruction by a competent teacher elsewhere than at a school, for a period equal to one school year, during the year previous to his arriving at the age of fourteen years, or during the year previous to applying for such certificate, and is able to read and write simple sentences in the English language. The principal or chief executive officer of a school, or teacher elsewhere than at a school, shall furnish, upon demand, to a child who has attended at such school or been instructed by such teacher, or to the factory inspector, his assistant or deputies, a certificate stating the school attendance of such child.

§ 74. Vacation certificates.—A child of fourteen years of age, who can read and write simple sentences in the English language, may be employed in a factory during the vacation of the public schools of the city or school district where such child resides, upon complying with all the provisions of the foregoing sections, except that requiring school attendance. The certificate issued to such child shall be designated a "vacation certificate," and no employer shall employ a child to whom such a certificate has been issued, to work in a factory at any time other than the time of the vacation of the public school in the city or school district where such factory is situated.

§ 75. Report of certificates issued.—The board or department of health or health commissioner of a city, village or town, shall transmit, between the first and tenth day of each month, to the office of the factory inspector a list of the names of the children to whom certificates have been issued.

§ 76. Registry of children employed.—Each person owning or operating a factory and employing children therein shall keep, or cause to be kept in the office of such factory, a register, in which shall be recorded the name, birthplace, age and place of residence of all children so employed under the age of sixteen years. Such register and the certificates filed in such office shall be produced for inspection, upon the demand of the factory inspector, his assistant or deputies.

§ 77. Hours of labor of minors and women.—No minor under the age of eighteen years, and no female shall be employed at labor in any factory in this state before six o'clock in the morning or after nine o'clock in the evening of any day, or for more than ten hours in any one day or sixty hours in any one week, except to make a shorter work day on the last day of the week; or more hours in any one week than will make an average of ten hours per day for the whole number of days so worked. A printed notice stating the number of hours per day for each day of the week required of such persons, and the time when such work shall begin and end, shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place in each room where they are employed. But such persons may begin their work after the time for beginning and stop before the time for ending such work, mentioned in such notice, but they shall not be required to perform any labor in such factory, except as stated therein. The terms of such notice shall not be changed after the beginning of labor on the first day of the week without the consent of the factory inspector. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 78. Change of hours of labor of minors and women.—When, in order to make a shorter work day on the last day of the week, a minor under eighteen years of age, or a female is to be required or permitted to work in a factory more than ten hours in a day, the employer of such persons shall notify the factory inspector, in writing, of such intention, stating the number of hours of labor per day, which it is proposed to require or permit, and the time when it is proposed to cease such requirement or permission; a similar notification shall be made when such requirement or permission has actually ceased. A record of the names of the employes thus required or permitted to work overtime, with the amount of such overtime and the days upon which such work was performed, shall be kept in the office of such factory, and produced upon the demand of the factory inspector. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 79. Enclosure and operation of elevators and hoisting shaft; inspection.—If, in the opinion of the factory inspector, it is necessary to protect the life or limbs of factory employes, the owner, agent or lessee of such factory where an elevator, hoisting shafts, or well hole is used, shall cause, upon written notice from the factory inspector, the same to be properly and substantially enclosed, secured or guarded, and shall provide such proper traps or automatic doors so fastened in or at all elevator ways, except passenger elevators enclosed on all sides, as to form a substantial surface when closed and so constructed as to open and close by action of the elevator in its passage either ascending or descend-

ing. The factory inspector may inspect the cable, gearing or other apparatus of elevators in factories and require them to be kept in a safe condition. No child under the age of fifteen years shall be employed or permitted to have the care, custody or management of or to operate an elevator in a factory, nor shall any person under the age of eighteen years be employed or permitted to have the care, custody or management of or to operate an elevator therein running at a speed of over two hundred feet a minute.

§ 80. Stairs and doors.—Proper and substantial hand rails shall be provided on all stairways in factories. The steps of such stairs shall be provided with rubber, securely fastened thereon, if in the opinion of the factory inspector the safety of the employes would be promoted thereby. The stairs shall be properly screened at the sides and bottom. All doors leading in or to any such factory shall be so constructed as to open outwardly where practicable, and shall not be locked, bolted or fastened during working hours.

§ 81. Protection of employes operating machinery.—The owner or person in charge of a factory where machinery is used, shall provide, in the discretion of the factory inspector, belt shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing on or off belts on pulleys. Whenever practicable, all machinery shall be provided with loose pulleys. All vats, pans, saws, planers, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, set screws and machinery, of every description, shall be properly guarded. No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to machinery, vats or pans, while the same are in use, unless for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards so removed shall be promptly replaced. Exhaust fans of sufficient power shall be provided for the purpose of carrying off dust from emery wheels, grind stones and other machinery creating dust. If a machine or any part thereof is in a dangerous condition or is not properly guarded, the use thereof may be prohibited by the factory inspector, and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto. Such notice shall not be removed until the machine is made safe and the required safeguards are provided, and in the meantime such unsafe or dangerous machinery shall not be used. When, in the opinion of the factory inspector, it is necessary, the workrooms, halls and stairs leading to workrooms shall be properly lighted. Such lights to be independent of the motive power of such factory. No male person under eighteen years or woman under twenty-one years of age shall be permitted or directed to clean machinery while in motion. Children under sixteen years of age shall not be permitted to operate or assist in operating dangerous machines of any kind. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 82. Fire escapes.—Such fire escapes as may be deemed necessary by the factory inspector shall be provided on the outside of every factory in this state consisting of three or more stories in height. Each escape shall connect with each floor above the first, and shall be of sufficient strength, well fastened and secured, and shall have landings or balconies not less than six feet in length and three in width, guarded by iron railings not less than three feet in height, embracing at least two windows at each story and connected with the interior by easily accessible and unobstructed openings. The balconies or landings shall be connected by iron stairs, not less than eighteen inches wide, with steps of not less than six inches tread, placed at a proper slant and protected by a well-secured hand rail on both sides, and will have a drop ladder not less than twelve inches wide reaching from the lower platform to the ground. The windows or doors to the landing or balcony of each fire-escape shall be of sufficient size and located as far as possible, consistent with accessibility from the stairways and elevator hatchways or openings, and a ladder from such fire-escape shall extend to the roof. Stationary stairs or ladders shall be provided on the inside of every factory from the upper story to the roof, as a means of escape in case of fire.

§ 83. Factory inspector may order erection of fire escapes.—Any other plan or style of fire escape shall be sufficient if approved in writing by the factory inspector. If there is no fire escape, or the fire escape in use is not approved by the factory inspector, he may, by a written order served upon the owner, proprietor or lessee of any factory, or the agent or superintendent thereof, or either of them, require one or more fire escapes to be provided therefor, at such locations and of such plan and style as shall be specified in such order. Within twenty days after the service of such order, the number of fire escapes required therein, shall be provided, each of which shall be of the plan and style specified in the order, or of the plan and style described in the preceding section.

§ 84. Walls and ceilings.—The walls and ceilings of each work room in a factory shall be lime washed or painted, when in the opinion of the factory inspector, it will be conducive to the health or cleanliness of the persons working therein.

§ 85. Size of rooms.—No more employes shall be required or permitted to work in a room in a factory between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening than will allow to each of such employes, not less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet of air space; and, unless by a written permit of the factory inspector, not less than four hundred cubic feet for each employe, so employed between the hours of six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning, provided such room is lighted by electricity at all times during such hours, while persons are employed therein.

§ 86. Ventilation.—The owner, agent or lessee of a factory shall provide, in each work-room thereof, proper and sufficient means of ventilation; in case of failure the factory inspector shall order such ventilation to be provided. Such owner, agent or lessee shall provide such ventilation within twenty days after the service upon him of such order, and in case of failure, shall forfeit to the people of the state, ten dollars for each day after the expiration of such twenty days, to be recovered by the factory inspector, in his name of office.

§ 87. Accidents to be reported.—The person in charge of any factory, shall report in writing to the factory inspector all accidents or injuries sustained by any person therein, within forty-eight hours after the time of the accident, stating as fully as possible the extent and cause of the injury, and the place where the injured person has been sent, with such other information relative thereto as may be required by the factory inspector who may investigate the cause of such accident, and require such precautions to be taken as will, in his judgment, prevent the recurrence of similar accidents.

§ 88. Washroom and waterclosets.—Every factory shall contain a suitable, convenient and separate watercloset or waterclosets for each sex, which shall be properly screened, ventilated and kept clean and free from all obscene writing or marking; and also a suitable and convenient washroom. The waterclosets used by women shall have separate approaches. When women or girls are employed, a dressingroom shall be provided for them, when required by the factory inspector.

§ 89. Time allowed for meals.—In each factory at least sixty minutes shall be allowed for the noonday meal, unless the factory inspector shall permit a shorter time. Such permit must be in writing and conspicuously posted in the main entrance of the factory, and may be revoked at any time. Where employes are required or permitted to work overtime for more than one hour after six o'clock in the evening, they shall be allowed at least twenty minutes to obtain a lunch, before beginning to work overtime.

§ 90. Inspection of factory buildings.—The factory inspector, or other competent person designated by him, upon request, shall examine any factory outside of the cities of New York and Brooklyn, to determine whether it is in a safe condition. If it appears to him to be unsafe, he shall immediately notify the owner, agent or lessee thereof, specifying the defects, and require such repairs and improvements to be made as he may deem necessary. If the owner, agent or lessee shall fail to comply with such requirements, he shall forfeit to the people of the state the sum of fifty dollars, to be recovered by the factory inspector in his name of office.

§ 91. Inspection of boilers in factories.—All boilers used for generating steam or heat for factory purposes shall be kept in good order, and the owner, agent, manager or lessee of such factory shall have such boiler inspected by a competent person approved by the factory inspector, once in six months, and shall file a certificate showing the result thereof in such factory office and a duplicate thereof in the office of the factory inspector. Each boiler or nest of boilers used for generating steam or heat for factory purposes shall be provided with a proper safety-valve and with steam and water gauges, to show respectively the pressure of steam and the height of water in the boilers. Every boiler-house in which a boiler or nest of boilers is placed, shall be provided with a steam guage properly connected with the boilers, and another steam guage shall be attached to the steam pipe in the engine house, and so placed that the engineer or fireman can readily ascertain the pressure carried. Nothing in this section shall apply to boilers in factories which are regularly inspected by competent inspectors acting under the authority of local laws or ordinances. [New section added by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 91.* Employment of women and children at polishing or buffing.—No male child under the age of eighteen years, nor any female, shall be employed in any factory in this state in operating or using any emery corundum, stone or emery polishing or buffing wheel. The owner, agent or lessee of a factory who employs any such person in the performance of such work, is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined the sum of fifty dollars for each such violation. The factory inspector, his assistants and deputies, shall enforce the provisions of this section. [New section added by chapter 375, Law of 1899.]

ARTICLE VII.

TENEMENT-MADE ARTICLES.

Section 100. Manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing articles in tenements.—No room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house, or in a building situated in the rear of any tenement or dwelling house, shall be used for the purpose of manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing therein, any coats, vests, knee-pants, trousers, overalls, cloaks, hats, caps, suspenders jerseys, blouses, dresses, waists, waist bands, underwear, neckwear, furs, fur trimmings, fur garments, skirts, shirts, purses, feathers, artificial flowers, cigarettes, cigars or umbrellas, unless a license is secured therefor as provided in this article. But nothing herein contained shall apply to collars, cuffs, shirts or shirt waists made of cotton or linen fabrics that are subjected to the laundrying process before being offered for sale. Application for such a license shall be made to the factory inspector by any family or a member thereof desiring to manufacture, alter, repair or finish any of such articles in any room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house, or by any person desiring to perform such work in any building in the rear of any tenement or dwelling house. Such application shall describe the room or apartment, shall specify the number of persons to be employed therein and shall be in such form as the factory inspector may determine. Blank applications shall be prepared and furnished by the factory inspector. Before any such license is granted, an inspection of the room, apartment or building sought to be licensed must be made by the factory inspector. If the factory inspector ascertain that such room, apartment or building is in a clean and proper sanitary condition and that the articles specified in this section may be manufactured therein under clean and healthful condition, he shall grant a license permitting the use of such room, apartment or building, for the purpose of manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing such articles. Each license shall state the maximum number of persons who may be employed in the room or rooms to which such license relates. The number of persons to be so employed shall be determined by the number of cubic feet of air space contained in each room or apartment mentioned in such license, allowing not less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet for each person employed between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening; and, unless by a special written permit of the factory inspector, not less than four hundred cubic feet for each person employed therein between the hours of six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning, but no such permit shall be issued unless such room or apartment is lighted by electricity or other suitable light, at all times during such hours, while such persons are employed therein. Such license must be framed and posted in a conspicuous place in each room or apartment to which it relates. It may be revoked by the factory inspector if the health of the community or of the employes requires it, or if it appears that the rooms or apartments to which such license relates are not in a healthy and proper sanitary condition. Every room or apartment in which any of the articles named in this section are manufactured, altered, repaired or finished shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition and shall be subject to inspection and examination by the factory inspector, for the purpose of ascertaining whether said garments or articles or any part or parts thereof, are clean and free from vermin and every matter of an infectious or contagious nature. No person shall hire, employ or contract with any member of a family, or any person not holding a license therefor, to manufacture, alter, repair or finish, any of the articles named in this section in any room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house or in any room or apartment in any building situated in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house as aforesaid. This section shall not prevent the employment of a tailor or seamstress by any person or family for the purpose of making, altering, repairing or finishing any article of wearing apparel for such person or for family use. [As amended by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 101. Register of persons to whom work is given.—Persons contracting for the manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing of any of the articles mentioned in section one hundred of this act or giving out material from which they or any part of them are to be manufactured, altered, repaired or finished shall keep a register of the names and addresses plainly written in English of the persons to whom such articles or materials are given to be so manufactured, altered, repaired or finished or with whom they have contracted to do the same. Such register shall be subject to inspection by the factory inspector, and a copy thereof shall be furnished on his demand. [As amended by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 102. Goods unlawfully manufactured to be labeled.—Articles manufactured, altered, repaired or finished contrary to the provisions of section one hundred of this chapter shall not be sold or exposed for sale by any person. The factory inspector shall conspicuously affix to any such article found to be unlawfully manufactured, altered, repaired or finished a label containing the words "tenement-made" printed in small pica capital letters on a tag not less than four inches in length. The factory inspector shall notify the person owing or alleging to own such article that he has so labeled it. No person, except the factory inspector, shall remove or deface any tag or label so affixed. [As amended by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 103. Powers and duties of boards of health relative to tenement-made articles.—If the factory inspector finds evidence of disease present in a workshop or in a room or apartment in a tenement or dwelling house or in any room or apartment of a building in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house, in which any of the articles named in section one hundred of this chapter are manufactured, altered, repaired or finished or in process thereof he shall affix to such articles the label prescribed in the preceding section, and immediately report to the local board of health, who shall disinfect such articles, if necessary, and thereupon remove such label. If the factory inspector finds that infectious or contagious diseases exist in a workshop, room or apartment of a tenement or dwelling house or of a building in the rear thereof, in which any of the articles specified in section one hundred of this chapter, are being manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, or that articles manufactured or in process of manufacture therein are infected, or that goods used therein are unfit for use, he shall report to the local board of health, and such board shall issue such order as the public health may require. Such board may condemn and destroy all such infected articles or articles manufactured or in the process of manufacture under unclean or unhealthful conditions. [As amended by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 104. Inspection of articles manufactured in other states.—Whenever it is reported to the factory inspector that any of the articles named in section one hundred of this chapter are being shipped into this state, having previously been manufactured in whole or in part under unclean, unsanitary or unhealthy conditions, said inspector shall examine said articles and the conditions of their manufacture, and if upon such examination said goods or any part of them are found to contain vermin or to have been manufactured in improper places or under unhealthy conditions, he shall forthwith affix to them the tag or label hereinbefore described and report thereof to the local board of health which board shall thereupon make such order or orders as the public safety may require. [As amended by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 105. Owners of tenement and dwelling houses not to permit the unlawful use thereof.—The owner, lessee or agent of a tenement or dwelling house or of a building in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house shall not permit the use thereof for the manufacture, repair, alteration or finishing of any of the articles mentioned in this article contrary to its provisions. If a room or apartment in such tenement or dwelling house, or in a building in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house be so unlawfully used, the factory inspector shall serve a notice thereof upon such owner, lessee or agent. Unless such owner, lessee or agent shall cause such unlawful manufacture to be discontinued within thirty days after the service of such notice, or, within fifteen days thereafter, institutes and faithfully prosecutes proceedings for the dispossession of the occupant of a tenement or dwelling house, or of a building in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house who unlawfully manufactures, repairs, alters or finishes such articles in any room or apartment therein, he shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this article, as if he, himself, was engaged in such unlawful manufacture, repair, alteration or finishing. The unlawful manufacture, repair, alteration or finishing of any of such articles by the occupant of a room or apartment of a tenement or dwelling house, or of a building in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house shall be a cause for dispossessing such occupant by summary proceedings to recover possession of real property, as provided in the code of civil procedure. [New section added by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 105.* Copy of article to be posted.—A copy of articles five, six and seven shall be posted in a conspicuous place in each workroom of every factory where persons are employed who are affected by the provisions thereof.

PENAL CODE RELATIVE TO VIOLATIONS OF PROVISIONS OF THE LABOR LAW; CHAPTER 416, LAWS OF 1897.

§ 447a. Negligently furnishing insecure scaffolding.—A person or corporation employing or directing another to do or perform any labor in the erection, repairing, altering or painting, any house, building or structure within this state, who knowingly or negligently furnishes or erects or causes to be furnished or erected for the performance of such labor, unsafe, unsuitable or improper scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders or other mechanical contrivances; or who hinders or obstructs any officer detailed to inspect the same, destroys or defaces any notice posted thereon, or permits the use thereof after the same has been declared unsafe by such officer contrary to the provisions of article one of the labor law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 447c. Neglect to complete or plank floors of buildings constructed in cities.—A person, constructing a building in a city, as owner or contractor, who violates the provisions of article one of the labor law, relating to the completing or laying of floors, or the planking of such floors or tiers of beams as the work of construction progresses, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction therefor shall be punished by a fine for each offense of not less than twenty-five nor more than two hundred dollars.

§ 384h. Hours of labor to be required.—Any person or corporation,

* So in the original.

2. Who shall require more than ten hours labor, including one-half hour for dinner, to be performed within twelve consecutive hours, by the employes of a street surface and elevated railway owned or operated by corporations whose main line of travel or routes lie principally within the corporate limits of cities of more than one hundred thousand inhabitants; or,

3. Who shall require the employes of a corporation owning or operating a brickyard to work more than ten hours in any one day or to commence work before seven o'clock in the morning, unless by agreement between employer and employe; or,

4. Who shall require the employes of a corporation operating a line of railroad of thirty miles in length or over, in whole or in part within this state to work contrary to the requirements of article one of the labor law, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction therefor shall be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars for each offense. If any contractor with the state or a municipal corporation shall require more than eight hours for a day's labor, upon conviction therefor in addition to such fine, the contract shall be forfeited at the option of the municipal corporation.

§ 384i. Payment of wages.—A corporation or joint stock association or a person carrying on the business thereof, by lease or otherwise, who does not pay the wages of its employes in cash, weekly or monthly as provided in article one of the labor law, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction therefor, shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than fifty dollars for each offense.

§ 384j. Failure to furnish seats for female employes.—Any person employing females in a factory or mercantile establishment who does not provide and maintain suitable seats for the use of such employes and permit the use thereof by such employes to such an extent as may be reasonable for the preservation of their health, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 3841. Violations of provisions of labor law.—Any person who violates or does not comply with:

1. The provisions of article six of the labor law, relating to factories and the employment of children therein;

2. The provisions of article seven of the labor law, relating to the manufacture of articles in tenements;

3. The provisions of article eight of the labor law, relating to bakeries and confectionery establishments, the employment of labor and the manufacture of flour or meal food products therein;

4. * * * * * is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished for a first offense by a fine of not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offense by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days or by both such fine and imprisonment; for a third offense by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

BAKERY INSPECTION LAW

AS CONTAINED IN

1897.

BAKERY INSPECTION LAW

(As contained in Labor Law, Chapter 415, Laws of 1897).

ARTICLE VIII.—BAKERIES AND CONFECTIONERY ESTABLISHMENTS.

Section 110. Hours of labor in bakeries and confectionery establishments.—No employe shall be required or permitted to work in a biscuit, bread or cake bakery or confectionery establishment more than sixty hours in any one week, or more than ten hours in any one day, unless for the purpose of making a shorter work day on the last day of the week; nor more hours in any one week than will make an average of ten hours per day for the number of days during such week in which such employe shall work.

§ 111. Drainage and plumbing of buildings and rooms occupied by bakeries.—All buildings or rooms occupied as biscuit, bread, pie or cake bakeries, shall be drained and plumbed in a manner conducive to the proper and healthful sanitary condition thereof, and shall be constructed with air shafts, windows or ventilating pipes, sufficient to insure ventilation. The factory inspector may direct the proper drainage, plumbing and ventilation of such rooms or buildings. No cellar or basement, not now used for a bakery, shall hereafter be so occupied or used, unless the proprietor shall comply with the sanitary provisions of this article.

§ 112. Requirements as to rooms, furniture, utensils and manufactured products.—Every room used for the manufacture of flour or meal food products shall be at least eight feet in height and shall have, if deemed necessary by the factory inspector, an impermeable floor constructed of cement, or of tiles laid in cement, or an additional flooring of wood properly saturated with linseed oil. The side walls of such rooms shall be plastered or wainscoted. The factory inspector may require the side walls and ceiling to be whitewashed, at least once in three months. He may also require the woodwork of such walls to be painted. The furniture and utensils shall be so arranged so to be readily cleansed and not prevent the proper cleaning of any part of a room. The manufactured flour or meal food products shall be kept in dry and airy rooms so arranged that the floors, shelves and all other facilities for storing the same can be properly cleaned. No domestic animals, except cats, shall be allowed to remain in a room used as a biscuit, bread, pie or cake bakery or any room in such bakery where flour or meal products are stored.

§ 113. Wash-room and closets; sleeping places.—Every such bakery shall be provided with a proper wash-room and water-closet or water-closets apart from the bake-room, or rooms where the manufacture of such food product is conducted, and no water-closet, earth-closet, privy or ash-pit shall be within or connected directly with the bake-room of any bakery, hotel or public restaurant. No person shall sleep in a room occupied as a bake-room. Sleeping places for the persons employed in the bakery shall be separate from the rooms where flour or meal food products are manufactured or stored. If the sleeping places are on the same floor where such products are manufactured, stored or sold, the factory inspector may inspect and order them put in a proper sanitary condition.

§ 114. Inspection of bakeries.—The factory inspector shall cause all bakeries to be inspected. If it be found upon such inspection that the bakeries so inspected are constructed and conducted in compliance with the provisions of this chapter, the factory inspector shall issue a certificate to the persons owning or conducting such bakeries.

§ 115. Notice requiring alterations.—If, in the opinion of the factory inspector, alterations are required in or upon premises occupied and used as bakeries, in order to comply with the provisions of this article, a written notice shall be served by him upon the owner, agent or lessee of such premises, either personally or by mail, requiring such alterations to be made within sixty days after such service, and such alterations shall be made accordingly.

Penal code relative to violations of provisions of the labor law.—Chapter 416 of the laws of 1897:

§ 384-l. Violations of provisions of labor law.—Any person who violates or does not comply with:

1. The provisions of article six of the labor law, relating to factories and the employment of children therein;

2. The provisions of article seven of the labor law, relating to the manufacture of articles in tenements;

3. The provisions of article eight of the labor law, relating to bakeries and confectionery establishments, the employment of labor and the manufacture of flour or meal food products therein;

4. The provision of article eleven of the labor law, relating to mercantile establishments, and the employment of women and children therein is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished for a first offense by a fine of not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offense by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; for a third offense by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Inspection of Mines and Quarries,

REPORT.

Hon. John Williams, Factory Inspector, Albany, N. Y.:

Sir.—It is with a feeling of satisfaction and appreciation that we are able to state that both the operators and employes appreciate the work done by the Department for the safety, health and convenience of those concerned in the hazardous occupation of mining.

Each year we note an improvement both in the operation of the mines and in the harmony which exists between the operators and the Department. All orders and suggestions given by the Department are cheerfully complied with. Kind and strict discipline is the motto, and all employes realize that this is the only manner in which accidents may be averted. Less carelessness has been noted; conditions which would lead to accident, death and delay have been more stringently avoided. While we are in a period of great prosperity in the mining business—new mines being opened, increased output, labor in great demand, wages increased and a larger number of employes—the number of accidents have not increased. But three fatal accidents have been reported during the year—one caused by the premature discharge of a blast, resulting in the death of two men; the other by being accidently run over by a mine car. No accidents have occurred from falling roof rock or side walls, and but one by carelessness among the employes, which heretofore has been a great cause of accidents among the employes in mining. There have been no strikes and very little dissatisfaction. Some trouble was anticipated on account of wages, but has been amicably settled. There was also some dissatisfaction with regard to weekly payment of wages, which matter was settled by the companies complying with the provisions of the Weekly Payment Law.

There has been but seven complaints during the year, six for non-compliance with the Weekly Payment Law, and one for a dangerous condition in one of the mines; all of which have been investigated and settled according to the provisions of the labor laws.

It has been my duty to condemn and suspend operations in seven shafts and one slope, all of which were formerly worked by contract without regard to either system or safety. In all cases new shafts or slopes have been sunk with but one exception.

The code of rules for the guidance of employes in mines, which are tacked up in conspicuous places—shaft houses, engine-rooms, etc.—bringing them under the every day notice of the employes, making operators and employes alike responsible for the safety in mine working, are still proving a source of much benefit. No prosecutions for non-compliance with rules or orders have been necessary. In two cases action was about to be brought when the mine owners acknowledged their ignorance of existing conditions and arranged for immediate compliance with the law. The laws relating to the inspection of mines and quarries in New York State as contained in the Labor Law, chapter 415, passed May 13, 1897, have worked very smoothly.

But two conditions have been met with which would require new rules or an amendment to the law. One was where two companies were both working on the same vein and worked too close to the line, both companies claiming that they were not within ten feet of the boundary line; but as the work progressed they come together, breaking through the barrier pillar. The other relates to a misfire when dynamite is used. There should be added to the rule in regard to a misfire the following: "Except where an electric firing device is used, or in the mining of talc, gypsum or other materials not liable to produce fire under concussion.

"In the event of a misfire under the above conditions a hole may be picked out by the person loading the same, to within a depth of not less than eight inches above the unexploded charge, to insure the explosion of the charge missing fire.

"During the progress of such work all persons, except the person doing the same, must keep beyond the line of any possible danger."

With the exception of the two above conditions the law as it now stands is, in my opinion, all that is required for the safe operation of the mines and quarries in the State.

We can also note a large decrease in the number of mines worked by contract which heretofore has been a source of much trouble to the Department. Contractors to a large extent were only interested in the number of tons mined without regard to safety. Fully nine-tenths of the number of mines condemned by myself and all mines condemned this year have formerly been worked by contract. But, happily, I am able to state that but very few of the mines are now so worked. The mines at present worked by contract are under a competent superintendent appointed by the company, and each contract reads that the work done must be performed according to the provisions of the mining laws or the contract become void and of no effect.

The mines throughout the State are in good and safe condition. Boilers, engines and steam appliances have been tested and examined and are in good condition.

Explosives are stored and used according to rules prescribed by the Department; and while the number of mine employes and the amount of mine output has increased, the fatalities have not.

During the past year a number of new companies have commenced operations, also old ones have resumed operations representing an increase of 584 employes.

Besides the condensed information contained in the statistical tables, I think it may be of interest to say that while more mines are in operation and the employes and output have increased, the number of accidents have lessened.

In closing, let me thank you for the kind words of advice you have given me while discharging my duties in the line of protecting the lives and limbs of those employed in the mines in this State.

Very truly yours,

A. R. KING,

Deputy Mine Inspector.

RELATING

TO THE INSPECTION OF MINES AND QUARRIES IN NEW YORK STATE, AS CONTAINED IN LABOR LAWS, CHAPTER 415, LAWS OF 1897.

---

MINES AND THEIR INSPECTION.

§ 120. Duties of factory inspector relating to mines; record and report.—The factory inspector shall see that every necessary precaution is taken to insure the safety and health of employes employed in the mines and quarries of the state and shall prescribe rules and regulations therefor; keep a record of the names and location of such mines and quarries, and the names of the persons or corporations owning or operating the same; collect data concerning the working thereof; examine carefully into the method of timbering shafts, drifts, inclines, slopes and tunnels, through which employes and other persons pass, in the performance of their daily labor, and see that the persons or corporations owning and operating such mines and quarries comply with the provisions of this chapter; and such information shall be furnished by the person operating such mine or quarry, upon the demand of the factory inspector.

The factory inspector shall keep a record of all mines and quarry examinations, showing the date thereof, and the condition in which the mines and quarries are found, and the manner of working the same. He shall make an annual report to the legislature during the month of January, containing a statement of the number of mines and quarries visited, the number in operation, the number of men employed, and the number and cause of accidents, fatal and non-fatal, that may have occurred in and about the same.

§ 121. Outlets of mines.—If, in the opinion of the factory inspector, it is necessary for safety of employes, the owner, operator or superintendent of a mine, operating through either a vertical or oblique shaft, or a horizontal tunnel, shall not employ any person therein unless there are in connection with the subterranean working thereof not less than two openings or outlets, at least one hundred and fifty feet apart, and connected with each other. Such openings or outlets shall be so constructed as to provide safe and distinct means of ingress and egress from and to the surface, at all times, for the use of the employes of such mine.

§ 122. Ventilation and timbering of mines.—In each mine a ventilating current shall be conducted and circulated along the face of all working places and through the roadways, in sufficient quantities to insure the safety of employes and remove smoke and noxious gases.

Each owner, agent, manager or lessee of a mine shall cause it to be properly timbered, and the roof and sides of each working place therein properly secured. No person shall be required or permitted to work in an unsafe place or under dangerous material, except to make it secure.

§ 123. Riding on loaded cars; storage of inflammable supplies.—No person shall ride or be permitted to ride on any loaded car, cage or bucket into or out of a mine. No powder or oils of any description shall be stored in a mine or quarry, or in or around shafts, engine or boiler houses, and all supplies of an inflammable and destructive nature shall be stored at a safe distance from the mine openings.

§ 124. Inspection of steam boilers and apparatus; steam and water gauges.—All boilers used in generating steam for mining purposes shall be kept in good order, and the owner, agent, manager or lessee of such mine shall have such boilers inspected by a competent person, approved by the factory inspector, once in six months, and shall file a certificate showing the results thereof in the mine office and a duplicate thereof in the office of the factory inspector. All engines, brakes, cages, buckets, ropes and chains shall be kept in good order and inspected daily by the superintendent of the mine or a person designated by him.

Each boiler or nest of boilers used in mining for generating steam, shall be provided with a proper safety valve and with steam and water gauges, to show, respectively, the pressure of steam and the height of water in the boilers. Every boiler-house in which a boiler or nest of boilers is placed, shall be provided with a steam-gauge properly connected with the boilers, and another steam-gauge shall be attached to the steam-pipe in the engine-house, and so placed that the engineer or fireman can readily ascertain the pressure carried.

§ 125. Use of explosives; blasting.—When high explosives other than gunpowder are used in a mine or quarry, the manner of storing, keeping, moving, charging and firing, or in any manner using such explosives, shall be in accordance with rules prescribed by the factory inspector.

In charging holes for blasting, in slate, rock or ore in any mine or quarry, no iron or steel pointed needle or tamping bar shall be used, unless the end thereof is tipped with at least six inches of copper or other soft material. No person shall be employed to blast unless the mine superintendent or person having charge of such mine is satisfied that he is qualified, by experience, to perform the work with ordinary safety. When a blast is about to be fired in a mine timely notice thereof shall be given by the person in charge of the work, to all persons who may be in danger therefrom.

§ 126. Reports of accidents.—Whenever loss of life or serious accident shall occur in the operation of a mine or quarry, the owner, agent, manager or lessee thereof shall immediately report, in writing, all the facts connected therewith to the factory inspector.

§ 127. Notice of dangerous condition.—If the factory inspector, after examination or otherwise, is of the opinion that a mine or anything used in the operation thereof, is unsafe, he shall immediately serve a written notice, specifying the defects, upon the owner, agent, manager or lessee, who shall forthwith remedy the same.

§ 128. Enforcement of articles.—The factory inspector may serve a written notice upon the owner, agent, manager or lessee of a mine requiring him to comply with a specified provision of this article. The factory inspector may thereafter begin an action in the supreme court to enforce compliance with such provisions; and upon such notice as the court directs, an order may be granted, restraining the working of such mine during such time as may be therein specified.

§ 129. Admission of inspectors to mines.—The owner, agent, manager or lessee of a mine, at any time, either day or night, shall admit to such mine or any building used in the operation thereof, the factory inspector or any person duly authorized by him, for the purpose of making the examinations and inspections necessary for the enforcement of this article, and shall render any necessary assistance for such inspections.

PENAL CODE, RELATIVE TO VIOLATIONS OF PROVISIONS OF THE LABOR LAW, CHAPTER 416, LAWS OF 1897.

Section 384g. Refusal to admit inspector to mines and quarries; failure to comply with requirements of inspector.—A person,

1. Refusing to admit the factory inspector, or any person authorized by him, to a mine or quarry, for the purpose of examination and inspection.

2. Neglecting or refusing to comply with the provisions of article nine of the labor law upon written notice of the factory inspector, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon convicition thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than thirty days.

RULES FOR SAFETY IN MINE WORKING.

STORING EXPLOSIVES.

All explosives should be stored in a magazine provided for that purpose, and located far enough from the working shaft, slope or tunnel, boiler-house or engine-room, so that in case the whole quantity should be exploded, there would be no danger. All explosives in excess of what are needed for one shift should be kept in the magazine. A suitable place for thawing powder should be provided for each mine and quarry and kept in condition for use. The hot water or steam bath is the only safe device. Dry heat is unsafe. A receptacle for carrying explosives should be provided. Exploders and powder should not be kept in the same room. A suitable place, separated from mine-boilers or engine-room should be provided for preparing charges. One man should have full charge of the magazine.

BLASTING.

All the blasting should be done by one man and his helper, designated by the superintendent for that purpose. After blasting, no miners or other persons should be allowed in that part of the mine until the blaster has made a personal examination of the same and pronounced "all over." If the blast misses fire, no miner or other person except the blaster and his helper should be allowed in that part of the mine less than three hours thereafter, or until the blaster has made a personal examination of the same and pronounced "all safe." No person shall use or handle any explosives who is addicted to the use of intoxicants. All tamping of high explosives should be done with a wooden bar. Give timely and sufficient warning when blast is about to be fired.

FIRE.

Storing of oil, waste, candles, etc., should be at a safe distance from the boiler-house, engine-room and shaft-house, and a quantity of water should be stored at such place to guard against fire. All shaft-houses should have ample fire protection, and the appliances should be kept in condition for instant use, as quick action will often save an entire plant from destruction. All mining plants using steam should have a hose attached to the injector or feed pipe for use in case of fire.

TIMBERING.

Improper timbering is often the cause of great fatalities. The use of poor or scant timbering is criminal. All timber should be of sufficient size and strength. Better too large than too small.

There is no fixed rule for the use of timber. Use enough and in the proper place; run no chances. Often the life of the timber is gone before it enters the mine on account of improper storing. Cover the timber, if possible, and give large room for ventilation.

SIGNALS.

Too much attention cannot be given to the use of signals and the care of their appliances. To give proper and distinct signals, the appliances must be in first-class condition. The bell line should be of sufficient strength and free of all rock and timbers. A few sheaves or rollers is all that is required. A code of signals should be posted at different parts of the workings, especially at the shaft-head, together with a notice of penalty for wrong signals. Punishments for wrong signals should be severe. Shafts of four hundred feet in depth should have speaking-tubes from foot of shaft to engine-room.

BOILERS.

Superintendents should require a strict compliance with the law regarding boiler inspection; also boilers should be inspected daily, and any imperfections should be reported to the master mechanic or superintendent.

SUPERINTENDENT.

The duties of a mine superintendent are many and varied. The most essential is discipline. Often is a fatal accident traced to lack of discipline. All inspections should be reported to him. The superintendent should keep close watch on all contractors as regards the safety of the mine. The safety of the miners and the success of all mining operations are the result of good superintendence.

ENGINEER.

In the selection of this important employe, too much care cannot be exercised. He should be of perfectly sober habits, of good judgment and quick action. His surroundings should be comfortable, visitors should be excluded, and he should not be allowed to converse with them when his engine is in motion. He should never act upon a signal not clearly given. Each engineer should have a certificate of experience and ability approved by the factory inspector.

THE SHAFT.

The shaft-head should be covered and guarded so as to prevent accidents from persons falling into them or from foreign objects dropping down. Automatic doors should, in most cases, be used. The manway should be around and not across the shaft-head. The timbering of the shaft is often neglected because it looks all right. It should be sounded and examined often, as it decays very rapidly under certain conditions. Inside shafts, winzes and chutes should be carefully guarded by railings or other means which will prevent accidents.

LADDERWAYS.

The ladders should be strong and intact. In vertical shafts and in deep pitching inclines, there should be landings of not more than twenty feet apart, and closely covered, except a hole large enough for a man to pass to the next ladder. In inclines there should be a hand-rail attached to the ladder, and wherever possible, steps should be used with hand-rail attached.

DAILY INSPECTION.

The superintendent should designate a competent person, who, at a stated hour each day, should make an inspection of all mining appliances, boilers, engines, magazines, shafts and shaft-houses. He should carefully examine all underground workings, roofs, pillars, timbers and explosives. He should descend the shaft slowly and examine the bell-rope, track, timbers, ladders, etc., and report any defects to the superintendent, in writing, at once. Such a rule should be strictly enforced where men are handled by skip, car, cage or bucket.

AIR.

The use of air instead of steam for drilling in all underground workings is advised. A drill using air is a great ventilator, driving out smoke and noxious gases and furnishing pure air at the face workings. In some cases air-drills have taken the place of fans and they keep the mines well supplied with fresh air.

RULES FOR STORING, KEEPING, MOVING, THAWING, CHARGING AND FIRING DYNAMITE.

STORING AND KEEPING.

Dynamite should be stored in a building separate and isolated from other buildings and from traffic. Caps and electric exploders and fuses must not, under any circumstances, be stored in the same building with the powder. They should always be kept apart until needed for preparing the charge.

MOVING.

Dynamite may be hauled in wagons, railway trains, mine cars or similar vehicles, care being exercised that percussion caps, exploders, fulminators, friction matches or any other article of like nature be not loaded in the same wagon, car or other vehicle. Too much care cannot be exercised in this particular detail.

THAWING POWDER.

All nitro-glycerine compounds freeze and become hard at about 42 degrees Fahrenheit. In this condition they will not readily explode. When large quantities of powder are to be used, a separate building for thawing powder should be fitted with a small steam radiator. Use only exhaust steam for heating the same, if possible, keeping the temperature of the room at about 80 degrees Fahrenheit. In the part of the room at the greatest distance from the radiator, place the powder on racks to thaw. When but small quantities are required to be thawed, a thawing kettle may be used, being two water-tight kettles, one smaller than the other (one placed inside the other), the cartridges to be placed in the smaller kettle, and space between the two kettles filled with hot water of from 120 to 130 degrees Fahrenheit, the kettle being fitted with a cover to retain the heat. Under no circumstances, however, should the kettle be placed over the fire to heat. When more hot water is required, empty out the cold water and fill again with hot water. Under no circumstances should an attempt be made to thaw the powder by placing it in hot water or exposing it to the direct action of steam.

PRECAUTIONS.

Under no conditions should powder be placed on hot steam pipes, or steam boilers, nor on or in a hot stove, nor on any hot metal. Do not expose it to radiated heat from a fire or hot stove. Keep it away from the blacksmith's forge or shop. Never roast, toast or bake it in any way.

Any deviation from the above directions may result in a serious explosion and loss of life.

PREPARING THE CHARGE.

Cut a piece of safety fuse to the right length and carefully insert the fresh-cut end in a blasting cap. See that the cap is free from any particle of sawdust before inserting the fuse. Press the fuse gently into the cap as far as it will go. Crimp the open end of the cap tightly around the fuse with a pair of cap-nippers, but under no condition disturb the fulminate or filling in the cap. Then open one end of the cartridge carefully, and with a sharpened lead pencil or pointed wooden stick make a hole in the powder, insert the cap end of the fuse, being careful to see that at least one-fourth of an inch of the cap remains out of the powder. Then draw the paper closely about the fuse and tie it with a strong cord.

Never allow smoking or fire of any description near the powder, nor leave any loose caps or fuse in the vicinity of the powder.

CHARGING THE DRILL-HOLE.

Having prepared the cartridge as above described (being sure that none of the cartridges are frozen) push the cartridges to the bottom of the drilled hole with a wooden stick, putting the cartridge which contains the capped end of the fuse on top. Don't attempt to press the cartridges down too firmly, as in so doing the cap may become disarranged, thereby causing a misfire.

TAMPING.

Having placed the required quantity of powder in the hole, cover the charge with six or eight inches of loose tamping, press it down firmly with a wooden stick, after which the hole may be tamped to the top, ramming the tamping down hard. Under no conditions use an iron or metal bar. Wood is all that is required.

MISFIRE.

In cases of misfires no attempt must be made to remove the tamping or draw the charge. A new hole should be drilled in every case.

20. Protection of persons employed on buildings in cities.
21. Factory inspectors to enforce provisions of article.

Section 1. Short title.—This chapter shall be known as the labor law.

§ 2. Definitions.—The term employe, when used in this chapter, means a mechanic, workingman or laborer who works for another for hire. The person, employing any such mechanic, workingman or laborer, whether the owner, proprietor, agent, superintendent, foreman or other subordinate, is designated in this chapter as an employer. The term "factory," when used in this chapter, shall be construed to include also any mill, workshop or other manufacturing or business establishment where one or more persons are employed at labor. The term " mercantile establishment," when used in this chapter, means any place where goods, wares or merchandise are offered for sale. Whenever, in this chapter, authority is conferred upon the factory inspector, it shall also be deemed to include his assistant or a deputy acting under his direction.

§ 3. Hours to constitute a day's work.—Eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work for all classes of employes in this state except those engaged in farm and domestic service unless otherwise provided by law. This section does not prevent an agreement for overwork at an increased compensation except upon work by or for the state or a municipal corporation or by contractors or sub-contractors therewith. Each contract to which the state or a municipal corporation is a party which may involve the employment of laborers, workmen or mechanics shall contain a stipulation that no laborer, workman or mechanic in the employ of the contractor, sub-contractor or other person doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contract shall be permitted or required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by fire, flood or danger to life or property. The wages to be paid for a legal day's work as hereinbefore defined to all classes of such laborers, workmen or mechanics upon all such public work or upon any material to be used upon or in connection therewith shall not be less than the prevailing rate for a day's work in the same trade or occupation in the locality within the state where such public work on, about or in connection with which such labor is performed in its final or completed form is to be situated, erected or used. Each such contract hereafter made shall contain a stipulation that each such laborer, workman or mechanic employed by such contractor, sub-contractor or other person on, about or upon such public work, shall receive such wages herein provided for. Each contract for such public work hereafter made shall contain a provision that the same shall be void and of no effect unless the person or corporation making or performing the same shall comply with the provisions of this section; and no such person or corporation shall be entitled to receive any sum nor shall any officer, agent or employe of the state or of a municipal corporation pay the same or authorize its payment from the funds under his charge or control to any such person or corporation for work done upon any contract which in its form or manner of performance violates the provisions of this section, but nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to persons regularly employed in state institutions. [As amended by chapter 567, Laws of 1899.]

§ 4. Violations of the labor law.—Any officer agent or employe of this state or of a municipal corporation therein having a duty to act in the premises, who violates, evades or knowingly permits the violation or evasion of any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of malfeasance in office and shall be suspended or removed by the authority having power to appoint or remove such officer, agent or employe, otherwise by the governor. Any citizen of this state may maintain proceedings for the suspension or removal of such officer, agent or employe or may maintain an action for the purpose of securing the cancellation or avoidance of any contract which, by its terms or manner of performance, violates this act, or for the purpose of preventing any officer, agent or employe of such municipal corporation from paying or authorizing the payment of any public money for work done thereupon. [As amended by chapter 567, Laws of 1899.]

§ 5. Hours of labor on street surface and elevated railroads.—Ten consecutive hours' labor, including one-half hour for dinner, shall constitute a day's labor in the operation of all street surface and elevated railroads, of whatever motive power, owned or operated by corporations in this state, whose main line of travel, or whose routes lie principally within the corporate limits of cities of more than one hundred thousand inhabitants. No employe of any such corporation shall be permitted or allowed to work more than ten consecutive hours, including one-half hour for dinner, in any one day of twenty-four hours. In cases of accident or unavoidable delay, extra labor may be performed for extra compensation.

§ 6. Hours of labor in brickyards.—Ten hours, exclusive of the necessary time for meals, shall constitute a legal day's work in the making of brick in brickyards owned or operated by corporations. No corporation owning or operating such brickyard shall require employes to work more than ten hours in any one day, or to commence work before seven o'clock in the morning. But overwork and work prior to seven o'clock in the morning for extra compensation may be performed by agreement between employer and employe.

§ 7. Regulation of hours of labor on steam surface and elevated railroads.—Ten hours' labor, performed within twelve consecutive hours, shall constitute a legal day's labor in the operation of steam surface and elevated railroads owned and operated within this state, except where the mileage system of running trains is in operation. But this section does not apply to the performance of extra hours of labor by conductors, engineers, firemen and trainmen in case of accident or delay resulting therefrom. For each hour of labor performed in any one day in excess of such ten hours, by any such employe, he shall be paid in addition at least one-tenth of his daily compensation. No person or corporation operating a line of railroad of thirty miles in length or over, in whole or in part within this state, shall permit or require a conductor, engineer, fireman or trainman, who has worked in any capacity for twenty-four consecutive hours, to go again on duty or perform any kind of work, until he has had at least eight hours' rest.

§ 8. Payment of wages by receivers.—Upon the appointment of a receiver of a partnership or of a corporation organized under the laws of this state and doing business therein, other than a moneyed corporation, the wages of the employe of such partnership or corporation shall be preferred to every other debt or claim.

§ 9. Cash payment of wages.—Every manufacturing, mining, quarrying, mercantile, railroad, street railway, canal, steamboat, telegraph and telephone company, every express company, and every water company, not municipal, shall pay to each employe engaged in its business the wages earned by him in cash. No such company or corporation shall pay its employes in scrip, commonly known as store money-orders.

§ 10. When wages are to be paid.—Every corporation or joint-stock association, or person carrying on the business thereof by lease or otherwise, shall pay weekly to each employe the wages earned by him to a day not more than six days prior to the date of such payment. But every person or corporation operating a steam surface railroad shall, on or before the twentieth day of each month, pay the employes thereof the wages earned by them during the preceding calendar month.

§ 11. Penalty for violation of preceding sections.—If a corporation or joint-stock association, its lessee or other person carrying on the business thereof, shall fail to pay the wages of an employe, as provided in this article, it shall forfeit to the people of the state the sum of fifty dollars for each such failure, to be recovered by the factory inspector in his name of office in a civil action; but an action shall not be maintained therefor, unless the factory inspector shall have given to the employer at least ten days' written notice, that such an action will be brought if the wages due are not sooner paid as provided in this article. On the trial of such action, such corporation or association shall not be allowed to set up any defense, other than a valid assignment of such wages, a valid set-off against the same, or the absence of such employe from his regular place of labor at the time of the payment, or an actual tender to such employe at the time of the payment of the wages so earned by him, or a breach of contract by such employe or a denial of the employment.

§ 12. Assignment of future wages.—No assignment of future wages, payable weekly, or monthly in case of a steam surface railroad corporation, shall be valid if made to the corporation or association from which such wages are to become due, or to any person on its behalf, or if made or procured to be made to any person for the purpose of relieving such corporation or association from the obligation to pay weekly, or monthly in case of a steam surface railroad corporation. Charges for groceries, provisions or clothing shall not be a valid offset for wages in behalf of any such corporation or association. No such corporation or association shall require any agreement from any employe to accept wages at other periods than as provided in this article as a condition of employment.

§ 13. Preferences in employment of persons upon public works.—In the construction of public works by the state or a municipality, or by persons contracting with the state or such municipality, only citizens of the United States shall be employed; and in all cases where laborers are employed on any such public works, preference shall be given citizens of the state of New York. In each contract for the construction of public works, a provision shall be inserted, to the effect that if the provisions of this section are not complied with, the contract shall be void.

§ 14. Stone used in state or municipal works.—All stone used in state and municipal works, except paving blocks and crushed stone, shall be worked, dressed and carved within the state. There shall be inserted in each contract or specification hereafter awarded by state, county or municipal authorities, authorizing or requiring the use of worked, dressed or carved stone, except paving blocks or crushed stone, within the state or such county or municipality, a clause to the effect that such stone shall be so worked, dressed or carved within the boundaries of the state as required by this section. If a contractor of the state or any municipality therein shall use stone, except paving blocks and crushed stone, which has been worked, dressed or carved without the state, the state or such municipality shall revoke the contract of such contractor and be released from liability thereon.

§ 15. Labels, brands, et cetera, used by labor organizations.—A union or association of employes may adopt a device in the form of a label, brand, mark, name or other character for the purpose of designating the products of the labor of the members thereof. Duplicate copies of such device shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, who shall, under his hand and seal, deliver to the union or association filing or registering the same a certified copy and a certificate of the filing thereof, for which he shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar. Such certificate shall not be assignable by the union or association to whom it is issued.

§ 16. Penalty for illegal use of labels, et cetera.; injunction proceedings.—A person manufacturing, using, displaying or keeping for sale a counterfeit or colorable imitation of a device so adapted and filed, or goods bearing the same, shall be subject to a penalty of two hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action brought in a court of competent jurisdiction by the person aggrieved; one-half of which penalty, when recovered, shall be paid to the plaintiff and one-half to the overseer of the poor of the town or to an officer having like power of the city, wherein the person aggrieved resides, for the benefit of the poor of such town or city. After filing copies of such device, such union or association may commence an action to enjoin the manufacture, use, display or sale of counterfeit or colorable imitations of such device, or of goods bearing the same, and the court may restrain such wrongful manufacture, use, display or sale, and every unauthorized use or display by others of the genuine devices so registered and filed, if such use or display is not authorized by the owner thereof, and may award to the plaintiff such damages resulting from such wrongful manufacture, use, display or sale as may be proved, together with the profits derived therefrom.

§ 17. Seats for female employes.—Every person employing females in a factory or as waitresses in a hotel or restaurant shall provide and maintain suitable seats for the use of such female employes, and permit the use thereof by such employes to such an extent as may be reasonable for the preservation of their health.

§ 18. Scaffolding for use of employes.—A person employing or directing another to perform labor of any kind in the erection, repairing, altering or painting of a house, building or structure shall not furnish or erect, or cause to be furnished or erected for the performance of such labor, scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders or other mechanical contrivances which are unsafe, unsuitable or improper, and which are not so constructed, placed and operated as to give proper protection to the life and limb of a person so employed or engaged. Scaffolding or staging swung or suspended from an overhead support, more than twenty feet from the ground or floor, shall have a safety rail of wood, properly bolted, secured and braced, rising at least thirty-four inches above the floor or main portions of such scaffolding or staging and extending along the entire length of the outside and the ends thereof, and properly attached thereto, and such scaffolding or staging shall be so fastened as to prevent the same from swaying from the building or structure.

§ 19. Inspection of scaffolding, ropes, blocks, pulleys and tackles in cities.—Whenever complaint is made to the factory inspector that the scaffolding or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons, or ropes of any swinging or stationary scaffolding used in the construction, alteration, repairing, painting, cleaning or pointing of buildings within the limits of a city are unsafe or liable to prove dangerous to the life or limb of any person, such factory inspector shall immediately cause an inspection to be made of such scaffolding, or the slings, hangers, blocks, pulleys, stays, braces, ladders, irons or other parts connected therewith. If, after examination, such scaffolding or any of such parts is found to be dangerous to life or limb, the factory inspector shall prohibt the use thereof, and require the same to be altered and reconstructed so as to avoid such danger. The factor inspector or deputy factory inspecter making the examination shall attach a certificate to the scaffolding, or the slings, hangers, irons, ropes or other parts thereof, examined by him, stating that he has made such examination, and that he has found it safe or unsafe, as the case may be. If he declares it unsafe, he shall at once, in writing, notify the person responsible for its erection of the fact, and warn him against the use thereof. Such notice may be served personally upon the person responsible for its erection, or by conspicuously affixing it to the scaffolding, or the part thereof declared to be unsafe. After such notice has been so served or affixed, the person responsible therefor shall immediately remove such scaffolding or part thereof, and alter or strengthen it in such manner as to render it safe, in the discretion of the officer who has examined it, or of his superiors. The factory inspector and any of his deputies whose duty it is to examine or test any scaffolding or part thereof, required by this section, shall have free access, at all reasonable hours, to any building or premises containing them or where they may be in use. All swinging and stationary scaffolding shall be so constructed as to bear four times the maximum weight required to be dependent therefrom or placed thereon, when in use, and not more than four men shall be allowed on any swinging scaffolding at one time. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 20. Protection of persons employed on buildings in cities.—All contractors and owners, when constructing buildings in cities, where the plans and specifications require the floors to be arched between the beams thereof, or where the floors or filling in between the floors are of fire-proof material or brick work, shall complete the flooring or filling in as the building progresses, to not less than within three tiers of beams below that on which the iron work is being erected. If the plans and specifications of such buildings do not require filling in between the beams of floors with brick or fire-proof material all contractors for carpenter work, in the course of construction, shall lay the underflooring thereof on each story as the building progresses, to not less than within two stories below the one to which such building has been erected. Where double floors are not to be used, such contractor shall keep planked over the floor two stories below the story where the work is being performed. If the floor beams are of iron or steel, the contractors for the iron or steel work of buildings in course of construction or the owners of such buildings, shall thoroughly plank over the entire tier of iron or steel beams on which the structural iron or steel work is being erected, except such spaces as may be reasonably required for the proper construction of such iron or steel work, and for the raising or lowering of materials to be used in the construction of such building, or such spaces as may be designated by the plans and specifications for stairways and elevator shafts. If elevating machines or hoisting apparatus are used within a building in the course of construction, for the purpose of lifting materials to be used in such construction, the contractors or owners shall cause the shafts or openings in each floor to be enclosed or fenced in on all sides by a barrier at least eight feet in height. If a building in course of construction is five stories or more in height, no lumber or timber needed for such construction shall be hoisted or lifted on the outside of such building. The chief officer, in any city, charged with the enforcement of the building laws of such city and the factory inspector are hereby charged with enforcing the provisions of this section. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 21. Factory inspector to enforce provisions of article.—The factory inspector shall enforce all the provisions of this article. He shall investigate complaints made to him of violations of such provisions and if he finds that such complaints are well founded he shall issue an order directed to the person or corporation complained of, requiring such person or corporation to comply with such provisions. If such order is disregarded the factory inspector shall present to the district attorney of the proper county all the facts ascertained by him in regard to the alleged violation, and all other papers, documents or evidence pertaining thereto, which he may have in his possession. The district attorney to whom such presentation is made shall proceed at once to prosecute the person or corporation for the violations complained of, pursuant to this chapter and the provisions of the penal code. If complaint is made to the factory inspector that any person contracting with the state or a municipal corporation for the performance of any public work fails to comply with or evades the provisions of this article respecting the payment of the prevailing rate of wages, the requirements of hours of labor or the employment of citizens of the United States or of the state of New York, the factory inspector shall, if he finds such complaints to be well-founded, present evidence of such non-compliance to the officer, department, or board having charge of such work. Such officer, department or board shall thereupon take the proper proceedings to revoke the contract of the person failing to comply with or evading such provisions. [New section added by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

ARTICLE II.

COMMISSIONER OF LABOR STATISTICS.

Section 30. Commissioner of labor statistics.
31. Duties and powers.
32. Statistics to be furnished upon request.

Section 30. Commissioner of labor statistics.—There shall continue to be a commissioner of labor statistics, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, and shall hold his office for the term of three years, and receive an annual salary of three thousand dollars. He may appoint a deputy commissioner of labor statistics, at an annual salary of two thousand and five hundred dollars, and a chief clerk at an annual salary of two thousand dollars, and such other clerks and assistants as he may deem necessary and fix their salaries. The term of office of the successor of the commissioner in office when this chapter takes effect is abridged so as to expire on the last day of December preceding the time when such term would otherwise expire, and thereafter the term of office of such commissioner shall begin on the first day of January.

§ 31. Duties and powers.—The commissioner of labor statistics shall collect, assort, systematize and present in annual reports to the legislature, within ten days after the convening thereof in each year, statistical details in relation to all departments of labor in the state, especially in relation to the commercial, industrial, social and sanitary condition of workingmen and to the productive industries of the state. He may subpoena witnesses, take and hear testimony, take or cause to be taken depositions and administer oaths.

§ 32. Statistics to be furnished upon request.—The owner, operator, manager or lessee of any mine, factory, workshop, warehouse, elevator, foundry, machine shop or other manufacturing establishment, or any agent, superintendent, subordinate, or employe thereof, shall, when requested by the commissioner of labor statistics, furnish any information in his possession or under his control which the commissioner is authorized to require, and shall admit him to any place herein named for the purpose of inspection. All statistics furnished to the commissioner of labor statistics, pursuant to this article, may be destroyed by such commissioner after the expiration of two years from the time of the receipt thereof. A person refusing to admit such commissioner, or a person authorized by him, to any such establishment, or to furnish him any information requested, or who refuses to answer or untruthfully answers questions put to him by such commissioner, in a circular or otherwise, shall forfeit to the people of the state the sum of one hundred dollars for each refusal and answer untruthfully given, to be sued for and recovered by the commissioner in his name of office. The amount so recovered shall be paid into the state treasury.

ARTICLE III.

FREE PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT BUREAUS.

Section 40. Free public employment bureaus in cities of the first class.
41. Duties of superintendent.
42. Applications; list of applicants.
43. Applicants for help, when to notify superintendent.

Section 40. Free public employment bureaus in cities of the first class.—The commissioner of labor statistics shall organize and establish in all cities of the first class a free public employment bureau, for the purpose of receiving applications of persons seeking employment, and applications of persons seeking to employ labor. No compensation or fee shall be charged or received, directly or indirectly, from persons applying for employment or help through any such bureau. Such commissioner shall appoint for each bureau so organized, and may remove for good and sufficient cause, a superintendent and such clerical assistants as, in his judgment, may be necessary for the proper administration of the affairs thereof. The salaries of such superintendents and clerks shall be fixed by the commissioner. Such salaries and the expenses of such bureaus shall be paid in the same manner as other expenses of the bureau of labor statistics.

§ 41. Duties of superintendent.—The superintendent of each free public employement bureau shall receive and record, in a book to be kept for that purpose, the names of all persons applying for employment or for help, designating opposite the name and address of each applicant, the character of employment or help desired. Each such superintendent shall report, on Thursday of each week, to the commissioner of labor statistics, the names and addresses of all persons applying for employment or help, during the preceding week, the character of the employment or help desired, and the names of the persons receiving employment through his bureau. Such superintendent shall also perform such other duties in the collection of labor statistics, and in the keeping of books and accounts of his bureau, as the commissioner may require, and shall report semi-annually to the commissioner of labor statistics the expense of maintaining his bureau.

§ 42. Applications; list of applicants.—Every application for employment or help made to a free public employment bureau shall be void after thirty days from its receipt, unless renewed by the applicant. The commissioner of labor statistics shall cause two copies of a list of all applicants for employment or help, and the character of the employment or help desired, received by him from each free public employment bureau, to be mailed on Monday of each week to the superintendent of each bureau, one of which copies shall be posted by the superintendent, immediately on receipt thereof, in a conspicious place in his office, subject to the inspection of all persons desiring employment or help, and the other shall be filed in his office for reference.

§ 43. Applicants for help, when to notify superintendent.—If an applicant for help has secured the same, he shall, within ten days thereafter, notify the superintendent of the bureau, to which application therefor was made. Such notice shall contain the name and last preceding address of the employes received through such bureau. If any such applicant neglects to so notify such superintendent, he shall be barred from all future rights and privileges of such employment bureau, at the discretion of the commissioner of labor statistics to whom the superintendent shall report such neglect.

ARTICLE IV.

CONVICT-MADE GOODS, AND DUTIES OF COMMISSIONER OF LABOR STATISTICS RELATIVE THERETO.

Section 50. License for sale of convict-made goods.
51. Revocation of license.
52. Annual statement of licensee.

Section 53. Labeling and marking of convict-made goods.
54. Duties of commissioner of labor statistics relative to violations; fines upon convictions.
55. Article not to apply to goods manufactured for use of state or a municipal corporation.

Section 50. License for sale of convict-made goods.—No person or corporation shall sell, or expose for sale, any convict-made goods, wares or merchandise, either by sample or otherwise, without a license therefor. Such license may be obtained upon application in writing to the comptroller, setting forth the residence or post-office address of the applicant, the class of goods desired to be dealt in, the town, village or city, with the street number, if any, at which the business of such applicant is to be located. Such application shall be accompanied with a bond, executed by two or more responsible citizens, or some legally incorporated surety company authorized to do business in this state, to be approved by the comptroller, in the sum of five thousand dollars, and conditioned that such applicant will comply with all the provisions of law, relative to the sale of convict-made goods, wares and merchandise. Such license shall be for a term of one year unless sooner revoked. Such person or corporation shall pay, annually, on or before the fifteenth day of January, the sum of five hundred dollars as a license fee, into the treasury of the state, which amount shall be credited to the maintenance account of the state prisons. Such license shall be kept conspicuously posted in the place of business of such licensee.

§ 51. Revocation of license.—The comptroller may revoke the license of any such person or corporation, upon satisfactory evidence of, or upon conviction for the violation of any statute regulating the sale of convict-made goods, wares or merchandise; such revocation shall not be made until after due notice to the licensee so complained of. For the purpose of this section, the comptroller or any person duly appointed by him, may administer oaths and subpoena witnesses and take and hear testimony.

§ 52. Annual statement of licensee.—Each person or corporation so licensed shall, annually, on or before the fifteenth day of January, transmit to the secretary of state a verified statement setting forth:

1. The name of the person or corporation licensed.

2. The names of the persons, agents, wardens or keepers of any prison, jail, penitentiary, reformatory or establishment using convict labor, with whom he has done business, and the name and address of the person or corporation to whom he has sold goods, wares and merchandise, and

3. In general terms, the amount paid to each of such agents, wardens or keepers, for goods, wares or merchandise and the character thereof.

§ 53. Labeling and marking convict-made goods.—All goods, wares and merchandise made by convict labor in a penitentiary, prison, reformatory or other establishment in which convict labor is employed, shall be branded, labeled or maked as herein provided. The brand, label or mark, used for such purposes shall contain, at the head or top thereof, the words "convict-made," followed by the year when, and the name of the penitentiary, prison, reformatory or other establishment in which the article branded, labeled or marked was made. Such brands, labels and marks shall be printed in plain English lettering, of the style and size known as great primer Roman condensed capitals. A brand or mark shall be used in all cases where the nature of the article will permit and only where such branding or marking is impossible shall a label be used. Such label shall be in the form of a paper tag and shall be attached by wire to each article, where the nature of the article will permit, and shall be placed securely upon the box, crate or other covering in which such goods, wares or merchandise are packed, shipped or exposed for sale. Such brand, mark or label shall be placed upon the most conspicuous part of the finished article and its box, crate or covering. No convict-made goods, wares or merchandise shall be sold or exposed for sale without such brand, mark or label.

§ 54. Duties of commissioner of labor statistics relative to violations; fines upon convictions.—The commissioner of labor statistics shall enforce the provisions of this article. If he has reason to believe that any of such provisions are being violated, he shall advise the district attorney of the county wherein such alleged violation has occurred of such fact, giving the information in support of his conclusion. The district attorney shall, at once, institute the proper proceedings to compel compliance with this article and secure conviction for such violations. Upon the conviction of a person or corporation for a violation of this article, one-half of the fine recovered shall be paid and certified by the district attorney to the commissioner of labor statistics, who shall use such money in investigating and securing information in regard to violations of this act and in paying the expenses of such conviction.

§ 55. Articles not to apply to goods manufactured for the use of the state or a municipal corporation.—Nothing in this article shall apply to or affect the manufacture in state prisons, reformatories and penitentiaries, and furnishing of articles for the use of the offices, departments and institutions of the state or any political division thereof, as provided by chapter four hundred and twenty-nine of the laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-six.

ARTICLE V.

FACTORY INSPECTOR, ASSISTANT AND DEPUTY.

Section 60. Factory inspector, assistant and deputy.
61. Deputies and clerks.
62. General powers and duties of factory inspector.
63. Reports.
64. Badges.
65. Payment of salaries and expenses.
66. Sub-office in New York city.
67. Duties of factory inspector relative to apprentices.

Section 60. Factory inspector and assistant.—There shall continue to be a factory inspector and assistant factory inspector, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The term of office of each shall be three years. The term of office of the successors of the factory inspector and assistant factory inspector in office when this chapter takes effect shall be abridged so as to expire on the last day of December preceding the time when each such term would otherwise expire, and thereafter each such term shall begin on the first day of January. There shall be paid to the factory inspector an annual salary of three thousand dollars, and to the assistant factory inspector an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars.

§ 61. Deputies and clerks.—The factory inspector may appoint from time to time, not more than fifty persons as deputy factory inspectors, not more than ten of whom shall be women, and who may be removed by him at any time. Each deputy inspector shall receive an annual salary of one thousand two hundred dollars. The factory inspector may designate six or more of such deputies to inspect the buildings and rooms occupied and used as bakeries and to enforce the provisions of this chapter relating to the manufacture of flour or meal food products. One of such deputies shall have a knowledge of mining, whose duty it shall be, under the direction of the factory inspector, to inspect mines and quarries and to enforce the provisions of this chapter relating thereto. The factory inspector may appoint one or more of such deputies to act as clerk in his principal office. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 62. General powers and duties of factory inspector.—The factory inspector may divide the state into districts, assign one or more deputy inspectors to each district, and may, in his discretion, transfer them from one district to another. The factory inspector shall visit and inspect, or cause to be visited and inspected, the factories, during reasonable hours, as often as practicable, and shall cause the provisions of this chapter to be enforced therein and prosecute all persons violating the same. Any lawful municipal ordinance, by-law or regulation relating to factories or their inspection, in addition to the provisions of this chapter and not in conflict therewith, shall be observed and enforced by the factory inspector. The factory inspector, assistant and each deputy may administer oaths and take affidavits in matters relating to the enforcement of the provisions of this chapter. No person shall interfere with, obstruct or hinder, by force or otherwise, the factory inspector, assistant factory inspector or deputies while in the performance of their duties, or refuse to properly answer questions asked by such officers pertaining to the provisions of this chapter. All notices, orders and directions of assistant or deputy factory inspectors given in accordance with this chapter are subject to the approval of the factory inspector.

§ 63. Reports.—The factory inspector shall report annually to the legislature in the month of January. The assistant factory inspector and each deputy shall report to the factory inspector, from time to time, as he may require.

§ 64. Badges.—The factory inspector may procure and cause to be used, badges for himself, his assistant and deputies, while in the performance of their duties, the cost of which shall be a charge upon the appropriation made for the use of the department.

§ 65. Payment of salaries and expenses.—All necessary expenses incurred by the factory inspector in the discharge of his duties, shall be paid by the state treasurer upon the warrant of the comptroller, issued upon proper vouchers therefor. The reasonable necessary traveling and other expenses of the assistant factory inspector and deputy factory inspectors, while engaged in the performance of their duties, shall be paid in like manner upon vouchers approved by the factory inspector and audited by the comptroller. All such expenses and the salaries of the factory inspector, assistant and deputies shall be payable monthly. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws 1899.]

§ 66. Sub-office in New York city.—The factory inspector may establish and maintain a sub-office in the city of New York, if, in his opinion, the duties of his office demand it. He may designate one or more of the deputy factory inspectors to take charge of and manage such office, subject to his direction. The reasonable and necessary expenses of such office shall be paid, as are other expenses of the factory inspector.

§ 67. Duties of factory inspector relative to apprentices.—The factory inspector, his assistant and deputies shall enforce the provisions of the domestic relations law, relative to indentures of apprentices, and prosecute employers for failure to comply with the provisions of such indentures and of such law in relation thereto.

Section 70. Employment of minors.—A child under the age of fourteen years shall not be employed in any factory in this state. A child between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years shall not be so employed, unless a certificate executed by a health officer be filed in the office of the employer.

§ 71. Certificate for employment, how issued.—Such certificate shall be issued by the executive officer of the board, department or commissioner of health of the city, town or village where such child resides, or is to be employed, or by such other officer thereof as may be designated, by resolution, for that purpose, upon the application of the child desiring such employment. At the time of making such application, there shall be filed with such board, department, commissioner or officer, the affidavit of the parent or guardian of such child, or the person standing in parental relation thereto, showing the date and place of birth of such child. Such certificate shall not be issued unless the officer issuing the same is satisfied that such child is fourteen years of age or upwards, and is physically able to perform the work which he intends to do. No fee shall be demanded or received for administering an oath as required by this section.

§ 72. Contents of certificate.—Such certificate shall state the date and place of birth of the child, if known, and describe the color of the hair and eyes, the height and weight and any distinguishing facial marks of such child, and that, in the opinion of the officer issuing such certificate, such child is upwards of fourteen years of age, and is physically able to perform the work which he intends to do.

§ 73. School attendance required.—No such certificate shall be granted unless it appears to the satisfaction of such board, department, commissioner or officer, that the child applying therefor has regularly attended at a school in which reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, English grammar and geography are taught, or upon equivalent instruction by a competent teacher elsewhere than at a school, for a period equal to one school year, during the year previous to his arriving at the age of fourteen years, or during the year previous to applying for such certificate, and is able to read and write simple sentences in the English language. The principal or chief executive officer of a school, or teacher elsewhere than at a school, shall furnish, upon demand, to a child who has attended at such school or been instructed by such teacher, or to the factory inspector, his assistant or deputies, a certificate stating the school attendance of such a child.

§ 74. Vacation certificates.—A child of fourteen years of age, who can read and write simple sentences in the English language, may be employed in a factory during the vacation of the public schools of the city or school district where such child resides, upon complying with all the provisions of the foregoing sections, except that requiring school attendance. The certificate issued to such child shall be designated a "vacation certificate," and no employer shall employ a child to whom such a certificate has been issued, to work in a factory at any time other than the time of the vacation of the public school in the city or school district where such factory is situated.

* So in the original.

§ 75. Report of certificates issued.—The board or department of health or health commissioner of a city, village or town, shall transmit, between the first and tenth day of each month, to the office of the factory inspector a list of the names of the children to whom certificates have been issued.

§ 76. Registry of children employed.—Each person owning or operating a factory and employing children therein shall keep, or cause to be kept in the office of such factory, a register, in which shall be recorded the name, birthplace, age and place of residence of all children so employed under the age of sixteen years. Such register and the certificates filed in such office shall be produced for inspection, upon the demand of the factory inspector, his assistant or deputies.

§ 77. Hours of labor of minors and women.—No minor under the age of eighteen years, and no female shall be employed at labor in any factory in this state before six o'clock in the morning or after nine o'clock in the evening of any day, or for more than ten hours in any one day or sixty hours in any one week, except to make a shorter work day on the last day of the week; or more hours in any one week than will make an average of ten hours per day for the whole number of days so worked. A printed notice stating the number of hours per day for each day of the week required of such persons, and the time when such work shall begin and end, shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place in each room where they are employed. But such persons may begin their work after the time for beginning and stop before the time for ending such work, mentioned in such notice, but they shall not be required to perform any labor in such factory, except as stated therein. The terms of such notice shall not be changed after the beginning of labor on the first day of the week without the consent of the factory inspector. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 78. Change of hours of labor of minors and women.—When, in order to make a shorter work day on the last day of the week, a minor under eighteen years of age, or a female is to be required or permitted to work in a factory more than ten hours in a day, the employer of such persons shall notify the factory inspector, in writing, of such intention, stating the number of hours of labor per day, which it is proposed to require or permit, and the time when it is proposed to cease such requirement or permission; a similar notification shall be made when such requirement or permission has actually ceased. A record of the names of the employes thus required or permitted to work overtime, with the amount of such overtime and the days upon which such work was performed, shall be kept in the office of such factory, and produced upon the demand of the factory inspector. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 79. Enclosure and operation of elevators and hoisting shaft; inspection.—If, in the opinion of the factory inspector, it is necessary to protect the life or limbs of factory employes, the owner, agent or lessee of such factory where an elevator, hoisting shafts, or well hole is used, shall cause, upon written notice from the factory inspector, the same to be properly and substantially enclosed, secured or guarded, and shall provide such proper traps or automatic doors so fastened in or at all elevator ways, except passenger elevators enclosed on all sides, as to form a substantial surface when closed and so constructed as to open and close by action of the elevator in its passage either ascending or descending. The factory inspector may inspect the cable, gearing or other apparatus of elevators in factories and require them to be kept in a safe condition. No child under the age of fifteen year shall be employed or permitted to have the care, custody or management of or to operate an elevator in a factory, nor shall any person under the age of eighteen years be employed or permitted to have the care, custody or management of or to operate an elevator therein running at a speed of over two hundred feet a minute.

§ 80. Stairs and doors.—Proper and substantial hand rails shall be provided on all stairways in factories. The steps of such stairs shall be provided with rubber, securely fastened thereon, if in the opinion of the factory inspector the safety of the employes would be promoted thereby. The stairs shall be properly screened at the sides and bottom. All doors leading in or to any such factory shall be so constructed as to open outwardly where practicable, and shall not be locked, bolted or fastened during working hours.

§ 81. Protection of employes operating machinery.—The owner or person in charge of a factory where machinery is used, shall provide, in the discretion of the factory inspector, belt shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing on or off belts on pulleys. Whenever practicable, all machinery shall be provided with loose pulleys. All vats, pans, saws, planers, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, set screws and machinery, of every description, shall be properly guarded. No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to machinery, vats or pans, while the same are in use, unless for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards so removed shall be promptly replaced. Exhaust fans of sufficient power shall be provided for the purpose of carrying off dust from emery wheels, grind stones and other machinery creating dust. If a machine or any part thereof is in a dangerous condition or is not properly guarded, the use thereof may be prohibited by the factory inspector, and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto. Such notice shall not be removed until the machine is made safe and the required safeguards are provided, and in the meantime such unsafe or dangerous machinery shall not be used. When, in the opinion of the factory inspector, it is necessary, the workrooms, halls and stairs leading to workrooms shall be properly lighted. Such lights to be independent of the motive power of such factory. No male person under eighteen years or woman under twenty-one years of age shall be permitted or directed to clean machinery while in motion. Children under sixteen years of age shall not be permitted to operate or assist in operating dangerous machines of any kind. [As amended by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

§ 82. Fire escapes.—Such fire escapes as may be deemed necessary by the factory inspector shall be provided on the outside of every factory in this state consisting of three or more stories in height. Each escape shall connect with each floor above the first, and shall be of sufficient strength, well fastened and secured, and shall have landings or balconies not less than six feet in length and three in width, guarded by iron railings not less than three feet in height, embracing at least two windows at each story and connected with the interior by easily accessible and unobstructed openings. The balconies or landings shall be constructed by iron stairs, not less than eighteen inches wide, with steps of not less than six inches tread, placed at a proper slant and protected by a well-secured hand-rail on both sides, and will have a drop ladder not less than twelve-inches wide reaching from the lower platform to the ground. The windows or doors to the landing or balcony of each fire escape shall be of sufficient size and located as far as possible, consistent with accessibility from the stairways and elevator hatchways or openings, and a ladder from such fire escape shall extend to the roof. Stationary stairs or ladders shall be provided on the inside of every factory from the upper story to the roof, as a means of escape in case of fire.

§ 83. Factory inspector may order erection of fire escapes.—Any other plan or style of fire escape shall be sufficient if approved in writing by the factory inspector. If there is no fire escape, or the fire escape in use is not approved by the factory inspector, he may, by a written order served upon the owner, proprietor or lessee of any factory, or the agent or superintendent thereof, or either of them, require one or more fire escapes to be provided therefor, at such locations and of such plan and style as shall be specified in such order. Within twenty days after the service of such order, the number of fire escapes required therein, shall be provided, each of which shall be of the plan and style specified in the order, or of the plan and style described in the preceding section.

§ 84. Walls and ceilings.—The walls and ceilings of each work room in a factory shall be lime washed or painted, when in the opinion of the factory inspector, it will be conductive to the health or cleanliness of the persons working therein.

§ 85. Size of rooms.—No more employes shall be required or permitted to work in a room in a factory between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening than will allow to each of such employes, not less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet of air space; and, unless by a written permit of the factory inspector, not less than four hundred cubic feet for each employe, so employed between the hours of six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning, provided such room is lighted by electricity at all times during such hours, while persons are employed therein.

§ 86. Ventilation.—The owner, agent or lessee of a factory shall provide, in each work-room thereof, proper and sufficient means of ventilation; in case of failure the factor inspector shall order such ventilation to be provided. Such owner, agent or lessee shall provide such ventilation within twenty days after the service upon him of such order, and in case of failure, shall forfeit to the people of the state, ten dollars for each day after the expiration of such twenty days, to be recovered by the factory inspector, in his name of office.

§ 87. Accidents to be reported.—The person in charge of any factory shall report in writing to the factory inspector all accidents or injuries sustained by any person therein, within forty-eight hours after the time of the accident, stating as fully as possible the extent and cause of the injury, and the place where the injured person has been sent, with such other information relative thereto as may be required by the factory inspector who may investigate the cause of such accident, and require such precautions to be taken as will, in his judgment, prevent the recurrence of similar accidents.

§ 88. Wash-room and water-closets.—Every factory shall contain a suitable, convenient and separate water-closet or water-closets for each sex, which shall be properly screened, ventilated and kept clean and free from all obscene writing or marking; and also a suitable and convenient wash-room. The water-closets used by women shall have separate approaches. When women or girls are employed, a dressing-room shall be provided for them, when required by the factory inspector.

§ 89. Time allowed for meals.—In each factory at least sixty minutes shall be allowed for the noon-day meal, unless the factory inspector shall permit a shorter time. Such permit must be in writing and conspicuously posted in the main entrance of the factory, and may be revoked at any time. Where employes are required or permitted to work overtime for more than one hour after six o'clock in the evening, they shall be allowed at least twenty minutes to obtain a lunch, before beginning to work overtime.

§ 90. Inspection of factory buildings.—The factory inspector, or other competent person designated by him, upon request, shall examine any factory outside of the cities of New York and Brooklyn, to determine whether it is in a safe condition. If it appears to him to be unsafe, he shall immediately notify the owner, agent or lessee thereof, specifying the defects, and require such repairs and improvements to be made as he may deem necessary. If the owner, agent or lessee shall fail to comply with such requirement, he shall forfeit to the people of the state the sum of fifty dollars, to be recovered by the factory inspector in his name of office.

§ 91. Inspection of boilers in factories.—All boilers used for generating steam or heat for factory purposes shall be kept in good order, and the owner, agent, manager or lessee of such factory shall have such boilers inspected by a competent person approved by the factory inspector, once in six months, and shall file a certificate showing the result thereof in such factory office, and a duplicate thereof in the office of the factory inspector. Each boiler or nest of boilers used for generating steam or heat for factory purposes shall be provided with a proper safety-valve, and with steam and water gauges, to show, respectively, the pressure of steam and the height of water in the boilers. Every boiler house in which a boiler or nest of boilers is placed, shall be provided with a steam gauge properly connected with the boilers, and another steam gauge shall be attached to the steam pipe in the engine house, and so placed that the engineer or fireman can readily ascertain the pressure carried. Nothing in this section shall apply to boilers in factories which are regularly inspected by competent inspectors acting under the authority of local laws or ordinances. [New section added by chapter 192, Laws of 1899.]

TENEMENT-MADE ARTICLES.

Section 100. Manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing articles in tenements.
101. Register of persons to whom work is given.
102. Goods unlawfully manufactured to be labeled.
103. Powers and duties of boards of health relative to tenement-made articles.
104. Inspection of articles manufactured in other states.
105. Owners of tenement and dwelling houses not to permit the unlawful use thereof.
105. *Copy of article to be posted.

Section 100. Manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing articles in tenements.—No room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house, or in a building situated in the rear of any tenement or dwelling house, shall be used for the purpose of manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing therein, any coats, vests, knee-pants, trousers, overalls, cloaks, hats, caps, suspenders, jerseys, blouses, dresses, waists, waist bands, underwear, neckwear, furs, fur trimmings, fur garments, skirts, shirts, purses, feathers, artificial flowers, cigarettes, cigars or umbrellas, unless a license is secured therefor as provided in this article. But nothing herein contained shall apply to collars, cuffs, shirts or shirt waists made of cotton or linen fabrics that are subjected to the laundrying process before being offered for sale. Application for such a license shall be made to the factory inspector by any family, or a member thereof desiring to manufacture, alter, repair or finish any of such articles in any room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house, or by any person desiring to perform such work in any building in the rear of any tenement or dwelling house. Such application shall describe the room or apartment, shall specify the number of persons to be employed therein, and shall be in such form as the factory inspector may determine. Blank applications shall be prepared and furnished by the factory inspector. Before any such license is granted, an inspection of the room, apartment or building sought to be licensed must be made by the factory inspector. If the factory inspector ascertain that such room, apartment or building is in a clean and proper sanitary condition and that the articles specified in this section may be manufactured therein under clean and healthful condition, he shall grant a license permitting the use of such room, apartment or building, for the purpose of manufacturing, altering, repairing or finishing such articles. Each license shall state the maximum number of persons who may be employed in the room or rooms to which such license relates. The number of persons to be so employed shall be determined by the number of cubic feet of air space contained in each room or apartment mentioned in such license, allowing not less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet for each person employed between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening; and, unless by a special written permit of the factory inspector, not less than four hundred cubic feet for each person employed therein between the hours of six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning, but no such permit shall be issued unless such room or apartment is lighted by electricity or other suitable light, at all times during such hours, while such persons are employed therein. Such license must be framed and posted in a conspicuous place in each room or apartment to which it relates. It may be revoked by the factory inspector if the health of the community or of the employes requires it, or if it appears that the rooms or apartments to which such license relates are not in a healthy and proper sanitary condition. Every room or apartment in which any of the articles named in this section are manufactured, altered, repaired or finished shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition and shall be subject to inspection and examination by the factory inspector, for the purpose of ascertaining whether said garments or articles or any part or parts thereof, are clean and free from vermin and every matter of an infectious or contagious nature. No person shall hire, employ or contract with any member of a family, or any person not holding a license therefor, to manufacture, alter, repair or finish any of the articles named in this section in any room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling house or in any room or apartment in any building situated in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house as aforesaid. This section shall not prevent the employment of a tailor or seamstress by any person or family for the purpose of making, altering, repairing or finishing any article of wearing apparel for such person or for family use. [As amended by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 102. Goods unlawfully manufactured to be labeled.—Articles manufactured, altered, repaired or finished contrary to the provisions of section one hundred of this chapter shall not be sold or exposed for sale by any person. The factory inspector shall conspicuously affix to any such article found to be unlawfully manufactured, altered, repaired or finished a label containing the words "tenement-made" printed in small pica capital letters on a tag not less than four inches in length. The factory inspector shall notify the person owning or alleging to own such article that he has so labeled it. No person, except the factory inspector, shall remove or deface any tag or label so affixed. [As amended by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 103. Powers and duties of boards of health relative to tenement-made articles.—If the factory inspector finds evidence of disease present in a workshop or in a room or apartment in a tenement or dwelling house or in any room or apartment of a building in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house, in which any of the articles named in section one hundred of this chapter are manufactured, altered, repaired or finished or in process thereof he shall affix to such articles the label prescribed in the preceding section, and immediately report to the local board of health, who shall disinfect such articles, if necessary, and thereupon remove such label. If the factory inspector finds that infectious or contagious diseases exist in a workshop, room or apartment of a tenement or dwelling house or of a building in the rear thereof, in which any of the articles specified in section one hundred of this chapter, are being manufactured, altered, repaired or finished, or that articles manufactured or in process of manufacture therein are infected or that goods used there are unfit for use, he shall report to the local board of health, and such board shall issue such order as the public health may require. Such board may condemn and destroy all such infected articles or articles manufactured or in the process of manufacture under unclean or unhealthful conditions. [As amended by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 104. Inspection of articles manufactured in other states.—Whenever it is reported to the factory inspector that any of the articles named in section one hundred of this chapter are being shipped into this state, having previously been manufactured in whole or in part under unclean, unsanitary or unhealthy conditions, said inspector shall examine said articles and the conditions of their manufacture, and if upon such examination said goods or any part of them are found to contain vermin or to have been manufactured in improper places or under unhealthy conditions, he shall forthwith affix to them the tag or label hereinbefore described and report thereof to the local board of health, which board shall thereupon make such order or orders as the public safety may require. [As amended by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 105. Owners of tenement and dwelling houses not to permit the unlawful use thereof.—The owner, lessee or agent of a tenement or dwelling house or of a building in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house shall not permit the use thereof for the manufacture, repair, alteration or finishing of any of the articles mentioned in this article contrary to its provisions. If a room or apartment in such tenement or dwelling house or in a building in the rear or a tenement or dwelling house be so unlawfully used, the factory inspector shall serve a notice thereof upon such owner, lessee or agent. Unless such owner, lessee or agent shall cause such unlawful manufacture to be discontinued within thirty days after the service of such notice, or within fifteen days thereafter, institutes and faithfully prosecutes proceedings for the dispossession of the occupant of a tenement or dwelling house, or of a building in the rear of a tenement or dwelling house who unlawfully manufactures, repairs, alters or finishes such articles in any room or apartment therein, he shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this article, as if he, himself, was engaged in such unlawful manufacture, repair, alteration or finishing. The unlawful manufacture, repair, alteration or finishing of any of such articles by the occupant of a room or apartment of a tenement or dwelling house, or of a building in the rear tenement or dwelling house shall be a cause for dispossessing such occupant by summary proceedings to recover possession of real property, as provided in the code of civil procedure. [New section added by chapter 191, Laws of 1899.]

§ 105.* Copy of article to be posted.—A copy of articles five, six and seven shall be posted in a conspicuous place in each work-room of every factory where persons are employed who are affected by the provisions thereof.

ARTICLE VIII.

BAKERIES AND CONFECTIONERY ESTABLISHMENTS.

Section 110. Hours of labor in bakeries and confectionery establishments.
111. Drainage and plumbing of buildings and rooms occupied by bakeries.
112. Requirements as to rooms, furniture, utensils and manufactured products.
113. Wash-room and closets; sleeping places.
114. Inspecion of bakeries.
115. Notice requiring alterations.

Section 110. Hours of labor in bakeries and confectionery establishments.—No employe shall be required or permitted to work in a biscuit, bread or cake bakery or confectionery establishment more than sixty hours in any one week, or more than ten hours in any one day, unless for the purpose of making a shorter work day on the last day of the week; nor more hours in any one week than will make an average of ten hours per day for the number of days during such week in which such employe shall work.

§ 111. Drainage and plumbing of buildings and rooms occupied by bakeries.—All buildings or rooms occupied as biscuit, bread, pie or cake bakeries, shall be drained and plumbed in a manner conducive to the proper and healthful sanitary condition thereof, and shall be constructed with air shafts, windows or ventilating pipes, sufficient to insure ventilation. The factory inspector may direct the proper drainage, plumbing and ventilation of such rooms or buildings. No cellar or basement, not now used for a bakery shall hereafter be so occupied or used, unless the proprietor shall comply with the sanitary provisions of this article.

§ 112. Requirements as to rooms, furniture, utensils and manufactured products.—Every room used for the manufacture of flour or meal food products shall be at least eight feet in height and shall have, if deemed necessary by the factory inspector, an impermeable floor constructed of cement, or of tiles laid in cement, or an additional flooring of wood properly saturated with linseed oil. The side walls of such rooms shall be plastered or wainscoted. The factory inspector may require the side walls and ceiling to be whitewashed, at least once in three months. He may also require the wood work of such walls to be painted. The furniture and utensils shall be so arranged as to be readily cleansed and not prevent the proper cleaning of any part of a room. The manufactured flour or meal food products shall be kept in dry and airy rooms so arranged that the floors, shelves and all other facilities for storing the same can be properly cleaned. No domestic animals, except cats, shall be allowed to remain in a room used as a biscuit, bread, pie or cake bakery or any room in such bakery where flour or meal products are stored.

§ 113. Wash-room and closets; sleeping places.—Every such bakery shall be provided with a proper wash-room and water-closet of water-closets apart from the bake-room, or rooms where the manufacture of such food product is conducted, and no water-closet, earth-closet, privy or ash-pit shall be within or connected directly with the bake-room of any bakery, hotel or public restaurant. No person shall sleep in a room occupied as a bake-room. Sleeping places for the persons employed in the bakery shall be separate from the rooms where flour or meal food products are manufactured or stored. If the sleeping places are on the same floor where such products are manufactured, stored or sold, the factory inspector may inspect and order them put in a proper sanitary condition.

§ 114. Inspection of bakeries.—The factory inspector shall cause all bakeries to be inspected. If it be found upon such inspection that the bakeries so inspected are constructed and conducted in compliance with the provisions of this chapter, the factory inspector shall issue a certificate to the persons owning or conducting such bakeries.

§ 115. Notice requiring alterations.—If, in the opinion of the factory inspector, alterations are required in or upon premises occupied and used as bakeries, in order to comply with the provisions of this article, a written notice shall be served by him upon the owner, agent or lessee of such premises, either personally or by mail, requiring such alterations to be made within sixty days after such service, and such alterations shall be made accordingly.

ARTICLE IX.

MINES AND THEIR INSPECTION.

Section 120. Duties of factory inspector relating to mines; record and report.
121. Outlets of mines.
122. Ventilation and timbering of mines.
123. Riding on loaded cars; storage of inflammable supplies.
124. Inspection of steam boilers and apparatus; steam and water-gauges.
125. Use of explosives; blasting.
126. Report of accidents.
127. Notice of dangerous condition.
128. Enforcement of article.
129. Admission of inspectors to mines.

Section 120. Duties of factory inspector relating to mines; record and report.—The factory inspector shall see that every necessary precaution is taken to insure the safety and health of employes employed in the mines and quarries of the state and shall prescribe rules and regulations therefor; keep a record of the names and location of such mines and quarries, and the names of the persons or corporations owning or operating the same; collect data concerning the working thereof; examine carefully into the method of timbering shafts, drifts, inclines, slopes and tunnels, through which employes and other persons pass, in the performance of their daily labor, and see that the persons or corporations owning and operating such mines and quarries comply with the provisions of this chapter; and such information shall be furnished by the person operating such mine or quarry, upon the demand of the factory inspector. The factory inspector shall keep a record of all mine and quarry examinations, showing the date thereof, and the condition in which the mines and quarries are found, and the manner of working the same. He shall make an annual report to the legislature during the month of January, containing a statement of the number of mines and quarries visited, the number in operation, the number of men employed, and the number and cause of accidents, fatal and non-fatal, that may have occurred in and about the same.

§ 121. Outlets of mines.—If, in the opinion of the factory inspector, it is necessary for safety of employes, the owner, operator or superintendent of a mine, operating through either a vertical or oblique shaft, or a horizontal tunnel, shall not employ any person therein unless there are in connection with the subterranean workings thereof not less than two openings or outlets, at least one hundred and fifty feet apart, and connected with each other. Such openings or outlets shall be so constructed as to provide safe and distinct means of ingress and egress from and to the surface, at all times, for the use of the employes of such mine.

§ 122. Ventilation and timbering of mines.—In each mine a ventilating current shall be conducted and circulated along the face of all working places and through the roadways, in sufficient quantities to insure the safety of employes and remove smoke and noxious gases. Each owner, agent, manager or lessee of a mine shall cause it to be properly timbered, and the roof and sides of each working place therein properly secured. No person shall be required or permitted to work in an unsafe place or under dangerous material, except to make it secure.

§ 123. Riding on loaded cars; storage of inflammable supplies.—No person shall ride or be permitted to ride on any loaded car, cage or bucket into or out of a mine. No powder or oils of any description shall be stored in a mine or quarry, or in or around shafts, engine or boiler-houses, and all supplies of an inflammable and destructive nature shall be stored at a safe distance from the mine openings.

§ 124. Inspection of steam boilers and apparatus; steam and water-gauges.—All boilers used in generating steam for mining purposes shall be kept in good order, and the owner, agent, manager or lessee of such mine shall have such boilers inspected by a competent person, approved by the factory inspector, once in six months, and shall file a certificate showing the result thereof in the mine office and a duplicate thereof in the office of the factory inspector. All engines, brakes, cages, buckets, ropes and chains shall be kept in good order and inspected daily by the superintendent of the mine or a person designated by him. Each boiler or nest of boilers used in mining for generating steam, shall be provided with a proper safety valve and with steam and water-gauges, to show, respectively, the pressure of steam and the height of water in the boilers. Every boiler-house in which a boiler or nest of boilers is placed, shall be provided with a steam-gauge properly connected with the boilers, and another steam-gauge shall be attached to the steam pipe in the engine-house, and so placed that the engineer or fireman can readily ascertain the pressure carried.

§ 125. Use of explosives; blasting.—When high explosives other than gunpowder are used in a mine or quarry, the manner of storing, keeping, moving, charging and firing, or in any manner using such explosives, shall be in accordance with rules prescribed by the factory inspector. In charging holes for blasting, in slate, rock or ore in any mine or quarry, no iron or steel-pointed needle or tamping bar shall be used, unless the end thereof is tipped with at least six inches of copper or other soft material. No person shall be employed to blast unless the mine superintendent or person having charge of such mine, is satisfied that he is qualified, by experience, to perform the work with ordinary safety. When a blast is about to be fired in a mine timely notice thereof shall be given by the person in charge of the work, to all persons who may be in danger therefrom.

§ 126. Report of accidents.—Whenever loss of life or serious accident shall occur in the operation of a mine or quarry, the owner, agent, manager or lessee thereof shall immediately report, in writing, all the facts connected therewith to the factory inspector.

§ 127. Notice of dangerous condition.—If the factory inspector, after examination or otherwise, is of the opinion that a mine or anything used in the operation thereof, is unsafe, he shall immediately serve a written notice, specifying the defects, upon the owner, agent, manager or lessee, who shall forthwith remedy the same.

§ 128. Enforcement of article.—The factory inspector may serve a written notice upon the owner, agent, manager, or lessee of a mine requiring him to comply with a specified provision of this article. The factory inspector may thereafter begin an action in the supreme court to enforce compliance with such provisions; and upon such notice as the court directs, an order may be granted, restraining the working of such mine during such time as may be therein specified.

§ 129. Admission of inspectors to mines.—The owner, agent, manager or lessee of a mine, at any time, either day or night, shall admit to such mine or any building used in the operation thereof, the factory inspector or any person duly authorized by him, for the purpose of making the examinations and inspections necessary for the enforcement of this article, and shall render any necessary assistance for such inspections.

ARTICLE X.

STATE BOARD OF MEDIATION AND ARBITRATION.

Section 140. Organization of board.
141. Secretary and his duties.
142. Arbitration by the board.
143. Mediation in case of strike or lock-out.
144. Decisions of board.
145. Annual report.
146. Submission of controversies to local arbitrators.
147. Consent; oath; powers of arbitrators.
148. Decision of arbitrators.
149. Appeals.

Section 140. Organization of board.—There shall continue to be a state board of mediation and arbitration, consisting of three competent persons to be known as arbitrators, appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, each of whom shall hold his office for the term of three years, and receive an annual salary of three thousand dollars. The term of office of the successors of the members of such board in office when this chapter takes effect, shall be abridged so as to expire on the thirty-first day of December preceding the time when each such term would otherwise expire, and thereafter each term shall begin on the first day of January. One member of such board shall belong to the political party casting the highest, and one to the party casting the next highest number of votes for governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election. The third shall be a member of an incorporated labor organization of this state. Two members of such board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and may hold meetings at any time or place within the state. Examinations or investigations ordered by the board may be held and taken by and before any of their number, if so directed, but a decision rendered in such case shall not be deemed conclusive until approved by the board.

§ 141. Secretary and his duties.—The board shall appoint a secretary, whose term of office shall be three years. He shall keep a full and faithful record of the proceedings of the board, and all documents and testimony forwarded by the local boards of arbitration, and shall perform such other duties as the board may prescribe. He may, under the direction of the board, issue subpoenas and administer oaths in all cases before the board, and call for and examine books, papers and documents of any parties to the controversy. He shall receive an annual salary of two thousand dollars, payable in the same manner as that of the members of the board.

§ 142. Arbitration by the board.—A grievance or dispute between an employer and his employes may be submitted to the board of arbitration and mediation for their determination and settlement. Such submission shall be in writing, and contain a statement in detail of the grievance or dispute and the cause thereof, and also an agreement to abide the determination of the board, and during the investigation to continue in business or at work, without a lock-out or strike. Upon such submission, the board shall examine the matter in controversy. For the purpose of such inquiry they may subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance and take and hear testimony. Witnesses shall be allowed the same fees as in courts of record. The decision of the board must be rendered within ten days after the completion of the investigation.

§ 143. Mediation in case of strike or lock-out.—Whenever a strike or lock-out occurs or is seriously threatened, the board shall proceed as soon as practicable to the locality thereof, and endeavor by mediation to effect an amicable settlement of the controversy. It may inquire into the cause thereof, and for that purpose has the same power as in the case of a controversy submitted to it for arbitration.

§ 144. Decisions of board.—Within ten days after the completion of every examination or investigation authorized by this article, the board or a majority thereof shall render a decision, stating such details as will clearly show the nature of the controversy and the points disposed of by them, and make a written report of their findings of fact and of their recommendations to each party to the controversy. Every decision and report shall be filed in the office of the board and a copy thereof served upon each party to the controversy, and in case of a submission to arbitration, a copy shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county or counties where the controversy arose.

§ 145. Annual report.—The board shall make an annual report to the legislature, and shall include therein such statements and explanations as will disclose the actual work of the board, the facts relating to each controversy considered by them and the decision thereon together with such suggestions as to legislation as may seem to them conducive to harmony in the relations of employers and employes.

§ 146. Submission of controversies to local arbitrators.—A grievance or dispute between an employer and his employes may be submitted to a board of arbitrators, consisting of three persons, for hearing and settlement. When the employes concerned are members in good standing of a labor organization, which is represented by one or more delegates in a central body, one arbitrator may be appointed by such central body and one by the employer. The two so designated shall appoint a third, who shall be chairman of the board. If the employes concerned in such grievance or dispute are members of good standing of a labor organization which is not represented in a central body, the organization of which they are members may select and designate one arbitrator. If such employes are not members of a labor organization, a majority thereof at a meeting duly called for that purpose, may designate one arbitrator for such board.

§ 147. Consent; oath; powers of arbitrators.—Before entering upon his duties, each arbitrator so selected shall sign a consent to act and take and subscribe an oath to faithfully and impartially discharge his duties as such arbitrator, which consent and oath shall be filed in the clerk's office of the county or counties where the controversy arose. When such board is ready for the transaction of business, it shall select one of its members to act as secretary, and notice of the time and place of hearing shall be given to the parties to the controversy. The board may, through its chairman, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance and take and hear testimony. The board may make and enforce rules for its government and the transaction of the business before it, and fix its sessions and adjournments.

§ 148. Decision of arbitrators.—The board shall, within ten days after the close of the hearing, render a written decision signed by them giving such details as clearly show the nature of the controversy and the questions decided by them. Such decision shall be a settlement of the matter submitted to such arbitrators, unless within ten days thereafter an appeal is taken therefrom to the state board of mediation and arbitration. One copy of the decision shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county or counties where the controversy arose and one copy shall be transmitted to the secretary of the state board of mediation and arbitration.

§ 149. Appeals.—The state board of mediation and arbitration shall hear, consider, and investigate every appeal to it from any such board of local arbitrators and its decisions shall be in writing and a copy thereof filed in the clerk's office of the county or counties where the controversy arose and duplicate copies served upon each party to the controversy. Such decision shall be final and conclusive upon all parties to the arbitration.

ARTICLE XI.

EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN MERCANTILE ESTABLISHMENTS.

Section 160. Application of article.
161. Hours of labor of minors.
162. Employment of children.
163. Certificate for employment; how issued.
164. Contents of certificate.
165. School attendance required.
166. Employment of children during vacations of public schools.
167. Registry of children employed.
168. Wash-rooms and water-closets.
169. Lunch-rooms.
170. Seats for women in mercantile establishments.
171. Employment of women and children in basements.
172. Enforcement of article.
173. Copy of article to be posted.

Section 160. Application of article.—The provisions of this article shall apply to all villages and cities which at the last preceding state enumeration had a population of three thousand or more.

§ 161. Hours of labor of minors.—No male employe, under sixteen years of age, and no female employe, under twenty-one years of age, shall be required to work in any mercantile establishment more than sixty hours in any one week, nor more than ten hours in any one day, unless for the purpose of making a shorter work day of some one day of the week, nor shall any such employe be required or permitted to work before seven o'clock in the morning or after ten o'clock in the evening of any day. This section does not apply to the employment of such persons on Saturday, provided the total number of hours of labor in a week of any such person does not exceed sixty hours, nor to the employment of such persons between the fifteenth day of December and the following first day of January. Not less than forty-five minutes shall be allowed for the noonday meal of the employes of any such establishment.

§ 162. Employment of children.—A child under the age of fourteen years shall not be employed in any mercantile establishment, except that a child upwards of twelve years of age may be employed therein during the vacation of the public schools of the city or district where such establishment is situated. No child under the age of sixteen years shall be employed in any mercantile establishment, unless such child shall produce a certificate issued as provided in this article, to be filed in the office of such establishment.

§ 163. Certificate for employment; how issued.—Such certificate shall be issued by the executive officer of the board, department or commissioner of health of the city, town or village, where such child resides or is to be employed, or by such other officer thereof as may be designated, by resolution for that purpose, upon the application of the child desiring such employment. At the time of making such application there shall be filed with such board, department, commissioner or officer, the affidavit of the parent or guardian of such child or the person standing in parental relation thereto, showing the date and place of birth of such child. Such certificate shall not be issued unless the officer issuing the same is satisfied that such child is fourteen years of age or upwards, and is physically able to perform the work, which he intends to do. No fee shall be demanded or received for administering an oath as required by this section.

§ 165. School attendance required.—No such certificate shall be issued unless it appears to the satisfaction of such board, department, commissioner or officer, that the child applying therefor has regularly attended at a school in which reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, English grammar and geography are taught, or upon equivalent instruction by a competent teacher elsewhere than at a school, for a period equal in length to one school year, during the year previous to his arriving at the age of fourteen years, or during the year previous to applying for such certificate, and is able to read and write simple sentences in the English language. The principal or other executive officer of a school at which a child has been in attendance, or the teacher who has instructed such child elsewhere than at a school, shall furnish to such child or to the board or department of health, or health officer or commissioner, upon demand, a statement of the school attendance of such child.

§ 166. Employment of children during vacations of public schools.—Children of the age of twelve years or more who can read and write simple sentences in the English language may be employed in mercantile establishments during the vacation of the public schools in the city or school district where such children reside, upon complying with all the provisions of this section, except that requiring school attendance. Certificates, to be designated as "vacation certificates," may be issued to such children in the same form, containing the same statements and issued by the same officers as the other certificates required by this article. Such vacation certificate shall specify the time in which the child may be employed in a mercantile establishment, which in no case shall be other than the time in which the public schools where such children reside, are closed for a vacation.

§ 167. Registry of children employed.—The owner, manager or agent of a mercantile establishment employing children, shall keep or cause to be kept, in the office of such establishment, a register, in which shall be recorded the name, birthplace, age and place of residence of all children so employed under the age of sixteen years. Such register and the certificates filed in such office shall be produced for inspection, upon the demand of an officer of the board, department or commissioner of health of the town, village or city where such establishment is situated.

§ 168. Wash-rooms and water-closets.—Suitable and proper wash-rooms and water-closets shall be provided in, adjacent to or connected with mercantile establishments where women and children are employed. Such rooms and closets shall be so located and arranged as to be easily accessible to the employes of such establishments. Such water-closets shall be properly screened and ventilated, and, at all times, kept in a clean condition. The water-closets assigned to the female employes of such establishments shall be separate from those assigned to the male employes. If a mercantile establishment has not provided wash-rooms and water-closets, as required by this section, the board or department of health or health commissioners of the town, village or city where such establishment is situated, shall cause to be served upon the owner of the building occupied by such establishment, a written notice of the omission and directing such owner to comply with the provisions of this section respecting such wash-rooms and water-closets. Such owner shall, within fifteen days after the receipt of such notice, cause such wash-rooms and water-closets to be provided.

§ 169. Lunch-rooms.—If a lunch-room is provided in a mercantile establishment where females are employed, such lunch-room shall not be next to or adjoining the water-closets, unless permission is first obtained from the board or department of health or health commissioners of the town, village or city where such mercantile establishment is situated. Such permission shall be granted unless it appears that proper sanitary conditions do not exist, and it may be revoked at any time by the board or department of health or health commissioner, if it appears that such lunch-room is kept in a manner or in a part of the building injurious to the health of the employes.

§ 170. Seats for women in mercantile establishments.—Chairs, stools or other suitable seats shall be maintained in mercantile establishments for the use of female employes therein, to the number of at least one seat for every three females employed, and the use thereof by such employes shall be allowed at such times and to such extent as may be necessary for the preservation of their health. If the duties of the female employes, for the use of whom the seats are furnished, are to be principally performed in front of a counter, table, desk or fixture, such seats shall be placed in front thereof; if such duties are to be principally performed behind such counter, table, desk or fixture, such seats shall be placed behind the same.

§ 171. Employment of women and children in basements.—Women or children shall not be employed or directed to work in the basement of a mercantile establishment, unless permitted by the board or department of health, or health commissioner of the town, village or city where such mercantile establishment is situated. Such permission shall be granted unless it appears that such basement is not sufficiently lighted and ventilated, and is not in good sanitary condition.

§ 172. Enforcement of article.—The board or department of health or health commissioners of a town, village or city affected by this article shall enforce the same and prosecute all violations thereof. Proceedings to prosecute such violations must be begun within thirty days after the alleged offense was committed. All officers and members of such boards or department, all health commissioners, inspectors and other persons appointed or designated by such boards, departments or commissioners may visit and inspect, at reasonable hours and when practicable and necessary, all mercantile establishments within the town, village or city for which they are appointed. No person shall interfere with or prevent any such officer from making such visitations and inspections, nor shall he be obstructed or injured by force or otherwise while in the performance of his duties. All persons connected with any such mercantile establishment shall properly answer all questions asked by such officer or inspector in reference to any of the provisions of this article.

§ 173. Copy of article to be posted.—A copy of this article shall be posted in three conspicuous places in each mercantile establishment affected by its provisions.

ARTICLE XII.

EXAMINATION AND REGISTRATION OF HORSESHOERS.

Section 180. Application of article.
181. Board of examiners.
182. Examination of applicants.
183. Registration of horseshoers.
184. Practice without examination.

Section 180. Application of article.—This article applies to all cities of the state. [As amended by chapter 558, Laws of 1899.]

§ 181. Board of examiners.—There shall continue to be a board of examiners of horseshoers consisting of one veterinarian, two master horseshoers and two journeymen horseshoers, all of whom shall be citizens and residents of the cities of the state. The examiners in office when this chapter takes effect shall continue therein until the thirty-first day of December following the date of the expiration of the terms for which they were respectively appointed, and thereafter their successors shall be appointed by the governor for a term of five years. [As amended by chapter 558, Laws of 1899.]

§ 182. Examination of applicants.—The board of examiners shall, as often as necessary, hold sessions in the several cities for the purpose of examining applicants, desiring to practice as master or journeyman horseshoers. A person is not qualified to take such examination unless he has served an apprenticeship at horseshoeing for at least three years. If the person examined is shown to be qualified to practice horseshoeing, the board shall issue to him a certificate stating his name and residence, the time when examined, when and where his apprenticeship was served, and that he is qualified to practice as a master or journeyman horseshoer. Before he is entitled to be examined, an applicant must file with the board a written application stating his name, place of residence, and when, where and with whom his apprenticeship has been served. The board shall receive as compensation a fee of five dollars from each person examined.

§ 183. Registration of horseshoers.—Each journeyman or master horseshoer shall present such certificate to the clerk of the county where he proposes to practice, and such clerk shall cause his name, residence and place of business to be registered in a book to be known as the "master and journeyman horseshoers' register." For each name so registered, the clerk is entitled to a fee of twenty-five cents. No person shall practice horseshoeing as a master or journeyman horseshoer in any city of the state unless he is registered and has a certificate, as provided by this article. [As amended by chapter 558, Laws of 1899.]

§ 184. Practice without examination.—A person who has practiced as a master or journeyman horseshoer within the United States continuously for a period of three years may present to the board of examiners his affidavit, stating his name, age, place of residence and when and where he has practiced as such horseshoer. The board shall thereupon issue to him a certificate stating the facts set forth in such affidavit, and that such person is entitled to practice as a master or journeyman horseshoer, as the case may be. The person to whom the certificate is issued shall present it to the county clerk of the county where he intends to practice, and his name shall be registered, as provided in the preceding section. Such person may thereafter practice as a master or journeyman horseshoer in such county without examination. The board is entitled to a fee of one dollar for each certificate issued under this section. [As amended by section 558, Laws of 1899.]

CHAP. 416.

AN ACT to amend the penal code, relative to violations of provisions of the labor law.

Became a law, May 13, 1897, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Sections three hundred and eighty-four-b and four hundred and forty-seven-a of the penal code are hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 384b. Unlawful dealing in convict-made goods.—A person who

1. Sells or exposes for sale convict-made goods, wares or merchandise, without a license therefor, or having such license does not transmit to the secretary of state the statement required by article four of the labor law; or

2. Sells, offers for sale, or has in his possession for sale any such convict-made goods, wares or merchandise without the brand, mark or label required by article four of the labor law; or

3. Removes or defaces or in any way alters such brand, mark or label, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction therefor shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand nor less than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than ten days or by both such fine and imprisonment.

§ 447a. Negligently furnishing insecure scaffolding.—A person or corporation employing or directing another to do or perform any labor in the erection, repairing, altering or painting, any house, building or structure within this state, who knowingly or negligently furnishes or erects or causes to be furnished or erected for the performance of such labor, unsafe, unsuitable or improper scaffolding, hoists, stays, ladders or other mechanical contrivances; or who hinders or obstructs any officer detailed to inspect the same, destroys or defaces any notice posted thereon, or permits the use thereof after the same has been declared unsafe by such officer contrary to the provisions of article one of the labor law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 2. The penal code is hereby amended by inserting at the end of title twelve the following new section:

§ 447c. Neglect to complete or plank floors of buildings constructed in cities.—A person, constructing a building in a city, as owner or contractor, who violates the provisions of article one of the labor law, relating to the completing or laying of floors, or the planking of such floors or tiers of beams as the work of construction progresses, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction therefor shall be punished by a fine for each offense of not less than twenty-five nor more than two hundred dollars.

§ 3. The penal code is hereby amended by inserting at the end of title eleven the following new sections:

§ 384f. Failure to furnish statistics to commissioner of labor; statistics. —Any person who refuses, when requested by the commissioner of labor statistics,

1. To admit him or a person authorized by him to a mine, factory, workshop, warehouse, elevator, foundry, machine shop or other manufacturing establishment; or,

2. To furnish him with information relative to his duties which may be in such person's possession or under his control; or,

3. To answer questions put by such commissioner in a circular or otherwise, or shall knowingly answer such questions untruthfully, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction therefor shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars.

§ 384g. Refusal to admit inspector to mines and quarries; failure to comply with requirements of inspector.—A person,

1. Refusing to admit the factory inspector, or any person authorized by him, to a mine or quarry, for the purpose of examination and inspection.

2. Neglecting or refusing to comply with the provisions of article nine of the labor law upon written notice of the factory inspector, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction therefor shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than thirty days.

§ 384h. Hours of labor to be required.—Any person or corporation,

1. Who, contracting with the state or a municipal corporation, shall require more than eight hours work for a day's labor; or

2. Who shall require more than ten hours labor, including one-half hour for dinner, to be performed within twelve consecutive hours, by the employes of a street surface and elevated railway owned or operated by corporations whose main line of travel or routes lie principally within the corporate limits of cities of more than one hundred thousand inhabitants; or,

3. Who shall require the employes of a corporation owning or operating a brickyard to work more than ten hours in any one day or to commence work before seven o'clock in the morning, unless by agreement between employer and employe; or,

4. Who shall require the employes of a corporation operating a line of railroad of thirty miles in length or over, in whole or in part within this state to work contrary to the requirements of article one of the labor law, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction therefor shall be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars for each offense. If any contractor with the state or a municipal corporation shall require more than eight hours for a day's labor, upon conviction therefor in addition to such fine, the contract shall be forfeited at the option of the municipal corporation.

§ 384i. Payment of wages.—A corporation or joint stock association or a person carrying on the business thereof, by lease or otherwise, who does not pay the wages of its employes in cash, weekly or monthly as provided in article one of the labor law, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction therefor, shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than fifty dollars for each offense.

§ 384j. Failure to furnish seats for female employes.—Any person employing females in a factory or mercantile establishment who does not provide and maintain suitable seats for the use of such employes and permit the use thereof by such employes to such an extent as may be reasonable for the preservation of their health, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 384k. No fees to be charged for services rendered by free public employment bureaus.—A person connected with or employed in a free public employment bureau, who shall charge or receive, directly or indirectly, any fee or compensation from any person applying to such bureau for help or employment, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 384l. Violations of provisions of labor law.—Any person who violates or does not comply with:

1. The provisions of article six of the labor law, relating to factories and the employment of children therein;

2. The provisions of article seven of the labor law, relating to the manufacture of articles in tenements;

3. The provisions of article eight of the labor law, relating to bakeries and confectionery establishments, the employment of labor and the manufacture of flour or meal food products therein;

4. The provisions of article eleven of the labor law, relating to mercantile establishments, and the employment of women and children therein is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished for a first offense by a fine of not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offense by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; for a third offense by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

§ 384m. Illegal practice of horseshoeing.—A person who presents to a county clerk, for the purpose of registration, a certificate purporting to qualify him to practice horseshoeing in a city of the first or second class, which has been fraudulently obtained, or practices as a horseshoer in any such city without complying with the provisions of article twelve of the labor law, or violates or neglects to comply with any of such provisions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

| Laws of | Chapter. | Section. |
|---|---|---|
| 1870 | 385 | 4. |
| 1871 | 298 | 2. |
| 1883 | 356 | 3. |

PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

Thirteenth Annual Convention of the International Association of Factory Inspectors, Held at the Parliament Building, in the City of Quebec, Province of Quebec, Canada, August 29, 30 and 31, 1899.

FIRST DAY'S SESSION—MORNING.

The Thirteenth Annual Convention of the International Association of Factory Inspectors convened in the City of Quebec, Province of Quebec, in the Parliament Building, at 10.30 o'clock on the morning of August 29, 1899. President Campbell, of Pennsylvania, in the chair, and Secretary Cox, of Michigan, at his desk.

The Convention opened up with a large attendance of delegates, and it was early determined that the occasion was to be another profitable and successful one.

After rapping the Convention to order, President Campbell introduced the Hon. H. T. Duffy, commissioner of public works of the Province of Quebec, who delivered the following address of welcome in a very distinct and well-rounded tone of voice:

COMMISSIONER DUFFY'S ADDRESS.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

As commissioner of public works, and on behalf of the government of the Province of Quebec, I have much pleasure in extending a hearty welcome to the members of the International Association of Factory Inspectors now assembled in our city.

In point of numbers this invasion of our country by our Southern neighbors is formidable. However, I am pleased to reflect that you come, not as messengers of war, but in the cause of humanity, to consider the best means of promoting the safety and comfort of the working man, of maintaining harmony between him and his employers, and of contributing generally to the prosperity of our great industrial establishments.

I trust that we may never invade each other's country with less friendly motives, and that the good feelings at present existing between us may continue for all time.

So long as such relations continue, all questions of alliances will, in the hour of danger, to either country, settle themselves in the right manner and at the right time.

You are assured of a hearty welcome by all classes, and we trust that your stay among us may be both pleasant and profitable.

No body of men could be engaged in a more beneficent or useful work than that to which you are devoted.

The present century has witnessed, as never before, the rise of vast industrial establishments both in England and America. New inventions have called into play the application of complicated machinery, propelled by enormous power, and driven, often, with almost the rapidity of lightning.

The danger to the lives of those employed in operating this machinery is exceedingly great, and the accidents likely to result therefrom are easily apprehended.

It is the glory and the boast of the end of the century that all classes, from the highest officers of the government down, have turned their attention to the hardships and perils of our working classes.

When the Roman empire was at its highest, all the industries of the country, in fact, all the labor of the country, was performed by men who had been taken prisoners in battle and converted into slaves, and whose lives and whose comforts were considered matters of little consequence. Their condition was little better during the Middle Ages, and indeed even until recent times. To-day, however, both in England and America, our workingmen are regarded as our strength and the very foundation of the nation's greatness.

In this country our ordinary civil law gives the right to an action for damages to the employed against an employer who is guilty of any fault or negligence, and the employer is bound to compensate him for the loss he has sustained.

This, however, has been found in this country, in England, and in the United States, to be insufficient to safeguard and protect their interests.

As a consequence, special legislation, known under one name or another, has been enacted, the effect of which has been to greatly minimize the risk and danger of the operators and to contribute very materially to their comfort.

I have glanced over the report of the proceedings of the last meeting of your Association, and the mere enumeration of the subjects then considered show the vast scope of your work, and the benefits derived by the workingmen from your labors.

You have laws dealing with the employment of women and children, the age at which children shall be employed, the amount of education they shall have previously received, the number of hours per day they shall work, the conditions under which they shall work, the manner in which machinery shall be guarded and protected for the benefit of all, the size of the buildings in which they shall work, the ventilation of their rooms, the manner in which belting and cog-wheels shall be employed and protected, fire protection, and the means of escape from buildings in the case of danger, and many other subjects of the utmost importance to the safety and comfort of the workingmen.

I am pleased to find that it is generally admitted that our laws and regulations relating to these matters are not surpassed by those of any country in the world.

The utility of these laws and regulations, in fact I may say of all laws, lies in the manner in which they are administered.

You, gentlemen, are the persons charged with the administration of these laws in the States and Provinces which you represent.

In the discharge of your duties you are called upon not to enforce the laws blindly and without reference to particular cases, but to use a large amount of discretion and common sense. You are called upon first of all to protect the workingmen, and to see that nothing is left undone to contribute to their comfort and safety.

Your task, however, is not an easy one. You have to deal with wealthy and powerful corporations and employers, and it is your duty, while enforcing the laws, to do it in a manner that will create as little irritation as possible, so as not to leave the employer to imagine that the workingman is his enemy.

When difficulties arise between the employers and the employees, you are often able, by the exercise of tact and judgment, to establish harmony in cases which might otherwise create strikes, or cause endless difficulties.

For my part, I look upon factory inspectors as men who have confided to their care most important interests, and who are called upon to discharge most delicate and important duties.

In this Province the chief inspector, Mr. Lessard, has been incapacitated by sickness a great part of the time; but I am pleased to bear witness to the fact that the other inspectors of industrial establishments have discharged their duties in an almost ideal manner.

They are imbued with a thorough enthusiasm for the work of their office, and I am proud to say that they desire nothing so much as the perfection of our regulations from time to time, and their enforcement in the most beneficial manner.

As the head of the Department of Public Works in this Province, the final appeal always rests in me, and I am always ready to receive even the smallest suggestion of the most humble workman touching anything that relates to the improvement or administration of these laws.

No laws are perfect, and there are many questions relating to the laboring classes which the resources of legislation have so far been unable to solve. The tendency and desire are, however, always for improvement.

The question of strikes and difficulties between workingmen and their employers is still one of the great problems yet unsolved. Owing to the voluntary nature of the contract existing between the parties it may always be impossible to establish a tribunal whose decision would be final and executory.

A strike on the part of a body of workmen in some respects resembles a state of war between nations. At the conference held at The Hague recently, while it was found impossible to establish a tribunal whose decision would be binding between nations, it appeared to be generally admitted as desirable that a tribunal should be created to which, in case of disputes, any nation might appeal for the intervention and good offices of its members.

I think a similar tribunal might be created for the purpose of aiding the settlement of strikes and disputes between workingmen and their employers, and to which either party might appeal to obtain the friendly aid of such a tribunal as a means of conciliating the parties and settling their disputes.

In this country the prime minister of the Dominion and the lieutenant-governor and the prime minister of the Province concerned for the time being might form part of such tribunal. I have no doubt that their mediation would often be not without avail. I invite your consideration of this question, and I will be pleased to hear through the public press, or otherwise, the views of the workingmen and employers in reference to the suggestions which I have made.

You, gentlemen, have met as a voluntary association to compare and discuss the laws of your several States and Provinces, and the manner of their enforcement, with a view from year to year to better the same.

As the regulations are improved and their enforcement made more effective, so will the condition of our workingmen be made more comfortable, and their lives more secure.

No higher work can engage the attention of any man, and in your deliberations I wish you every success.

MAYOR PARENT'S ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

The Hon. S. N. Parent, mayor of the city of Quebec, after an introduction by President Campbell, delivered the following bright address of welcome, at the conclusion of which he made a kindly tender of the keys of the city to the visiting delegates:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is with the greatest pleasure that I bid you welcome in this palace of our provincial Legislature wherein your Convention is now assembled to hold its meetings and deliberate upon questions of vital importance for the welfare of our laboring classes and of the public at large.

As mayor of Quebec, I am most happy to join in the cordial greeting which has been extended to you by my honorable colleague in the provincial cabinet, and the more so because I have been told by my fellow citizens who perform among us the solemn duties with which you are entrusted across the line, how enthusiastic they were over the splendid reception you accorded them last year at your convention in Massachusetts.

It has become a popular saying in America to call good old Quebec the Mecca of tourists, that is to say, a cherished spot of land to which it should be the dream of every traveler to accomplish what I would venture to call a pilgrimage. And as the number increases every year of those who come to visit us, we rejoice in the good renown which our beloved city has already conquered all over this continent. We are jealous of keeping up the reputation of hospitality which has been earned by our ancestors, and we hope that you will have the full enjoyment of your sojourn among us.

The mission with which you are entrusted as inspectors of buildings, of manufacturing and industrial establishments, is highly appreciated in all well-organized communities.

It is the boast of this, our nineteenth century, that it has done more than its predecessors for the improvement of the moral and social condition of the working classes, and we take pride in the fact that most enlightened and beneficial measures have been taken in our times toward protecting the life and health of men and women employed in manufacturing and industrial establishments, and the paternal solicitude of our legislators has been extended to that most interesting class of the juvenile laborers, all of whom contribute so largely to increase the wealth of our native lands.

It is certainly a most striking evidence of the progress of our respective countries that we can point to our present legislation on this subject, and I have no doubt that your convention will result in suggestions of improvement which, you may rest assured, will receive the utmost consideration of all the public men of this continent.

You have our best wishes for the success of your meetings, and we earnestly hope that your endeavors will help us to maintain in Canada as well as in the United States the friendly relations between capital and labor, which have been so well preserved among us, and which tend so much to promote the peace, prosperity and progress of our beloved motherlands, Canada and the United States.

Again I wish you a pleasant stay in Quebec, and that you will carry home most agreeable recollections, so that you may come back to us again, and encourage others also to come and make Quebec a center of attraction for all conventions to be held in the future for such noble purposes as this Convention pursues.

THE SPEAKER OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The Hon. Jules Tessier, speaker of the Legislative Assembly, addressed the Convention impromptu, adding words of good cheer and advice as well as welcome, which were highly appreciated and cleverly applauded, as were the words of the former speakers.

President Campbell made a few happy remarks in place of an address of welcome, preferring, as he said, to hear from others, and to proceed with the work of the Convention, which he wished to expedite.

A PARTIAL CALL OF STATES.

Connecticut.—Mr. McLean, of Connecticut, reported a new "sweat-shop" law for his State, but said that aside from this there had been no material changes in their inspection laws.

Illinois.—Assistant Chief Harris, of Illinois, said that there had been no changes in the inspection laws of his State, excepting that the former fire-estacpe law had been repealed, and that the care of said escapes had been placed in the hands of local officials to be enforced.

New Jersey.—Mr. George Taylor, of New Jersey, next reported that there had been no material changes made in the laws of his State since the time of the last Convention, but that the old laws were being most thoroughly enforced and with most satisfactory results.

Province of Quebec.—Mr. Guyon, in behalf of his department, reported that no changes had been made in the laws of the Province of Quebec within the last year past, but that they hoped in the near future to be able to have laws enacted raising the standard of age.

Province of Ontario.—Mr. Brown said there had been no changes in their inspection laws, but that the department was very desirous of having a "sweat-shop" act passed in the near future, as recent discoveries developed the fact that pants were being made in the Province for seven cents a pair, while coats were being made for as low a price as thirty-five cents.

Rhode Island.—Mr. Jencks replied to a call from the chair, that there had been no changes made in the inspection laws of Rhode Island; but he assured the Convention that excellent work was being done by their department under their well-established factory act.

At this juncture Mr. Harris, of Illinois, was called to the chair.

Pennsylvania.—President Campbell explained the operation of a new "sweat-shop" act for his State, and reported that their department had enforced the same, even to the confiscation section; and while they had been successful, no resistance had yet offered to test this law in the courts.

Mr. Campbell took a radical position in his remarks on this subject, and stated that it was his belief that State constitutions should be abolished, and that Legislatures should have full power to create laws; and that their acts should be final, suggesting that bad laws would soon be reconsidered or killed.

New York.—Chief Williams, of New York, reported that there had been several material changes in the laws of his State, and that there had been a great increase in the forces, which now number fifty-two in all. It was very evident from his clear-cut remarks that he has the work of his department well in hand, and that the force is rendering efficient service to the State.

Indiana.—Chief McAbee, of Indiana, read the following:

It is with a certain degree of pride that I make this, my third report for the State of Indiana. At the Convention of 1896 some of the inspectors of adjoining States were very much exercised because Indiana had no factory laws. Last year I reported that I believed when the Legislature met they would pass such measures as would bring us up within hailing distance of our neighbors. This prediction has been fully verified. The original law has been amended to cover the interests of all who labor in factories, mercantile establishments, laundries, bakeries, printing offices, mines, quarries and renovating works; no child under fourteen years of age is permitted to work in any of these. Ten hours constitutes a day's work for women under eighteen and boys under sixteen; females are prohibited from working in a manufacturing establishment after 10 p. m. Wherever females are employed they shall be provided with seats, which they shall be permitted to use when not otherwise engaged. We have a weekly pay law, and are the third State in the Union to have this law on their statutes; this prohibits fines of any kind or a reduction of wages without due notice.

The fire-escape law, which formerly applied only to factories, has been extended to all buildings, public or private, where there is a probability of loss of life by fire.

The office of factory inspector has been supplanted by the Department of Inspection, with two deputies and a stenographer, and the appropriation has been increased nearly fifty per cent.

Our bills were not all successful before the Legislature. One licensing engineers, and others providing for a boiler inspection and a Sunday factory law, were defeated by a small margin; but these will come up again, and we hope with better success.

We might say that all labor laws are being observed about as well as any on the statute books; of course there are occasional violations. We are watching the advances made by other States, and while we do not expect to lead the procession, you can rely upon Indiana being within easy call, no matter how swiftly the procession moves.

Ohio.—Mr. Bath, of Ohio, in the absence of his worthy chief, Mr. Knaub, who was detained at home on account of sickness, gave a favorable report of the excellent routine work being accomplished in the Buckeye State, and concluded by saying that no changes had occurred in their factory inspection laws.

Upon motion of Mr. Harris, the Convention adjourned to 2 p. m.

SECOND SESSION—AFTERNOON.

The Convention was a little late in coming to order, it being 2.30 before the president considered it advisable to proceed with business.

"SWEAT-SHOP" PAPERS.

In compliance with the report of the Committee on Program, President Campbell called for papers upon "Sweating," the first being read by Mr. Harris, of Illinois.

THE EVIL IN SWEAT-SHOPS, AND HOW TO REMEDY IT.

This subject is one of deep importance to the public, for it means no less than the proper care of the public health. Sanitation is one of the most important questions for our consideration. The moral welfare of the community lies in the physical well-being of its citizens; for the health of every subject the State is interested as well as responsible.

The regulation of sweat-shops, and to bring about a condition of affairs whereby the manufacturing of wearing apparel that enters every home should be made under good, clean, sanitary conditions, and that no microbes or any contagious disease should be spread or contracted from the garments which may be made in sweat-shops or filthy rooms, and then thrown upon the market, and to protect the public from goods manufactured under conditions liable to contain germs of disease, which, according to leading health authorities, can be communicated to the wearer, is the State's duty.

This subject has been agitated by leading authorities, and by the most prominent newspapers in the country. The question they all ask is, "Shall sweat-shops be abolished, or regulated by stringent laws?" for the evil of the sweat-shops, as it is in the present form, is very great. To try to enact laws abolishing tenement-made goods entirely, would be an impossibility; but to regulate them by enacting the proper laws, providing for close inspection, and by punishment, by fine and imprisonment, and by confiscating the goods that are made against the State law, would, in my opinion, properly solve the question.

People who are familiar with, and who have had large experience in enforcing State factory laws, have spoken and written numerous articles upon the sweat-shop laws, and they all agree on on point, and that is, to license the tailor contractor, and hold him responsible for the condition of the sweat-shop. But how to hold them responsible and keep them continuously under the eyes of the inspector, is for us to solve; for, as we all know, the tailor is a poor man, who will move and roam around from one place to another several times in the course of a year, and to keep track of him is almost a physical impossibility, under the present laws. But by enacting the proper laws in the form of a license, the tailor, as well as the contractor and wholesale manufacturer, could be held responsible and brought under the ban of the law. I would suggest the agitation of the following laws: First, that all wearing apparel manufactured shall be under the direct supervision of the State factory inspector, and for him to enforce the law; second, that no manufacturer or contractor, by himself or through his managers or agents, shall manufacture or give out any and all unfinished material or goods to be made, finished, altered or repaired, in whole or in part, without first applying for and obtaining a license from the State factory inspector, under penalty of a fine or imprisonment; and a license shall not be issued without the premises being first inspected by the factory inspector, as to the condition of the room or rooms, the sanitary condition and the surroundings of the building, the number of people employed therein, the nature of the work, the hours, night or day work; then, if according to the rules laid out by the Factory Inspectors' Department, which shall be just and reasonable, and which shall state the size of the room and the number of cubic feet of air allowed for every person employed therein, walls kalsomined or painted, number of windows for light, proper ventilation, separate dressing and wash-rooms for males and females, lighting of stairs, proper fire-escape protection, and then, if complied with all requirements of the Department, the license shall be issued, stating the number of the building, flat or floor, number of people to be employed in the room or rooms. Any violations or non-compliance with the rules of the Factory Inspectors' Department shall be liable to a forfeiture of said license.

If the applicant moves, he must report to the Factory Inspectors' Department of his intention, prior to his removal, for the Department to inspect the new premises, and renew the license according to the rules. Then all goods manufactured in accordance with said laws shall bear a tag with the number of the license and shall read: "This garment has been made under the supervision of the State Factory Inspector," and shall be signed by the inspector; and any person fraudently using the tag shall be liable to fine and imprisonment.

Under these condition the manufacturer who gives his goods out to the contractor will also jointly be held responsible for the condition of the make of his goods, and if he gives out any of his goods to a contractor who is not licensed by the State Department, he shall be liable to a fine and confiscation of his goods which shall bear a tag stating, "Sweat-shop made, unclean sanitary conditions."

By adopting such a system, every garment that is manufactured will eventually come under the supervision of the State, and by such methods we may solve the great question we are discussing. We must not underestimate our responsibility. We are servants of the State, therefore we should be the guardians of the weak and helpless. Clothed with authority, and with their hearts in the work, the inspectors of factories and workshops are a power for good in all their communities.

To agitate the doing away of tenement-made goods entirely, and to restrict the manufacturing of all wearing apparel to large factories, may be beneficial in one way, but a hardship on thousands of people. The men and women tailors as a rule are among the poorer class of people. They are an honest, hardworking class. Would it not be a hardship to prohibit them from following their vocation? By so doing a few rich tailors who can afford to equip a large factory shop would force the smaller tailors to seek employment therein, and put the rich tailor in a position to so regulate the wages, as best suited himself. Would it not bring about the same condition of affairs as exists in the department stores in large cities, by concentrating all business in one area, driving out all small storekeepers earning an honest livelihood, and forcing them to seek employment at the large stores, at starvation wages?

From my experience I fully believe, and after giving this subject a careful consideration I could only come to one conclusion, that to do away with tenement-house labor is an impossibility, as well as illegal from a constitutional point of view. But to have them made under good sanitary conditions, and by strict State supervision, that there should not be any danger of contagious diseases spreading by the manufacture of goods at the homes in tenement-houses, in filthy basements, or overcrowded shops, is for the inspector to use his judgment and apply the law most vigorously, in the issuing of said license.

In my opinion, the large manufacturers, knowing that their goods are liable to be destroyed or labeled "sweat-shop made" will be more careful with whom they contract to manufacture their goods, for fear that they may be prosecuted and held liable under the law. Then, and not until then, will the manufacturer and contractor come to the assistance of the State officers, and not contract with irresponsible parties, or with any who are not duly licensed tailors. By doing so they will give the Factory Inspectors' Department valuable assistance, and compel the contractor or tailor to go to the factory inspector's office to report the location of his shop, and it will give the inspector a chance to further extend the strong arm of the law.

TENEMENT MANUFACTURE.

Mr. Daniel Kelley, of New York, presented the following:

Mr. President and Delegates of this Convention:

Tenement manufacture has been for years an interesting problem for the Department in New York city. Various solutions of it have been tried, and while it has been greatly restricted within the last few years, still it is a very long way from being wiped out, or even properly regulated. The field is so large, both as to territory and population, wherein this business is conducted, that it has been almost a physical impossibility to even thoroughly ascertain the exact extent of this particular branch of industry.

When it is taken into consideration that five thousand manufacturers (large and small) of various kinds of clothing, neckwear, purses, cigars and cigarettes conduct their business in the city of New York, and employ directly, or through contractors, at least one hundred and twenty-five thousand people, all competing in the wild rush after the "almighty dollar," so that even each cent is a little god, the wonder is that the Department could keep tenement manufacture even at a limit, not to mention curtailing it at all.

It can be easily understood that in such fierce competition as must necessarily ensue, all kinds of strategy and evasions of the law are resorted to, particularly on the part of the cheap contractors and many of the smaller manufacturers. It would require a volume to give an adequate idea of the various schemes and subterfuges employed. The ways of Bret Harte's heathen Chinee are bright as the sunshine in comparison.

It is a well-known fact that there are innumerable people who will venture into any sort of business that promises to pay, however dangerous or illegal it may be; and it seems that just so soon as a law is passed prescribing limits to any particular business, then those engaged therein, with rare exceptions, put forth most ingenious efforts to circumvent it if they can. The more stringent the law, the stronger the effort. The more the zeal displayed in enforcing such a law, the more zest it seems to add to the purpose to evade it; for, when zealously enforced, so many are driven out of the field that the gains are greater for those who can escape or keep under cover the longest.

Tenement manufacture is really brought about more by the economic conditions of the day, competition and over-production, than in any other way. It has been brought about in something like the following way: A certain price is offered for the making of a certain article to a certain man, and this man finds out that by working eight or ten hours a day he can make a fair living and a little to spare; then he discovers that by working a few hours more in the day he can proportionately swell his income, forgetful or careless of the fact that he is depriving some other man just to that extent. But the other man soon finds it out and in the natural order of things, rather than be undone, offers to make the article cheaper, and then works a few hours longer to make up for the cut in price; and so it goes, until the end is reached, and that end is tenement manufacture; because, as a result of this competition and greed, all kinds of expenses have got to be pared down, as well as the price of the labor involved. It finally becomes too expensive to keep the shop, and the work is brought into the home; as little adult labor as possible is employed; the children of the family must aid, and, eventually, the children of the neighbors are initiated. The mother of the family must also turn in. And now the evil is at its worst; and this is the way we find it almost every day.

The household duties are neglected; the filth accumulates, and it is scarcely necessary to say that ignorance, poverty and ill-health abound. We have been told time and time again by the wife or husband in some family that was violating the law, that they formerly had a shop, but the profit was too small to keep it, and they had to hire a few people to come into their rooms to work, so as to be able to support the family. Then there was the usual tale of sickness, no doubt brought about by the long hours of labor and the overcrowded condition of the place, together with the neglect for days at a time to clean up.

The pressure of this substrata of industry enforced by the cheap contractors and the unprincipled among the manufacturers, is soon felt on all the trades affected, and longer hours and a cheaper price for labor inevitably follow.

Every once in a while the great mass of workers in the regular shops rise up and strike against such intolerable conditions, and, as they recently have done, they obtain a substantial advance in the price paid for their labor.

Owing to the present good times, this was a comparatively easy matter; but if the enticement of good prices induces them, as so often before, to attempt to swell their incomes by extra hours of labor, short indeed will be their success; for overproduction will again score, and they will find again, when too late, that what they commenced to do for gain they will be compelled to continue for an existence, and even then get the chance part of the time only.

Formerly, in dealing with cases where we found strangers employed in the home, we served a notice on the owner or agent of the property, which gave him thirty days wherein to have the law complied with or be prosecuted. It was always complied with; but after some time we found that, in most cases, it was really only a compliance on paper, for the tenant only moved to some other tenement. But we changed our tactics, and for the past year, as soon as we found a violation of the law, we tagged the goods immediately as "Tenement-made," thereby stopping all work, and notified the owner of such goods that the tags would not be removed unless a suitable shop was procured and the goods and the machines moved there. We have found this system to work better than any previously tried. Of course, it is not possible to say if the good effected has been or will be lasting, because, as I have previously pointed out, where once the taste to violate the law has been acquired, the temptation to backslide is never lacking.

Now, commencing September 1, next, we have a new law that goes into effect, requiring all persons engaged in manufacturing in tenement or dwelling houses, or buildings in the rear of tenement or dwelling houses, to procure a license from the factory inspector or cease manufacturing. This law, when once in working order, should place tenement manufacturing where it belongs by regulating properly what can not legally be wiped out.

I believe it would work a vast amount of good to have this license system extended to all buildings wherein any of the articles mentioned in the law are manufactured. Those regular shops—that is, floors and parts of floors—let to contractors in buildings used exclusively for manufacturing purposes, while now covering a large field, will undoubtedly be greatly augmented in the near future, owing to the effect of the license on tenement manufacture and on buildings in the rear of tenements.

I find in this new law, among many strong and commendable provisions, one serious flaw, a step in the backward direction; that is, the exemption of articles that undergo the laundering process from the prescribed tenement list, notably shirts and shirt-waists.

I wish to explain that this provision crept into the law by one of those means known only to the legislator. It was not in the original draft of the bill. I understand that the leading collar and shirt manufacturers in certain parts of the State, notably Troy and Glens Falls, where this class of work is largely conducted, objected to the term "sweating" being applied to this class of manufacture, and insisted on the original bill being amended as we now find it. This shows that they certainly understand and appreciate the nature of the malady; but is shows a sad lack in their knowledge of a remedy.

I wish to add that, from my experience and knowledge of matters affecting the manufacture of shirts, shirt-waists, and kindred articles, that this exemption will come back a Nemesis to them in the future, and the very men who so unwisely exerted themselves to get rid of the term "sweating" will be the loudest in crying out against its evils.

How this flimsy explantion could have the effect of getting the legislators having this law in charge to make the change is as hard to understand as why the laundering process is deemed a sufficient atonement for all the evils of tenement manufacture and, while I do not know what the laundering process may be that new work undergoes in other parts of the State, or what virtues may be instilled into it in other places, I will tell you what it is in places in which I have observed it in New York city. The goods being laundered in the places I have inspected were the colored and figured varieties. The collar and cuff bands and bosoms are dampened, dipped in raw starch, and ironed. If any germs of disease should be in the goods, what is supposed to drive them out? Is it the dampening, the starching, or the ironing? We know that 160° of heat will destroy disease germs, and, while the iron may possess this heat, it is very unlikely to induct it through the wet starch to the body of the fabric. Besides, how is the rest of the garment to be purified that only gets a slight touch of the cooling iron to smooth it out?

If the dampening and ironing does the business, then that reason would apply with greater force to other articles of clothing that receive far greater attention from the iron in the pressing process than it is possible for laundered goods to get, and starch can hardly be considered a disinfectant.

As to the white shirts, a vast quantity of them are put on the market unlaundered. Still, in the case of tenement manufacture, the full advantage of the loop-hole in the law would be taken and the plea of the laundering process entered.

What equivalent is offered for other evils of tenement manufacture, such as unhealthful and unsanitary conditions, child labor, illegal hours, etc.—matters that can never be properly controlled in the tenements, where so many loopholes of escape exist?

Now, to go back to what I set forth is the cause of tenement manufacture—this economy, this paring down of expenses for the benefit of somebody's pocket, and the injury of somebody's soul. I think the remedy should be, when this new law is once in good working order, to nullify such economy as far as possible by bringing every violator into court. The loss of time and the lawyer's fees, with, if convicted, a fine, will, I am convinced, have the effect of dealing a death-blow to this business and its attendant evils. This remedy will, of course, come very hard on many, but it is what the law provides, and years of experience have taught those who know best that this so-called harshness is absolutely necessary if a proper measure of reform is to be worked out.

It is true that a good deal of time would have to be spent by the inspectors to do this, and there is no regard for time in the police courts of New York city, nor has a complainant a very pleasant time; for there are many heart-burnings in prosecuting a case there. It would scarcely be credited, if told in detail, the many stumbling-blocks that an ugly-disposed policeman or an overofficious clerk can place in the way; so many of them consider themselves as the only indispensable cog in the wheel of an often-perverted justice. Still, such obstacles must be overcome, and I believe the results will more than repay the effort.

It is the same question of economy that creates many of the evils in the regular shops—perhaps all; but I will only mention unclean conditions. The contractor, while he can avoid it, will neither take the time nor pay the price to have his place properly cleaned. He considers the sweeping up occasionally of the middle portion of the floor sufficient. The same is true in regard to the owners or janitors of the buildings, who are certainly responsible for the condition of the common stair and passage-ways throughout buildings. As cleanliness is the first requisite where the articles mentioned in the tenement list are being manufactured, and other articles of a kindred nature, a section should be added to the general factory law of our State whereby violators in this respect could be proceeded against in the courts.

The shop buildings in the rear of tenements and dwelling houses are safe under the license idea; but with the license, and even its extension, such a section would be found very useful and convenient.

There is another section in our new law bearing on tenement manufacture that I wish to call attention to; namely, the inspection of articles made in other States. This is a subject worthy the attention of all States having a factory inspection law, and if generally adopted and enforced, it would have a very salutary effect on the greed that is back of the degrading tenement and cheap contract labor.

Since the last meeting of this Association we have, on the whole, advanced a great deal in the treatment of tenement manufacture in New York city, and it is safe to say that by the time the next Convention takes place, we will have taken the most important and successful steps yet to drive out all the evils that are generally understood to hide in its shadow.

I am sure that whoever will have the pleasure to present this subject a year hence from our city will have a gratifying task in recording a line of progress that will surely have a great bearing for good on the future treatment of tenement manufacture in other cities that are or may become afflicted with it.

"THE TIME-WORN SUBJECT."

Mr. T. J. Lappin, of Pennsylvania, read the following interesting paper, after preluding the same with a few bright remarks upon legislative rights:—

To the Officers and Delegates of the Thirteenth Annual Convention of the International Convention of Factory Inspectors:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen—The sweat-shop is "a very much time-worn subject," yet each day, each week, each year, bring new lessons and ideas of how to evade the laws (imported from God knows where), showing the urgent necessity for the adoption of new and drastic measures to meet and circumvent this class of people who are responsible for the sweating system. What meets the occasion to-day does not always prove effective to-morrow; this has been my experience, covering a period of but one and half years, during which time I have learned much heretofore unknown and never realized by me about conditions surrounding the sweat-shop.

Granting that immense strides have been made, and phenomenal improvements shown, there yet remains the sweat-shop, presided over by the same cunning class of people who divide their attention between their work, and how to escape the vigilance of inspectors, and evasion of the laws. Each year makes demands for legislation more drastic, more severe than that now in force, to educate and hold in check this very undesirable class of people to a better condition of cleanliness, for the safety not only of themselves, but the wearers of the goods manufactured by these people.

Despite every aim advanced since the inception of Factory Inspection Departments to correct vile and unhealthy conditions under which many live, just as long as the large dealers and manufactures are not held to a strict accountability for furnishing material and work to these places, that long will the sweat-shop exist.

Under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania we issue what is termed a family permit, when conditions warrant the issue, to persons desiring to finish and make the work at their homes.

This class of workers is increasing with alarming rapidity, and has proved an incentive for large dealers by reason of cheap labor to increase the sweating system, even to the extent of invading American homes, manufacturers giving up their factory plant where formerly hundreds of hands were employed, thereby saving rental of factory, and in many cases where men with families depending upon them were formerly employed, their places have been supplanted by the family worker at home. These conditions are not wholly confined to the clothing and shirt-waist industry, but have now reached the paper-box making and cigar industries. When we realize the vast army of workers this might and does make, and the existing possibility of infectious diseases in private homes, it calls for much thought from inspection departments.

Then again, these people, by constantly moving, aim to escape the vigilance of the inspectors, and the dealer or manufacturer, always willing to give out his work, hides behind the fact of the person having shown his permit for previous residence, and have removed without his knowledge within a week. This same party, encouraged by the work given to him, has inaugurated a sweat-shop which continues until found out; then follows arrest, fine imposed, amount paid; then comes a repetition of the same offense.

The remedy is that all work of any kind whatsoever be made and finished in building shops or factories to which it is taken, and none permitted to be made in places used as a residence.

The most effective remedy yet suggested, and placed in practical operation, has been the amendment recently enacted to the sweat-shop laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, approved April 28, A. D. 1899, empowering the inspectors to seize, confiscate, and destroy all clothing found being manufactured in whole or in part under unsanitary conditions, or where infectious or contagious diseases exist in violation of law.

I can not dwell too strongly on the beneficent effect of the confiscation clause referred to. It has not only incited large dealers and manufacturers to a knowledge that they and they alone are the losers when goods are confiscated, but has driven butchers, bakers, poultry commission dealers, machinists, and others who had embarked in the clothing manufacturing business by reason of the great demand for army clothing, out of competition with the legitimate trade, making the demand for skilled operators greater, who have commanded larger wages and better surroundings.

When the attention of the government officers was called to the exact conditions surrounding the manner, way, and places wherein much of this army clothing was made, and to the character of labor employed, 90 per cent. being aliens, the commanding officer and quartermaster of the Schuylkill arsenal at Philadelphia, under whose supervision the work was received after contracts were awarded, responded to every appeal, rendering aid and service to the Factory Department that can not be measured, by his fearless, exacting discipline in refusing material to sweat-shops not living or working in strict conformity to Factory Laws. This co-operation gave our laws a wide, liberal advertisement, so that better prices prevailed, Factory Laws more generally obeyed, skilled mechanics were in demand, illegitimate shops, sub-contractors and others were shut out, and American labor was again recognized. To-day there are several shops engaged on this particular line of work, at present living strictly in conformity with the law, by reason of daily and weekly visits made thereto, but are struggling against hope, having bid for manufacturing under the old laws by which they anticipated sweating their work; but the confiscation act permits them no longer to set at defiance their disregard for the health of the community, and I venture to say one month's time will witness these, the last and only shops employing aliens, forfeiting their contract, being no longer able to continue to manufacture legitimately for a price that is ridiculous.

These existing evils have been the source of much complaint and legislation, but a remedy is at hand which, upheld by confiscation and faithful inspection departments, will meet the situation as it now confronts us.

The operation of this law has produced a very decided and wholesome effect upon many of the large dealers and manufacturers to the extent of showing more care to whom work is given; employing additional help to ascertain, visit, and inspect to determine whether person presenting permit resides at place designated thereon; and to have also a personal knowledge of the capacity of place, and not as formerly send 800 or 900 vests per week to a family worker whose permit calls for employment of two or three persons, yet 10, 15 and 20 are employed simply because the dealer furnished the work. In my judgment, we should go still farther, and ask for legislation requiring each firm, person, or individual, dealer or contractor, engaged in manufacturing wearing apparel intended for sale, to have marked or printed distinctly in American letters the name and address of place of business to whom articles belonged. This would obviate the trouble of hunting up owner of goods. Nearly all custom-made tailors of Philadelphia have securely fastened inside the pocket of coat their name and place of business. Stock work of all kinds, each and every article, should bear the name and business address of maker or owner.

There exists now, and always will so long as work is permitted to be made in private homes, danger to the community at large from contagious and infectious diseases, but it can be reduced to a minimum by the co-operation of Health Bureaus with Factory Inspection Departments.

During the Spanish-American war, the demands and urgent necessity for army clothing by the United States government offered a large field for the success of sweat-shop labor in Philadelphia, which will in a measure account for the large force of aliens employed therein during the year 1898. Upon reports furnished, and by advice and suggestion of the Department of Factory Inspection of Pennsylvania, the United States government, in submitting proposals for manufacturing clothing for the United States army, for the year 1899 in this city, inserted the specifications that all work must be made by American citizens, and made and finished in the building, factory, or shop to which it is originally taken. The result is that where work was formerly sweated out to aliens in private homes, and where contagious disease was found in many cases, it is now made and completed in factories and shops where originally taken, assuring the government cleaner and better-made garments, and our soldiers immunity from disease. The amount of good accomplished by this must be seen to be appreciated.

There are other sources of possible contagion, particularly in clothing over which we have no supervision in Pennsylvania. The shipment of clothing from one State to another can only be obviated by national legislation. In inspecting shops of sub-contractors for making army clothing, I have found in many cases blouses, overcoats, and trousers made in part in New York city, part in the State of New Jersey, and finished in Philadelphia. In one place 28,000 pairs of trousers made by a New York contractor were busheled, repaired, and partly made in Philadelphia and could be found liberally distributed among family workers. Our own government was responsible for this, and it was caused by the strong competition and the then urgent demand for clothing for the army.

Within a short period, the city of Philadelphia has reorganized its Bureau of Health, comprising house drainage and plumbing, nuisances, and medical departments, and closely allied with the Department of Factory Inspection. It responds to every appeal made by the inspectors, and renders effective aid that is proving beneficial to a large degree.

Child-labor in legitimate shops occasions no alarm. Many places termed sweat-shops might be more properly named factories, inasmuch as they manufacture, press, make buttonholes, finish all in one place and building, no sweating being resorted to whatever.

Acting on the suggestion of the United States government, and put in practical operation among the general shops, of having all work made in shops and factories and none to be sweated under penalty of annulment of contract, plans are now being prepared by one of the largest wholesale clothing estblishments in the city of Philadelphia, to erect a large modern building, wherein the entire output of their establishments can be manufactured, heat, light ,and improved sanitary conditions to receive the first consideration. The cutting will all be done on the top floors, and when it reaches the first floor, it is ready for the buyer—all done under one roof and under their own supervision.

In brief, the one source of trouble is family workers, sometimes called tenement-house workers. The remedy is confiscation, holding large dealers to strict accountability, enacting laws demanding name and business address placed on each garment, and eternal vigilance on part of the inspector, making it a misdemeanor for owners, landlords, or agents to rent a property, knowing it is to be used as a dwelling and workshop, without first notifying inspector.

ADDITIONAL REPORTS OF STATES.

Maine—In the afternoon, Chief Atwood, of Maine, reported that his work was progressing nicely, and that his State had succeeded in having the Legislature pass a good truant act, which assisted them materially in the enforcement of the child-labor law. Mr. Atwood quoted the following sections of the new act:

Section 5. No child under twelve years of age shall be employed in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment in this State. Whoever, either for himself, or as a superintendent, overseer, or agent of another, employs, or has in his employment, any child in violation of the provisions of this section, and every parent or guardian who permits any child to be so employed, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five, nor more than fifty dollars for each offense.

§ 6. No child under fifteen years of age shall be employed in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment in this State, except during vacations of the public schools in the city or town in which he resides, unless, during the year next preceding the time of such employment he has for at least sixteen weeks attended some public or private school, eight weeks of which shall be continuous; nor shall such employment continue unless such child in each and every year attends some public or private school for at least sixteen weeks, and no child shall be so employed who does not present a certificate made under, or by the direction of the school committee, superintendent of the public schools, or the teacher of a private school, that such child has so attended school. And it shall be the duty of such committee, superintendent, or teacher to furnish such a certificate in accordance with the fact, upon request and without charge. Provided, that this section shall not take effect until January one, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight.

§ 7. Any parent or guardian who procures a child to be employed contrary to section six, and any corporation, owner, superintendent, or agent of the owner of such establishment violating the provisions of said section, shall forfeit the sum of one hundred dollars, one-half to the use of the county, and one-half to the use of the city or town where the offense is committed. Money so recovered to the use of the city or town shall be added to its school money. It shall be the duties of the school committees and superintendent of public schools to inquire into violations of said section, and report the same to the county attorney, who shall prosecute therefor.

§ 8. Every owner, superintendent, or overseer of any such manufacturing or mechanical establishment shall require and keep on file a certificate of the age and the place of birth of every child under sixteen years of age employed therein, so long as such child is so employed, which certificate shall also state in the case of a child under fifteen years of age the amount of his school attendance during the year next preceding such employment. Said certificate shall be signed by a member of the school committee of the place where such attendance has been had, or by some one authorized by such committee; and the form of said certificate shall be furnished by the State superintendent of schools, and shall be approved by the attorney-general. The deputy commissioner of labor hereinafter named, or either of his assistants, may demand the names of the children under sixteen years employed in such establishment, in the several cities and towns of the State, and may require that the certificates of age and school attendance prescribed in this section shall be produced for his inspection, and a failure to produce the same shall be prima facie evidence that the employment of such child is illegal.

MADISON, WIS., August 26, 1899.

Hon. J. L. Cox, Secretary International Association of Factory Inspectors, Quebec, Canada:

My Dear Cox—I regret very much to say that it now looks as if it will be impossible for me to attend the next convention. When invited by yourself and the president of the association to attend your next meeting, I made the necessary plans to have this bureau represented. Quite unexpectedly, however, a matter turned up which takes me in another direction, and will make connections with Quebec, in time for the convention, almost impossible. Am sure your convention would have proved of great benefit to me in more ways than one, and am very sorry I am not likely to be able to take advantage of it. I inclose a brief report of our current work, for use in case such reports are customary in your conventions.

Hoping the convention will be a success in every respect, I am

Yours respectfully,

HALFORD ERICKSON,

Commissioner of Labor and Industrial Statistics.

Following is Mr. Erickson's report:

WISCONSIN'S FIRST REPORT.

As this is the first time Wisconsin is represented in the convention of this organization, it is perhaps proper in making this report upon our current work to say something about the growth and the present status of the factory inspection in our State.

The duties included under factory inspection in Wisconsin are attached to the Bureau of Labor and Industrial Statistics. The law of April 12, 1883, by which this bureau was created, makes it the duty of its commissioner to "collect, collate, and publish statistical and other information relating to the manufacturing interests, industrial classes and material resources of the State; he shall especially examine into the relation between labor and capital, the means of escape from and the protection of life and health in factories and work-shops, the employment of children," etc.; or in other words, it made it his duty to gather statistics as well as to inspect factories, or see to it that the factory laws are complied with, and to enforce the same by prosecution before courts if necessary.

One of the defects of this law was that it did not provide for special inspectors with duties and powers to enforce it, as it was manifestly impossible for the commissioner, in addition to his other duties, to visit every establishment in the State as often as necessary. Two years later, however, this was in a measure remedied. In 1885 the bureau was practically reorganized, and among other changes provision was made for a special inspection of factories, etc., as one of the offices of the bureau. At the same time the laws regulating the condition of labor in factories were considerably elaborated and made more stringent, and on the whole provided for a fairly complete system of factory inspection; although, as only one inspector was provided for, the means for the enforcement of the factory laws were still left inadequate.

Two years later, or in 1887, the inspection laws were again enlarged. Penalties were attached for their violation. Authority was given to appoint two inspectors instead of one, and their powers to enforce orders and prosecute offenders were increased.

Since this date other acts have been enacted. Among these are the act of 1891 which raised the age at which children may be employed in factories and work-shops from 13 to 14 years of age; the act of 1895, which relates to fire escapes; and the act of 1897, which prohibited the sale in this State of goods made or manufactured in prisons or penal institutions of other States, unless such goods were properly labeled as prescribed in this act. From 1887 to 1899, however, no changes were made in the inspection service.

Until this year, therefore, two inspectors only were authorized for the work of enforcing the factory acts. This number was far from sufficient. Wisconsin is not less than the eighth in order in point of manufacturing of all the States in the Union. Our manufacturing industries occupy over ten thousand factory buildings, scattered over an area nearly four hundred miles in length and more than half of this in width, and employing over one hundred and sixty thousand workers. That a thorough supervision of the factories in the State, under such conditions, is beyond the capacity of two inspectors, needs no argument. With diligence and close application to our duties, however, we succeeded fairly well in enforcing at least the more important laws, and also, during the last term, in gathering data bearing upon the condition in the State which, when presented to the Legislature last winter, resulted in several new and much-needed laws, and in an increase in the number of inspectors from two to seven.

This year thus marks a turning point in factory legislation in Wisconsin. Among other things, the law now in force provides that no child under 14 years of age shall be employed for wages except under special conditions, nor any child under 16 years unless an affidavit as to its age is kept on file by its employer, nor before 6 o'clock in the morning, nor after 9 at night; that all dangerous machinery, all vats, pans, or other structure containing molten metals, and all dangerous stairs, elevators, or other openings shall be securely guarded and fenced; that exhaust fans must be provided on emery wheels or where dust is generated, and all shops or workrooms kept in a cleanly state; that electric or other adequate means of communication be provided between engineers and workrooms where machinery is used; that all buildings in the State more than two stories in height, and intended for the occupancy of twenty-five or more persons, shall be provided with fire escapes, and, in the case of factories, hotels, etc., with standpipes; that doors, or exits, in factories and public buildings shall swing out; that all elevators shall be kept in safe condition, and their walls constructed of fireproof material, and in no case operated by a minor under 16 years of age; that notices of condition and inspection be posted in elevators, hotels, etc.; that all female employees shall be provided with seats when practicable; and for many other measures for the protection of wage-earners. There are also special laws for the regulation of the condition in cigar factories and sweat-shops.

Our current work now consists of enforcing these laws. For the purpose of inspection, the buildings embraced have been divided into six classes. The first of these includes factories and workshops; the second, department stores and mercantile establishments; the third, office buildings and warehouses; the fourth, hotels, lodging and tenement houses; the fifth, opera houses, halls, schools, and other public buildings; the sixth, cigar factories and sweat-shops. Each building or place is inspected as often as possible, and the work done or actions taken at each inspection is reported in full to the bureau.

The methods of making these reports, however, differ somewhat. At one inspection each year a blank form suited to each class of building is used. This blank contains questions bearing upon the condition in and about each building, so put and arranged as to cover every provision in the laws. One of these is filled out for each building. When thus completed, the reports show in detail the condition with reference to the Factory Laws of every building in the State, together with the orders issued, or action taken, by the inspectors in each case. At intermediate and special visits and inspections more simple forms are of course used, but all visits are fully reported.

This system, while laborious, has been in use for some time, and found satisfactory. A thorough report requires thorough work, and the one leads to the other. It also gives us a complete record of all the buildings in the State which come under the inspection laws, and this is of great value in many ways, particularly for reference.

During the last two years we have found it necessary to give special attention to child labor. In many industries where machinery is most highly perfected there seems to be an increasing demand for the labor of minors and children. This has been noticeable for some time. That under such conditions there should be a tendency toward the violation of the laws which regulate such labor is only to be expected. Owing mostly to our rather weak inspection service in the past, we were also unable to prevent all such violations, and at the same time perform all other duties which come under this department. The prevention of abuses to children, however, is of much greater importance than the enforcement of certain other laws.

And since we are not in a position to properly attend to all our duties, most of our time and best efforts during this period were devoted to the more important ones. While this may have caused neglect in some parts of our work, it enabled us to perform other parts much more completely. Among other things, it resulted in the relief of, or dismissal from work of hundreds of illegally employed children, and in the obtaining of such data upon which to base a request for greater power and more inspectors. This work is still carried on, and we are now in a position to say that the child-labor evil is under control.

The greater part of the employers and others affected accept the more stringent regulations to which they are now subjected, and comply with the laws without a great deal of complaint. There are, of course, exceptions to this. Those, however, who after proper notice or warning fail to do their duty under the law, are brought before the courts, and at present we have several such cases pending. After a few convictions have been made, even less opposition is expected, and we anticipate but little trouble in the future.

Michigan—A paper by L. S. Russell, chief clerk of the Michigan Bureau of Labor and Industrial Statistics, was next read:

MICHIGAN FACTORY INSPECTION AND LABOR STATISTICS.

Mr. Chairman, and Members of the Convention:

There are so many vital points connected with the work of factory inspection and labor statistics that these two branches of State work seem inseparable. In fact, the careful study I have given the subject for several years leads me to the belief that the work of both bureaus ought to be conducted under one head. I am of the firm opinion that much better work can be done, greater results be accomplished, and the cause of labor benefited far more, while from an economical standpoint a great deal of money can be saved. But of this I shall speak later.

Although Michigan has always been foremost in all matters wherein the welfare of the general public is an issue, taking the most advanced grounds and enacting generous laws, supplemented with liberal appropriations, it was not until 1883 that laws were enacted and appropriations made authorizing the gathering, classifying and publishing the Labor and Industrial Statistics of the State. In that year by Act No. 156, the Bureau of Labor and Industrial Statistics was created, placing its control under an official styled commissioner of labor, giving him a deputy, providing for competent office force, supplies, printing, and binding, and making an annual appropriation of $5,000 for the conduct of the same.

The act was approved by the Governor on the 6th day of June, 1883, and took immediate effect. The Governor appointed, as the First Commissioner, Hon. John W. McGrath, who organized the bureau, and published its first report, bearing date February, 1884. Mr. McGrath held the office for nearly two years, being succeeded March 1, 1885, by Hon. C. V. R. Pond. Although not a trained statistician, Commissioner McGrath displayed good executive ability, a careful and judicious management, and issued two credible reports.

Commissioner McGrath afterward succeeded to a seat in the Supreme Court, the highest judicial tribunal of the State, and one which he filled with honor and dignity. Many of the rules adopted by him for the guidance of the Michigan Labor Bureau are still in force.

Colonel C. V. R. Pond, the second commissioner, received his appointment from Governor Alger, who succeeded to the gubernatorial chair, January 1, 1885. Colonel Pond took charge of the office March 1, 1885, occupying the place through Governor Alger's term, or until March 1, 1887. Commissioner Pond, profiting by the experience of his predecessor introduced new methods into the management and conduct of the bureau, and left the office with the consciousness of having given the State an excellent service in gathering, classifying and publishing two annual reports, each filled with valuable industrial and labor statistics. During Commissioner Pond's incumbency the appropriation for the conduct of the bureau was raised to $6,000, exclusive of the salaries of the commissioner and his deputy.

In January, 1887, Governor Luce succeeded Governor Alger as chief executive of the State. Among his appointments, the head of the Bureau of Labor fell to Hon. A. H. Heath, whose knowledge of State affairs and clear-headed business qualities warranted a successful administration of the work of the Labor Bureau, as this department was now familiarly called. Commissioner Heath held the office four years. His four annual reports covered a large scope of industrial and labor statistics, which were neatly arranged and published. Had the appropriation been adequate to the work designed, his work would have been far more valuable; but he was hampered for want of funds to keep pace with the growing needs of the State, and particularly as the labor question was assuming a leading feature in all its industries. Just why he did not ask the Legislature for an increased appropriation has never been said. The growth and improvements in the State, and the continued and increasing demands on the bureau demanded the necessary means to justify the expectation of its friends, means which would certainly have been granted had the question been fairly laid before the law-making power at either of its biennial sessions. The foundation laid by his predecessors enabled Commissioner Heath to keep the bureau moving toward a higher plane of usefulness.

A change in the administration of State affairs placed Hon. Henry A. Robinson at the head of the Labor Bureau, succeeding Commissioner Heath March 1, 1891. Commissioner Robinson was credited with being an expert statistician, and his friends predicted some grand work along the line of industrial statistics. The Legislature, then in session, raised the appropriation $2,000, thus giving him a fairly good working fund, which he used judiciously, and published his two annual reports, one of which was the largest volume yet issued by the bureau. It covered a vast scope of industrial work, but was too large and unwieldy to be of practical benefit. His work as a statistician recommended him to the general government, and before leaving the bureau in March, 1893, President Cleveland had appointed him as statistician to the Agricultural Department at Washington, a position he held for four years, rendering valuable service in that department, and thus benefiting the entire country.

In April, 1893, Hon. Chas. A. Morse was appointed Commissioner of Labor, and immediately entered on its duties. Commissioner Morse had had had a wide experience in public affairs. He had served his country as a soldier for nearly five years, rising from the ranks to high command. He was a successful farmer, and had served in both branches of the Legislature. His acquaintance in the State was wide and extended, and he brought much valuable experience to the office.

When he assumed his duties as Commissioner of Labor, the Legislature was still in session, and he found an act pending providing for the inspection of factories in the State; but it was crude in form, uncertain in its direction, and carried with it but $1,000 appropriation, a mere bagatelle compared with the great work involved.

The friends of labor were handicapped with commercial and manufacturing depression, and at the same time confronted with a universal demand on all public officials for the strictest economy in the appropriation and expenditure of public money. The demand for the protection of laboring men working in factories was imperative, but the demand for light appropriations of public money was no less emphatic.

Under such a state of affairs the commissioner abandoned the idea of a broad and liberal act to commence the work of inspection in the State, but by careful work, supported by the friends of labor, a fairly good bill, carrying $4,000 appropriation, was made a law, taking effect ninety days after the adjournment of the Legislature, or September 1, 1893. This bill placed the work in the Labor Bureau under the charge of the commissioner, and provided for the appointment of deputies and such clerical force as was needed, but the small appropriation curtailed its efficiency to a great extent. Blanks were at once formulated, a working force organized, and inspection commenced. The foundation for future work was firmly laid, and subsequent magnificent results date their existence from the small beginnings in the fall of 1893.

The first year's work showed a total inspection of 2,066 factories, which were employing 60,773 males and 10,630 females, a total of 71,403 persons, or an average of a little over 34 in each factory. The inspection disclosed a great number of children of all ages, who were working for a mere pittance, but who nevertheless took the places of men whose only support for their families was the day's work at manual labor, too often denied them by the cupidity of avaricious employers whose only care was to have work done for the smallest compensation. The process of remedying this great evil was patience-trying, slow, but sure. It entailed a large correspondence and a judicious, firm, unyielding policy, a policy which has since marked every year's work of the bureau as applied to the inspection of factories. The accidents reported the first year were 225, or nearly eleven per cent. of the factories inspected. Of these a large number were fatal. The six years of inspection in Michigan has reduced these accidents to less than five per cent., the fatal ones being in the same ratio. In this item alone, Michigan has been well repaid for all the costs factory inspection has entailed. The operation of factory inspection laws not only protects the employee, but in the same measure protects the employer. Damage suits caused by imperfect guarding of machinery are now at a minimum in Michigan.

In 1894 there were 2,688 factories inspected in the State. The times, so to speak, were at their lowest ebb. Thousands of factories in all parts of the State were idle, and thousands more were running but a few hours each day. The factories inspected had a capacity for 123,918 employees, but at the time of inspection they were employing only 80,375, an average of only 29 to each factory, and a loss to labor of over thirty-five per cent. But redeeming features were found. The number of accidents had been greatly reduced, while the operators, beginning to see the good effect of the law, were cheerfully supporting its provisions. The results of the year's work were higly satisfactory, as giving hope for more effective work on a broader scope in the future.

When the Legislature of 1895 convened, one of its first acts was to revise the law for the inspection of factories, eliminating those features which experience had found inoperative and ineffective. The appropriation was doubled, and a broader scope given the chief inspector in which to prosecute the work. Although times were no better, and depression was felt on every hand, factory inspection was speaking for itself, and but little opposition developed to a fair appropriation. The results of the work for the year showed 3,137 factories inspected, with a capacity of 153,365 employees, but who were employing at date of inspection only 112,048, or an average of 35 for each factory, a loss as compared with full capacity averaging 13 each.

The reduced per cent. of accidents, and especially those of a fatal nature, was very gratifying, and the friends of factory inspection multiplied as the work progressed.

The work for 1896 was more extended, but much of the territory covered this year was more remote, some of it in the extreme points of that part of the State known as the Upper Peninsula. The factories were of an extensive character, but scattered over a wide space of thinly settled country. The number of factories inspected (2,991) was less than in 1895, but the results were very gratifying. These factories had a capacity for 149,743 employees, and at the time of inspection were employing 101,053, an average of about 34 to each factory. Less child labor was found, and machinery was more extensively guarded. The accidents had been steadily decreasing, only 164 being reported in the entire inspection, and of these only 14 were of a fatal character. One depressing feature of this inspection was the low wages received by employees, it averaging only $1.23 per capita, or seven per cent. less than for the former year, which was also very low, as compared with wages a few years previous.

The work of 1897 developed much better than the previous year. The inspectors reached 3,527 factories, the capacity of which was 171,448, there being at the time of inspection 119,037 employees, or an average for each factory of about thirty-seven. Child-labor had been reduced to the minimum, and the accidents reported showed a steady decrease. Toward the last of the year the outlook for manufacturers had materially brightened, and the prospect for improvement was most flattering.

May 1, of that year, Commissioner Morse was succeeded as Commissioner of Labor and Chief Factory Inspector by Hon. Joseph L. Cox. The new commissioner brought to the bureau qualifications essential for a most successful administration. He was an inventor with a national reputation, the Cox Perfecting Duplex Printing Press of renowned merit, utility and value, coming from his brain and hand. He was a successful journalist, and a close student of political and economic questions, and brought to his work a most valuable help in the knowledge of a wide acquaintance, and the confidence, not only of the great laboring element, but of those possessing the capital used in employing and directing labor. Commissioner Cox is an untiring worker, and is constantly taking advantage of the experience gained by his worthy predecessors, and utilizing that experience with the new conditions which are constantly arising.

The Legislature of 1897, through the recommendation of Commissioner Cox, increased the appropriation for factory inspection to $12,000, thus making the two appropriations for the bureau $20,000. This is in addition to printing, binding, map work and all supplies. So well had the work been done that when the increase was asked for there was practically no opposition.

With a larger working fund, factory inspection in the State was brought to a high order. Assistance was given the deputies and inspections were made, careful, minute and searching. The inspectors were instructed to make special inquiry into the industrial situation, and to supplement their work with certain labor statistics, most valuable to the Bureau, thus making factory inspection an important factor to the regular Bureau work in collecting statistics not otherwise obtainable.

The closest scrutiny was kept over the newspapers of the State, noting every item pertaining to the industrial situation, and especially of those in any way relating to manufacturing institutions. To this end it was made the special duty of one clerk to clip and classify these items, systematically arranging them, so that their import could readily and quickly be seen. This system has brought to the Bureau a great deal of information which could not have been obtained by the regular inspectors; in fact, the inspectors are often notified by the Bureau to look after and investigate serious complaints, the information of which comes from the press, and is brought to the notice of the Bureau by its "clipping department." Another advantage comes from this system: It keeps the Bureau and its officials in close touch with the press of the State, an item in itself of great value, as this same press most cheerfully gives to its readers the information furnished by the Bureau, thus keeping all classes thoroughly acquainted with the Bureau and its work. Too much stress can not be laid on the advantage of a thorough scrutiny of the newspapers as connected with factory inspection, and a careful, searching and systematic clipping of their columns. Much of the efficiency of factory inspection in Michigan is due to the painstaking care and constant searching of the newspapers by the present commissioner of labor, Hon. Joseph L. Cox, whose long experience in journalistic work gave him the insight into the far-reaching effect and influence of the press.

The results of factory inspection in 1897 were very satisfactory to its friends, but the work of 1898 was far more so. There were inspected during the year 4,556 factories, with a capacity of 168,433 employees. Nearly all the factories were running at full time. They were employing 118,863 males and 19,735 females, which is within a small per cent. of their full capacity. Less than two per cent. of the employees were under sixteen years of age, and none under fourteen. Wages had been so increased that the weekly pay-roll of this army of wage-workers aggregated $1,139,250.90, an increase over that of the previous year of nearly ten per cent., and over that of 1894 by over twenty per cent. Employers were found hopeful and cheerful, in most instances willingly complying with the requirements of the law. Employees no longer wore the hopeless, haggard look; the future and its possibilities were no less bright to them than to their employers. Over $5,000,000 more capital had been invested in manufacturing, and thousands more people were set to work. The only increase in accidents during the year had been by steam boiler explosions whose examination and inspection did not come under the jurisdiction of factory inspection.

The current year bids fair to outrival any of its predecessors. The last Legislature increased the appropriation by $3,000, and passed several acts strengthening and extending the laws already in force. Among these, one act partially remedies the deficiency heretofore existing regarding the inspection of steam boilers. It is not all it should be for an adequate protection of employees, but it is a step in the right direction, and is a seed planted which will in the end bring a pleasing harvest.

Coal mining has developed with wonderful strides in the past three years in Michigan, and it is yet in its infancy. A universal demand came for a mine inspection, of which the Legislature in its wisdom saw the necessity, and by one of its acts placed the inspection in the Bureau of Labor, giving the commissioner power of appointment and an appropriation for present wants. Inspection and reports are provided for, and good results are expected from this industry yet in its infancy. It is gratifying to know that the health and safety of the employees are to be cared for in a measure akin to factory inspection.

At this date the regular factory inspectors have returned as inspected 3,500 factories. They find only a very small per cent. not running and at full time. They are working much nearer their full capacity, and the average wages have been increased at least ten per cent. during the year.

In the Michigan department no item of factory inspection has received more watchful attention than the question of child-labor. Many intricate points arise in the enforcement of this section of the law, and the chief inspector's orders to the deputies have always directed that the law be carefully, judiciously, but firmly enforced.

In Michigan the public school year ends in the month of June, and for about two months a large number of children are applicants for factory work. Many are under fourteen years of age, and of course are barred; but in various ways subterfuge is often used to accomplish their object. A man not operating the factory may be doing certain work within the same, and conceives the idea that his boy or girl (and often someone else's boy or girl) can work for him and not violate the law. The watchful eye of the inspector finds the boy at work, but he is met by the proposition that the minor is not at work in the factory, but for the contractor. It may be that he is working outside the factory walls, still to all intents it is the factory, and the spirit of the law is violated, if not its exact letter.

It requires cool, judicious and dispassionate action on the part of the inspector, and where this is used, serious friction is avoided. Michigan has been particularly fortunate in this respect. The selection of deputy inspectors reflects credit on the commissioner and honor to the State.

The question of dust arresters and fire-escapes is also important, as they necessitate a large outlay of money, and, unless provided voluntarily, generally meet with strong objections. The safety of life and health is the first consideration the Michigan department considers. That protection every employee is justly entitled to. Life and health are commodities which can not be bartered for dollars and cents. The State has generously undertaken to furnish protection to the factory employee, and its agents must justly and impartially see that the laws are enforced.

The protection of machinery needs a constant watchfulness, and it is pleasant to note that that watchfulness for the past few years in Michigan has practically protected most of the machinery running. This is a grand thought, that in the many thousand motive powers in operation, connected with all the whirring shafts, belts, gears and pulleys, the State steps in and says to the great army of operators, as far as may be, we will protect you with just and humane laws, and provide agents to see that these laws are enforced.

The past of factory inspection in Michigan (and I might add for all the jurisdiction of this grand Convention) is prophetic of a large future. It should be the dominating purpose of every person connected with this great work to use his every talent to accomplish achievements which will redound to the credit of the State, to the benefit of the employer, and to the good of the employee. It is a work in the interest of humanity. It is a philanthropic work.

When we contemplate the past, as compared with the present, the change in almost everything in which human labor is involved seems wonderful. Our grandfathers sawed the rough plank from the log with the "whip" saw. They asked not for protection, and yet accidents often happened. Our grandmothers ground the meal from which to make our daily bread, between two rough stones, and thought the height of perfection was reached when the more modern mortar and pestle were utilized. No guard was needed on any of that simple, rude machinery. No order was evoked to keep children of a tender age from working in those factories. No child could displace the man or woman at his daily labor, and no labor unions were needed to protected the rights of the laboring man.

The onward march of events brings new conditions. From the gray matter of man's brain has come inventions which have revolutionized the economic conditions of the world. The possibilities of that brain place it beyond the power of human ken to tell what the future will bring forth. The past is an open book, the present is before us to study, while the future is as a sealed book, which the experience of the past and the study of the future must gradually open. We are an integral part of the great whole. We have a duty to perform, let us do it courageously, manfully and firmly, and in such a manner that those for whom we work will say, "Well done, good and faithful servants."

In conclusion, let me say to the members of this Convention, and to all interested in the work of factory inspection, that Michigan will ever be found among the foremost in any work wherein labor and all that pertains to labor is benefited. In many respects she stands in the front rank of manufacturing States. She has taken an advanced step in guarding and protecting her toilers in factory and mine. She will not recede from that position. Her representatives bring to you her greetings and good will, and will bear to her any good which you may individually or collectively suggest.

THIRD SESSION—EVENING.

President Campbell called the Convention to order at 8 o'clock, when the first complete roll-call of delegates was read by the secretary and corrected.

"MANUFACTURE OF MEAL FOOD PRODUCTS."

Mr. James L. Gernon, of New York, read the following excellent paper, which was well received:

THE MANUFACTURE OF MEAL FOOD PRODUCTS AND ITS REGULATION.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Convention:

The manufacture of food products is a topic which has been and is at present commanding considerable attention from the people of the country at large. This is not at all surprising when we stop to reflect, as it is a subject which enters every home; and indifferent indeed must be the individual who considers it a matter of no importance to him.

When, in the year 1895, the first law of this character was enacted in the State of New York, regulating the manufacture of flour and meal food products, a vast amount of opposition of the most pronounced type arrayed itself against the enactment of such legislation, contending that such laws were unnecessary, that the inspection of such places by State authority was an unpardonable interference with private business interests. Notwithstanding this persistent opposition, great advances have been made, and to-day we find similar laws being enforced in a number of States, and also in the Dominion of Canada. It is no longer necessary to defend such legislation, and those who were most strenuous in opposing it now acknowledge the authority of the State over such places, and its right to enact such laws as will not only protect the employees engaged in manufacturing such food products, but also to guarantee to the public, the consumer, that they are manufactured under perfectly clean and sanitary conditions. At present we find a commission appointed by the United States government, inquiring into the manufacture of impure and unwholesome food products and their adulteration.

The necessity for such legislation has been clearly demonstrated by the many papers read at previous sessions of this Association, treating the subject with marked ability, and graphically describing the deplorable conditions existing prior to official inspection. The beneficial results accomplished by the enactment and strict enforcement of such laws are manifest when we observe the great change in condition of bakeshops in New York State since the passage of the Bakeshop Law. The amendments enacted in 1896, requiring a minimum height of eight feet for all bakeshops, also providing for additional windows and ventilation, have caused a decided improvement in the cellar bakeshop. The low, dark, unsanitary bakeshop existing prior to the year 1895 is a thing of the past.

Although all bakeshops are not the required height, the New York Department has accomplished all that could be expected, owing to the many obstacles that prevail preventing immediate compliance, such as water, rock, etc., the greatest difficulty in this respect being found in New York city, with many cellar bakeshops in the vicinity of the water front, and many others, the foundations of which are built upon solid rock.

There are in the State of New York 3,836 bakeshops, employing 14,812 persons. All these shops are regularly inspected. Of this number 2,221 are in Greater New York. In the State there are 1,296 shops below the legal height of eight feet. A large percentage of this number have made an honest effort to increase the height, but failed, owing to causes before mentioned. However, improvements as to the height are constantly being made. On investigation we find the improved conditions brought about by compliance with orders issued by the New York Department have necessitated the expenditure of over $250,000 by proprietors and owners of bakeshop property. This amount does not include the cost of erecting new places. It is in such places that the best results of the law are to be found. The parties building new places invariably consult the Department to assure themselves that their premises are in accordance with the law. Thus it is evident that the bakeshop of the future will be built in strict compliance with the statute.

When a bakeshop is closed, on account of removal or other causes, the New York Department insists on a full compliance before reopening. To properly ventilate bakeshops the Department has ordered ventilating pipes and hoods over oven doors and ash pits. This means of ventilation has been efficacious in removing all steam, gas and foul odors, and can be provided at a nominal cost. Many objections have been made to ventilating in this manner by proprietors of bakeshops and a few journeymen bakers. The argument of all is that their ovens are provided with a flue and damper just above the oven door for the purpose of carrying off steam and gas. We have found that a large percentage of such are blind flues. When there is a proper flue, many of the dampers are useless, having rusted in the brickwork, in consequence of having been so seldom used. In some instances, hoods having been provided, objections are made to the effect that the steam condenses and falls upon the workman at the oven. This is the result of the hood being too large, and the pipe from same not being properly connected with an independent flue from that of the oven, or that the pipe of such hood has been stopped up with rags or other material by the ingenious baker. While investigating the matter, the inspectors have found that many of the pipes have been simply run into the wall, and have no connection whatever with the flue of building. In all cases where pipes and hoods have been unsatisfactory it has been due to disregarding the instructions of the inspector and the specifications of the Department.

The restriction of the hours of labor in bakeshops is very necessary, the unclean condition in almost every case being due to excessive hours of labor. The results accomplished as to the enforcement of this section of the law have not been all that the New York Department would desire. A marked reduction, however, in the hours of labor since 1895 is evident. This is shown by the reports for last year, during which time but nine complaints were received from journeymen bakers regarding violations of the hours of labor. After careful investigation, one of this number was sustained. During this period 309 orders, requiring a reducing of the hours of labor to sixty per week, were issued, and 246 full compliances were secured at once. All prosecutions for violations of hours of labor in bakeshops have been sustained by the courts of the State of New York, when it was possible to secure sufficient evidence. The ruling of the courts regarding this section make it impossible for the Department to proceed against violators of this section of the law without the co-operation of the employees. The men are not willing to testify against their employer. To do so would mean loss of employment. For this reason many will not tell the truth about the matter, and thus aid their employer in his efforts to defeat the object of the law. By the co-operation of the employer and employee much could be done to improve the condition of both. Should they aid in the enforcement of the hours of labor, competition would be minimized. We find many of the employers ever ready to complain of violations of the hours of labor by their competitors. Although working their own employees excessive hours, they are not willing that others should do likewise. This demonstrates the necessity for thorough organization among the journeymen bakers. Such organization would guarantee protection to the journeymen who, under existing circumstances are unwilling to testify against their employers.

It is only by repeated inspections and unceasing vigilance on the part of the inspectors that the present wholesome and improved conditions are maintained. The constant cleansing of bakeshops, and the fact that they are kept dry and airy, have made them an undesirable abode for the water bugs, cockroaches and other insects that were formerly so numerous.

The law prohibits the employment of boys under eighteen years of age between the hours of 9.00 p. m. and 6.00 a. m. The enforcement of this section has not only stamped out the employment of boys at night, but has greatly restricted their employment in the trade. There were but 156 boys under eighteen years of age found employed in the State of New York during the past year.

The old-time method of sleeping in bakeshops has almost disappeared, the only violations of this feature of the law being confined chiefly to Italian and Jewish bakeries. To secure evidence to prosecute for violations regarding the employment at night of boys under eighteen years of age, also the violation as to sleeping in bakeshops, it is necessary for the inspector to visit the shop accompanied by another inspector, who must act as a witness. If the case is that of employing a boy during the prescribed hours, it is necessary to visit the place when the minor may be found there, whether it is midnight or 3.00 a. m., as the case may be.

The finding of a bed or bedding in a shop is not sufficient evidence that the place has been used for sleeping purposes. A person must be found asleep there. Thus it has been necessary in different cases to make as many as six or seven visits at all hours of the day and night before such evidence could be secured; therefore, a bakeshop inspector must work more during the night than he does through the day. There are many advocates for the abolition of night work in bakeries. Such a reform would be most beneficial if achieved. It would improve the condition of the baker both physically and socially. For the night baker the ordinary routine of life is reversed. He must toil while the vast majority of the working people are enjoying the pleasures of the home circle, and the recreation and rest which tired nature demands.

The four years during which time bakeshops in New York have been under State inspection, have obliterated many evils existing prior to the enforcement of such a law—the low, unclean, poorly lighted, ill-ventilated and unsanitary bakeshop has given place to the bakeshop of to-day, remarkable for its cleanliness and perfect appointments as to light, ventilation and sanitation. This change has not only benefited the employee but it has resulted in increased confidence in the public bakery. All this has been accomplished through the earnestness and zeal of the inspectors in enforcing the law, coupled with the co-operation of owners and proprietors of bakeshop property. Considering the vast expenditure of money and the results obtained, the number of prosecutions have been very few.

That the enactment of legislation regulating the manufacture of meal food products in the State of New York was most judicious has been clearly shown. However, there remains much for the State to accomplish in this direction. Wise and just laws have been enacted to protect the life, limbs and health of all persons employed in places where manufacturing of any description is carried on. That the health of a community is a subject of paramount importance must be conceded by every intelligent person. It is the duty of the State to protect its people from the impure and unwholesome manufacture of food products, which are so necessary to sustain life. To the close observer it is therefore obvious that in order to secure permanent protection for all its people, the State must extend such legislation to the manufacturing of all food products.

DISCUSSION.

Quite a lively discussion upon the bakeshop laws followed the reading of Mr. Gernon's paper, in which Mr. Taylor, of New Jersey, and Mr. Wagner, of Ohio, were the principal participants, dwelling mostly upon the question of the evils arising from the underground shops.

"THE MORAL ASPECT OF FACTORY INSPECTION"

was the title of an interesting paper by Hon. John Holbrook, Deputy Commissioner of Labor of Michigan, which was well received and provoked some discussion.

Industrial England, from whence we derive a continuous experience in factory and labor regulation, awoke to the fact, at the dawn of our century, that there were three classes of workers who were robbed of that completeness of life which goes to make up a full human person. These were her operators in shops, factories and mines; and these workers were robbed of the full measure of their being, physical, mental and social.

She awoke to hear the cry of children in thousands, dwarfed, diseased and maimed in body and soul.

Mrs. Browning, in 1840, told their story wedded to immortal verse. She awoke to look upon the strength of her youth wasted, furrowed and decrepid, ere they had lived out half their days. She awoke to the awful spectacle of seeing the mothers of her sons, those sons to whom she turned her eyes expectant for superb brains and brawn, actually hitched as beasts of burden to draw the coal cars underground in the mines. And yet these mothers, unmotherized and dehumanized, mere beasts of burden, bore Atlas-wise at its base the pyramid of England's commercial and naval glory.

It was indeed a pitiable spectacle, darker and more inhuman in some respects than that of slavery. But awakened England repented in sackcloth and ashes, and did works meet for repentance. Then her Parliament voicing the humanity of her people, instituted that series of factory acts, which, continuing down to our own day, and extending to many lands, are among the noblest monuments of beneficent legislation. The history of this legislation is no doubt familiar to you all, and yet it is well, I venture to think, for our generation to take a frequent review of it, that we may realize the pit from which we have been taken, and that we may learn the more impjortant lesson to take to ourselves and make our own, the moral purposes which underlie all factory legislation.

Consciously or unconsciously to us there is such a moral purpose, which creates and sustains all efforts in behalf of the sons of toil.

This purpose came into view in the first of the factory acts enacted in England in 1802. It was entitled "An act for the preservation of the health and morals of apprentices and others employed in cotton and other mills." It is scarcely conscious in this title, and yet it is there in sight; and when we spell out slowly the purpose of the factory acts in England, and the aim of all subsequent legislative control in our own land, it assumes the form of a moral purpose, viz., to present to the toilers of the shop, the factory, and mine an opportunity to live a full and complete life, physical, mental, and social.

This essentially moral purpose emerges more and more clearly in each successive act of legislation. It is the barrier which we interpose to withstand all efforts to drag children into the labor market, and thereby rob them of the chance of proper growth of body and soul. This spirit enters our factories, and places guards on all dangerous machinery to protect wholeness of life and limbs.

It is oppressed at the presence of ignorance and undeveloped minds in shops and mines, and cries out, "Let us rescue the children and youth from abortion of soul, and compel them to come to our common schools, that they may be signed with the seal of our American manhood and citizenship, a common school education." It protests against the filth and poisonous dust; it is horrified at bad air, foul odors, and crowded workshops; it begs for pure air and water; it asks for wholeness or health for the workers, and is a kind of higher providence, which, when both employers and employees asks amiss, grants to each alike according to their needs.

In some of our States in recent times it clothes itself with the garment of law, and enters our dry goods stores, and in the service of nature and God offers a seat to the tired saleswoman. It moralizes every worker wherever he works, and is impatient of all fetters upon the mind, soul, and body of man, woman, and child. This passion for a full life has breathed upon the dry bones of our machineries, our political economies, and our selfish greed of gain, and compelled us with a holy compulsion to care at least as much for man the toiler as for the products of his toil. The man behind the gun has come to the front in the militant half of our civilization. The man, the woman, the child behind all our industries is surely worthy to be put at the front in all our labor bureaus as the creators of our superiority in the industrial half of our civilization.

The best products, which will ultimately win their way in the world's markets, must be made by the best men, women, and children as operatives.

We ought to have learned long ago, in our discussions of the economics of slavery, that industrial sovereignty depends upon sovereignty of manhood, Factory inspection is tending to become universal over all industries.

I am happy to observe that in many of our States factory inspection is rapidly becoming industrial inspection, and is enlarging its oversight to take in the whole industrial field, manufacturing, transportation, and distribution. Factory inspection should universalize and take in the whole army of toilers.

There should be oversight for the coal and iron miners, the workers in sweat-shops and department stores, for the motormen on street cars, for the women in the dry goods houses, for bakeries and bakers, iron and steel mills, steam railroads, everywhere there should be a sort of constitutional king for the body industrial as well as the body politic.

There are some industrial plants, it is true, where no factory inspection is needed, because their managers are their own factory inspectors; there are others, however, who are belated and belong to the last century.

Gladstone is said to have declared that the nineteenth century is the age of the machine. It was perhaps in its beginning, it is to be hoped it will not be in its ending.

May the twentieth century be the man's who made the machine. The monotony of machinery threatens the man; like Friday worshiping his master's gun, we are moved to worship the god, machine. We protest. The machine was made for the man, not the man for the machine. Improved machinery ought to mean improved manhood. Machines are time-savers and the saved time should afford leisure to the worker for a more varied and fuller mental and family life. One of the great French artists has painted this truth on canvas. It is named, "The Man with the Hoe." It is evident in the painting that the Hoe is to be spelled with a capital H, and has the man; and that the man should be spelled with a small letter m, and that the hoe has him.

I wish the artist would give us another picture of the man who has the hoe, then we factory inspectors might have it hang in plain sight as a cogent plea for an eight-hour work day.

The Sundey rest-day is an emergent problem in labor control. Continuous labor most surely brutalizes. Sunday is necessary to the worker whether he uses or abuses it. He needs it whether he knows he needs it or not. Wyckoff, in "Workers of the West," tells us that when a factory inspector came into a sweat-shop in Chicago and spoke of filth and foul air causing disease, he received this answer, "Don't talk to us of disease, it's bread we are after, bread." Sunday is humanitarian, and as such is as much a fit subject for legislation as dust blowers, machine guards, and child labor. The regulation of labor demands a rest day in the interest of a full intellectual family and social life, just as surely as it demands work.

How will the moral purpose which we are considering confront the trusts and trust monopoly of all articles of production? The economic sky appears ominous with evil in this centralization of industry to all workers. I think we may be reassured.

If the new political economy instructs us that the cause of development calls for larger and more complex systems of production and transportation, that same political economy is telling us in even more emphatic tones that we can not get along in this way at all without perfecting our human instrument of production. We shall try to get along without the human agent, but I forsee we shall have no success in dehumanizing ourselves.

The evils of the sweat-shop have arrayed against them the social conscience; consumer's leagues of the best men and women are raised up to wage conflict. This new Frankenstein shall not devour its masters or those who have helped, though unwillingly, to create it.

Yet it must be confessed that the present economic changes to greatly centralize combinations will be watched with jealous eye by those who have the workers' interests deeply at heart.

Particularly shall we anxiously watch what effect these large combines may have upon the workers in elevating or depressing the standard of living. How, also, may wages fare under the new industrial order? Shall the submerged wage earner be sunken deeper in the depths, or rise to a living wage?

Whatever other results may appear on the new horizon, it does not appear that centralization has greatly modified either the scale of wages or the average of comfort among the employees.

This is true, I believe, of the workers in the combined industries at present existing.

Whatever may betide the worker in the future, we, as factory inspectors, ought to be moved by the same spirit which has heretofore characterized our labors in the past; that is, we should endeavor to offer to the multitude of toilers an opportunity to live a full and complete life, physical, mental and social.

Mr. T. J. Lappin, of Pennsylvania, complimented Mr. Holbrook very highly upon the paper, which he said had paid him well for attending the session. Others spoke in the same complimentary manner.

Mr. Holbrook responded to these remarks, briefly touching upon the influence of "moral suasion," and concluded with the proposition that you can not legislate people into being good; and that all improvement in government was largely a matter of education, and that in time public sentiment would become so strong as to materially aid the department in driving out child labor.

Mr. Lappin then referred to how public sentiment had been developed in their State to such an extent that it forced the passage in the Legislature of a confiscation clause in their "sweat-shop" act. He concluded his remarks by enumerating the instances of good that this act had accomplished in the handling and disbursement of army clothing.

FOURTH SESSION—WEDNESDAY EVENING.

President Campbell called the Convention to order at 8 o'clock, after which Chief Rufus R. Wade, of Massachusetts, and for eight previous years president of the Association, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions, which reported the same back, recommending its adoption, signed by the full committee, Messrs. John Williams, of New York; Russell, of Michigan; Campfield, of Ohio, and Mullin, of Pennsylvania:

The International Association of Factory Inspectors in Convention assembled view with gratification the progress made by the respective States and Provinces here represented, in the enactment of factory and industrial laws, and in consideration of what has been achieved, we commend to the attention of legislative bodies and intelligent voters in the States and Canada the wisdom of additional legislation, to the end that our industrial and labor laws shall be uniform in our respective States and Provinces.

We urgently recommend the enactment of uniform laws for the further improvement of the industrial condition of wage earners, such as compulsory schooling of child workers, the prohibition of the labor of children under 14 years of age in factories and workshops, and the limitation of the hours of labor to 58 hours per week in manufacturing and mechanical establishments, in order that these workers may be better fitted for the duties and responsibilities of citizenship and the comforts and enjoyment of happy homes.

We advocate the enactment of laws providing for the proper guarding of machinery, protection of elevators and hoistways; laws, also, providing that all school buildings, hotels, factories, and tenement houses shall be constructed as nearly fireproof as possible, and that the plans and specifications thereof be submitted to State officers for their approval before building operations are commenced.

We recommend that schoolrooms shall be ventilated in such a proper manner that the air shall not become exhausted so as to be injurious to the health of the persons present therein.

We recommend laws that shall provide separate and distinct toilet and dressing rooms where women are employed.

We recommend the enactment of laws requiring the inspection of stationary steam boilers and their appurtenances, and to inquire into the ability and competency of the engineers and firemen in charge thereof.

Chief McAbee, of Indiana, read the following:

THE TENDENCY OF FACTORY LIFE.

That time brings with it many changes has been proved over and over as generation succeeds generation. It is not necessary for us to look very far back into the past to note this, for they are continually taking place. How little Fulton thought, as he launched his first steamboat on the Seine, that in the course of so short a time, it would assume the dimensions and magnificence of the vessels that ply the ocean to-day. What, do you imagine, would be Franklin's thoughts were he permitted to place a receiver to his ear and talk with a friend many miles distant? Could he realize that the power which propels many of the vehicles on our streets is the result of his discovery in which the kite played so prominent a part? This happened a little over a century ago, and yet how rapid and wonderful has been the appliance of its powers.

The changes that have taken place in supplying the world with its necessities are no less great or surprising than those pieces of mechanism that have come up to us after many improvements upon their once crude forms. The first locomotive has scarce any resemblance to the present magnificent piece of mechanism. Were it not for the noise made by the liberated steam, we would not recognize it as one of the same class. But the same principle is there; the only difference is in its appearance. The original idea has only been elaborated upon, and we find that this is true of advancement in every other line—the original principle is there. It is true of the factory, for it, too, has been advancing with civilization. How many of us, were we permitted to visit the very best equipped factory of a century ago, with its cold, cheerless appearance, long hours, low wages, pay-days few and far between, could recognize the model factory of the world as having its origin in one of those primitive barn-like structures on the banks of some stream? That humble shop where father and son were proprietors as well as the entire working force; where they remained from early dawn until the slanting rays of the evening sun bade them cease their toil, has undergone many changes as it advanced down this closing century. Where but two were employed a few years ago, to-day we find the factory covering acres of ground, with its hundreds of employees leisurely wending their way to work on sidewalk, wheel, or car, any one of the poorest-paid mechanic among them enjoying more of the comforts of life than the original proprietors at first dreamed of. What to them were luxuries have become to their employees necessaries of life.

To supply these desires has caused an entire revolution in factory life. The complicated machinery of to-day requires more skill and intelligence on the part of the operator, and intelligence, like the ripple caused by the pebble thrown on the surface of the pond, spreads and widens in all directions until the shore is reached. Just so the mechanic, in the pursuit of his own special line, widens until the shores of many other subjects are reached. Thus he becomes the well-informed mechanic whose products are bringing the commerce of the world to our land. There will be lockouts, strikes, boycotts, and riots; but these are only the whitecaps which precede the ground swell of intelligence. It is coming with such tremendous force that it will break the old methods from their moorings and land them a wreck, out of harm's way, far up on the beach. As they lie there among the other discarded methods of the past they will not be recognized as having once been useful. The new methods, which are being inaugurated, whether they be arbitration, co-operation, profit sharing, prosperity sharing, pension funds, or sick benefits, will all have a trial, and that one which will accomplish the most good will be improved upon until it will stand out a just and equitable system, as complete in all its parts as the most perfect piece of machinery.

It has already been demonstrated that it is possible to treat the employees with the greatest consideration in the face of close competition; that it is possible to enlist the interest of work people to such a degree that general discontent will not exist, and at the same time allow them to retain their connection with labor organizations; it is possible to adjust the relations between employer and employed so that the most short-sighted can see that an injury to one will be an injury to all. This has been done and can be done, but only with intelligent and, I might say, American labor; with any other it would be a failure. If this be true, why not close the doors and admit none except such as are capable of assimilation.

There are already some factories which, in order that there may be more room in the electric cars, and that their elevators may not be so crowded, have their female employees come to work later and quit earlier than their brothers. The proprietors of these factories insist upon their employees' using the elevator, furnish them a bathroom with necessary equipment and time each week for a bath; they also furnish them a rest room and a dining room fitted out as nicely as one could desire. Potted plants are placed between the machinery where there may be room, and the grounds surrounding the factory are kept as beautiful and attractive as many of our parks. In short they provide everything that will make life pleasant for their employees. You say such factories are in advance of the times; it may be so, but only a little way. What has produced this wonderful change in factory life? The spread of intelligence has had much to do with it, yet I am inclined to attribute it more to the influence of the doctrine of Him who had not where to lay His head; partially to the more sordid idea that it pays in dollars and cents. It pays to be my brother's keeper; it pays to treat the employees as if they were flesh and blood; it pays to have a factory full of men in whom you have enough confidence to entrust them with the business affairs of the establishment, and of whom you are assured not one will be convicted of an infamous crime. Whence come the rioters? Not from the factories that look after the welfare of their employees, but from the poorly paid, overworked crowd who can truly say, "No man careth for my soul."

Model factories such as I have pictured really exist, and when we remember that the act emancipating the workmen of England went into effect one year before the Declaration of Independence, that it was 1742 before there was any legislation empowering justices to enter complaints for non-payment of wages, that in 1834 six men were sent into penal servitude for belonging to a labor organization, we may be able to measure the strides with which the employees of factories have advanced. Factory inspection is not a hundred years old yet, but how wonderful the changes. Every precaution is taken to avoid accident. When in inspecting a factory, the inspector makes a suggestion about some device which lessens the probability of an accident, how eager the superintendent is to adopt the idea that he may apply it to his machine. Why are they so interested? For two reasons: first, because they are their brother's keepers; second, because they have learned that lives and limbs are worth money, and that taking all precautions possible against accident is cheaper than paying a damage suit.

With these safety devices the inspector will not have much trouble hereafter; his time to a great extent will be taken up in explaining how the workmen may be made more comfortable and life more pleasant by the addition of some improvement which he has seen in a factory in another town, how little it costs to adopt the same, and how much they will gain by so doing.

When we note all this, and when we know there are many factories so near perfection on this continent, and that others are taking steps toward such a state, what may we not expect of the factory of the future?

Will it not be a beautiful, clean, inviting structure, full of contented workmen looking forward to the summer months, when they shall have Saturday a whole instead of a half holiday, and when the Lord's day may be truly a holy day. And why should it not be so? With very little sacrifice, if any, on the part of the employers they could dispense with Saturday labor during the months of June, July and August. Then instead of desecrating Sunday with picnics, baseball and other outings, Saturday could be used for pleasure expeditions.

As factory inspectors, what steps shall we take to carry out these reforms? Much of this will come without legislation. It will be voluntary on the part of the employers. Many of them are only too glad to do anything that will make life more pleasant for their employees, but they do not know how to proceed to bring about the desired result. It is by coming in closer contact with the proprietors that we may do much. Many of them have already learned that the factory inspector is their friend; he may be in disguise, but nevertheless a friend on whom they may rely. Any suggestions which he makes that are at all practicable they will endeavor to have carried out. Thus by creating a spirit of friendly contention and urging them to excel all others in having the best conducted factory much good will be accomplished.

After Mr. McAbee finished reading the above, Mr. Mullin expressed himself as being fully in accord with the spirit of the paper and thought that all present were also. He said that he found the public were anxious to secure the reports of these conventions, and that he knew the same could be used effectually among the legislators of various States who were generally seeking information upon the topics reported, and were also glad to be enlightened upon the work of the factory inspectors. He mentioned the fact that as a rule members of the Legislature would go very slow in opposing the factory acts, and as the public has been educated to value them, there were but very few employers that wanted to take the chances against public sentiment.

President Campbell then called for Chief John Williams, of New York, who read the following interesting paper, entitled:

"JURISDICTION OF THE FACTORY INSPECTOR."

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Convention:

It is with a due sense of my own insignificance that I present for your consideration a few thoughts on this important subject, "The Jurisdiction of the Factory Inspector." I appreciate fully the fact that I am about to address men and women, many of whom have spent several years in an official relation to the departments represented here, and who, therefore, have necessarily taken up and have studied from a practical viewpoint this very interesting question.

However, perhaps I may be permitted to suggest that the inspectors, generally speaking, are too wrapped up in the various and complex details of their work to give the subject any special thought or attention on the lines suggested or contemplated by this article.

The student of to-day taking up the study of sociology, or the organization of human society, recognizes the fact that conditions and circumstances are more or less potential factors in the development of our social or governmental relations.

Individual units of the human family could exist in almost perfect isolation, but we would then have no society; their association is necessary before we can have the most inferior or lowest order of social units. There is in each member of the human race an inherent tendency to association. In obedience to this inborn, unseen, but nevertheless powerful force, we find that from the earliest ages members of our race have been coming together, have formed an association, and entered into relations which became the foundation of our social and governmental system.

First, we have the family with certain rules of conduct, to which each member was expected to conform, and the transgression of which brought upon the offender certain forms of punishment.

Then follows another and still another development, through several stages, establishing relations between families, imposing certain obligations upon each individual member thereof, in his relation to individuals and to the whole.

The right of parents to govern their household has never been questioned, and the same principle is to be applied to the government of a community of families; and if of families within a given radius, then of all members of a race or nation.

As it is the duty of each member of a family to seek the welfare, advancement, happiness and prosperity of every other member thereof—so it is the duty of the individual members of the larger family, constituting the municipal, State, or national government, to seek the welfare, happiness and prosperity of, and to afford adequate protection in every form to, every individual connected therewith.

The State government assumes certain obligations toward each person within its precincts. It agrees to protect them in their persons and in their property. In order to accomplish this the State must assume, and to it must be conceded, certain powers to regulate the movements and actions of its citizens. This the citizens have from time to time approved by voting to the government certain constitutional powers, in the exercise of which special measures have been enacted with a view to insure the happiness and welfare, and to protect the lives and property, of those by whose consent the State derived its powers.

The exercise of powers thus conferred in the several States and Provinces is responsible for our presence here to-day.

The development of our industries opened up and presented to our governments new fields of activity, and of necessity meant increased responsibilities, requiring the extension of the State's police powers.

The welfare and happiness of its citizens, their protection in health, limb and property, demanded that step should be taken to insure to the worker the protection upon which he, as a dependent, could not insist.

Many years have elapsed since our governments began to exercise their powers to regulate the conditions under which men, women and children could be employed in our shops and factories. When the first attempts were made, considerable opposition was experienced. The manufacturers cried that such legislation would be ruinous, would drive out our industries, etc., etc.; but, in spite of their protestations, the foundations for splendid systems and departments of factory inspection were laid. It is true that most of these were not very pretentious or effective at the outset; but a start had been made, and the jurisdiction of the factory inspector, although circumscribed and unimportant, was instituted and established, not to be overthrown, I believe, as long as our social and industrial systems last.

In order that we may fully comprehend the meaning of the term "jurisdiction," it might be well to give the definition published in Webster, viz.: "The power of governing or legislating; the right of making or enforcing laws; the power or right of exercising authority." And, again, "The limit within which power may be exercised; the extent of power or authority."

The factory inspector is not clothed with the legislative powers implied in the definition just given; his powers are derived from legislative enactment, and are administrative or executive powers only. In a word, the factory inspector is a State police officer, charged with the duty of supervising the administration and enforcement of certain laws.

The extent of his powers, or the limit within which these powers may be exercised, is determined by the scope of the statute creating the office or department, and by subsequent legislation affecting the powers originally conferred.

There are those here to-day who can readily recall the creation of the first department of factory inspection in the United States; but the seed once sown took root, sprung up, and has flourished to the extent that to-day a majority of our States have factory departments.

There is naturally a great similarity between the general work in our several departments or State bureaus; and, as I have not as yet had sufficient time to familiarize myself with the scope of the work, except that of our own State, you will, I know, permit me to refer briefly to the changes that have from time to time taken place since the institution of factory inspection in and for the State of New York.

Thirteen years ago, on the 18th day of May, 1886, a law was enacted in our State entitled "An Act to regulate the employment of women and children in manufacturing establishments, and to provide for the appointment of inspectors to enforce the same." Then was laid the foundation of what was destined to be one of the most important departments of our State government. Considerable opposition was manifested by manufacturers, but the forces that were then at work in favor of the establishment of our department were potential, and the power was recognized. Adding to this the justice of the demand for such remedial legislation, and the creation of the department was the inevitable result.

The law itself, while important, was crude, and the powers conferred on the inspector were very limited. The law only applied to minors under eighteen years and to women under twenty-one years; the school age was placed at thirteen years; the hours of labor for minors and women were fixed at a total of sixty per week; two inspectors were appointed to enforce the provisions of the statute, and the entire cost of maintaining and operating the department for the first year of its existence did not exceed six thousand dollars.

The work performed within the narrow limits of the original law, while important and beneficial, only served to whet the appetites of the people for more legislation along the same line. We might say here that even in this relation the natural law and order of evolution were not reversed. The advance from the lower to the higher order has been gradual and continual.

From the narrow limits and circumscribed territory of the law of 1886, the New York State Factory Inspection Department has been moving forward and upward, its powers and influence steadily increasing and its importance correspondingly growing each year.

In 1887 the powers of the factory inspector were materially added to and extended. He was authorized to require the proper guarding of elevators, machinery and stairways, and to call for the erection of fire-escapes. Also to require that a record of accidents in factories be kept, and to see to it that proper and separate toilet accommodations be provided for males and females working in all factories, mills and workshops. Thus the sphere of his influence and power was extended. His jurisdiction was enlarged, and in the exercise of that good judgment on his part which is so essential to success, was laid the groundwork of what is now a splendid superstructure.

The work performed by the department inspired the people with confidence. It had been carefully, honestly and conscientiously done.

As time wore on, and the inspectors in the course of their work realized and recognized the futility of existing laws to sufficiently remedy the evils with which the toilers had to contend, the experience thus gained enabled them to recommend such changes, amendments and additions as would be of value to minimize or to remove the causes of hardship endured by the wage-earners.

We find that the Legislature was ever willing to amend the laws and increase the powers of the inspector. As the work progressed and the duties increased, the force at the command of the inspector was also increased. This was necessary, inasmuch as his jurisdiction grew more extensive from year to year, and the character of the work became more varied, arduous and complex.

The Legislature, bowing to the will of the people, placed under the supervision of the factory inspector the "factories"—if you will permit me to so designate them—where meal food products are manufactured. By that act the jurisdiction of the inspector was made to embrace not only the outer but also the inner man. This was very proper; for while the State took steps to protect the worker's life and limb in the operation of dangerous machinery, etc., and insured to him clean and sanitary conditions of employment, it would be labor in vain if the power of regulation stopped at that point, and the introduction of unwholesome food into the system was permitted to neutralize all the good work performed in behalf of the toiler.

The State Legislature realized that in many of the dens called "bakeshops" lurked the receptacles for disease germs which would be introduced into, and would develop and propagate in, the system of many of the poor unfortunates who toiled without rest. Then arose the question, How shall we regulate these places?—Extend the powers, enlarge the field of operation of the factory inspector!. No sooner suggested than done.

The factory department of our State government had performed its labors so acceptably that the next step was to place the inspection of mines under its supervision. Until this was done our mining laws had been dead letters. But now, thanks to the untiring zeal of our competent mine inspector, our mining laws are very live factors in the matter of regulating conditions in the mines we have in our State.

The mine owners have come to look upon the inspector as their friend and benefactor. As the result of conscientious inspection, the men who are employed therein are better protected in their work than ever before, and the owners are getting greater returns from their investments. In this respect we can safely say that the extension of the inspector's jurisdiction is fully justified.

No material change was made in our laws between the years 1896 and 1899. This, however, should not be taken as an indication of any retrogression on the part of the department or of our people. It was really the opportunity that was necessary for the inspector and his corps of workers to demonstrate to the people how well the work could be done. How well it was done, and how great the confidence in the department that was inspired as a result of the good work, we shall show later.

The subject of tenement manufacture, or home work, has for years been the one problem of all others which has engaged the attention of philanthropists and legislators alike. The tales of hardship and suffering endured by the poor, unfortunate creatures who were compelled to struggle for bread amid filth and disease, have stirred our communities from center to circumference, and naturally enough the people turned to the only department within the State that was charged with the duty of regulating the conditions under which goods of all descriptions were manufactured. They looked to the factory inspector.

But it was found that the home as such only came within his jurisdiction under certain conditions and circumstances. So long as the outsider, the hireling, was kept out, it was next to impossible to reach these people. The need of extended authority became apparent. In order to protect the community from the dangers arising out of the manufacture of wearing apparel in overcrowded, unclean and disease-fostering quarters, it became the urgent duty of the legislators to take steps to regulate the work.

This they did. During the winter of 1899 there was placed on the statute books of the State of New York an amended "tenement-made-articles" law which has brought the apartments in a tenement or dwelling house within the jurisdiction of the factory inspection department. We can now invade the home with impunity, not to terrorize, or to interfere with the sacred rights of the family living therein, but, in the name of the State, to see that nothing is done in that house under conditions which are contrary to the provisions of the law we are empowered to enforce. We go there in the furtherance of the policy of the State, to see that they do nothing therein which might prove injurious to members of some other unsuspecting family, or to the coming generation in the persons of their offspring.

I do not care at this time to anticipate the result of the practical operation of our tenement law. This I will say, the jurisdiction of the inspector in the matter of applying the law is almost unlimited. The power of determining whether or not the premises shall be licensed for the manufacture of goods, is vested wholly in him. The exercise of this power will demonstrate the judgment he possesses, and his capacity to deal with this vexations and difficult problem. The rigid application of the law will, we trust, fully meet the expectations of all interested in the elimination from our industrial life of what is commonly called "sweating."

The extension of the jurisdiction of the inspector in relation to tenement manufacture was not all that the Legislature of 1899 did with reference to our department. Our powers were extended and increased along other lines.

Labor laws had been enacted by our Legislature—laws that were intended to preserve the rights and improve the condition of the large number of toilers whose vocation did not come under the operation, or within the purview, of our factory laws. No specifiec provision had ever been made for the enforcement of the laws in question. The duty devolved upon the regularly constituted authorities charged with the administration of all general statutes, with the results that, like many other good laws, they were what might properly be termed dead letters.

Bowing again to the expressed will of the people, our legislators provided means for the effective enforcement of these statutes. Authority was vested in the factory inspector to see that all these laws were properly observed. This was an entirely new departure, for it brought within the sphere of our influence and power every nook and corner of the State. Heretofore we went only to such places wherein factories, bakeshops, or mines were to be found. Now every city, village, town, and school district is, under certain conditions and circumstances, under our jurisdiction.

The factory inspector of the State of New York is now charged with the duty of enforcing the provisions of the State eight-hour law on all public work, both State and municipal. This is no small matter. When we take into consideration the fact that many millions of dollars are annually spent on public improvements, and that a rigid enforcement of our eight-hour law will result in the employment of at least 10 per cent. more men upon such work, it will be seen that to every community wherein a public work is in progress it will be advantageous to have it so enforced, in that the idle will find employement, thereby increasing their purchasing power, and making them self-sustaining and self-respecting citizens. Our eight-hour law is undoubtedly one of the best of its kind ever written. Overtime is absolutely prohibited except under very extraordinary circumstances. In connection with the eight-hour provision of the statute, we have another which is equally important, even more so in some respects. It is the provision for the payment on all public work of the prevailing rate of wages. In the exercise of our powers relative to this matter, we find that it requires on the part of the inspector that rare ability to divorce himself from his preconceived ideas and to deal absolutely with facts. If we should fail in this, we would utterly fail to justify the extension of our powers in this direction. It is not within our jurisdiction to determine arbitrarily any question that comes before us, but to investigate in order to develop the facts connected therewith; then our conclusions based upon facts will be incontrovertible.

Another important duty imposed upon our department is the enforcement of the law enacted for the protection of the rights of labor organizations, to the exclusive use of labels or brands, adopted by them to designate the product of the labor of their members.

The enactment of this law in the first instance was a well-merited recognition of these factors in the growth and development of our social system. These associations aim and strive for the advancement and improvement of the human race, hence the plain duty of the State to protect them in their interests. The organizations having labels or trade-marks, we must say, have demonstrated their ability to protect themselves and to successfully defend their rights; but in order to do this they have found it necessary to spend large sums of their hard-earned money. The great

State of New York has now stepped in and gratuitously assumed the responsibility of caring for their interests and preserving their rights under the law. The trade union labels are now under the protection of the factory inspector.

For many years efforts have been made to enact laws which would afford adequate protection to the mechanics employed in the erection, alteration, or renovation of buildings in cities. The laws and ordinances in existence in our State prior to April of this year were but rarely thought of or invoked. Our scaffolding law, and the inspection of all kinds of scaffolding material, etc., which was last winter referred to the factory inspector for enforcement, is calculated to materially change the conditions under which the building mechanic has to perform his labor. The risk of accidents will be reduced, and the safety of these men, generally speaking, will be assured. The extension of our authority along these lines, as can readily be seen, means an addition to our responsibilities that up to the present time has not been fully grasped by but a very few. Many of the inspectors have not yet come in contact with the new features of the work, but as time wears on, the complex character of our work under our present laws will undoubtedly impress itself upon them. This will result in an honest effort on their part to put in effective operation every law referred to us for application and enforcement.

I feel that I have already taken up too much time, but I have a few more words which I wish to add.

While the factory inspection departments have been created primarily to enforce certain laws, for a violation of which severe penalties were prescribed, I am constrained to believe that within the entire scope of our jurisdiction splendid results can be obtained by the exercise of a combination of legal authority, sound judgment, and good hard-headed common sense.

In your respective departments, I have no doubt you find that the several inspectors hold divers views relative to the powers vested in them and the general scope of the work. I have thought that in order to secure greater uniformity in the work performed by each inspector, it would be well to establish in connection with each department represented here an annual meeting or conference of all the State inspectors in their own State. These State gatherings could elect representatives to the Annual Convention of this International Association, if such a course were deemed wise.

If these State conventions could be held, all the inspectors in the jurisdiction of each State would be brought together, and an interchange of views and ideas could be had, which would be very valuable in producing that uniformity of comprehension and application of our laws that is so essential to a successful and efficient department.

In each department there is one at least, the chief, who must necessarily impress his personality upon the department under his care. The extent to which he realizes his responsibilities, and manfully takes up the work of enforcing the statutes referred to his department, to that extent only and with equal zeal will his subordinates apply themselves to the performance of their duties. Every inspector should know the law thoroughly, so as to be able to distinguish instantly the demarkation of his jurisdiction if his authority is ever questioned. In order to become proficient in the law we must continue to study its provisions until we have mastered its intricacies, thereby placing ourselves in a position to deal with any and all persons to whom our laws apply.

In conclusion I wish to say that nothing exemplifies the extension of the jurisdiction of the Factory Inspection Department of the State of New York more than its wonderful growth. In 1886 we had two inspectors; we now have 52 inspectors, besides an office force of nine persons. In 1886 the appropriation for the support of our department was $6,000; this year the department will cost the State close upon $120,000.

We hope, by judicious and careful work within our prescribed territory. to justify fully the expenditure of this large amount of money, and that the effect and influence of our work may be felt beyond the boundary lines of New York State.

The good work done by the larger and more efficient departments ought to prove an incentive to greater efforts in other States, to increase the powers and extend the jurisdiction of their factory inspectors, in order that they may keep in line with the advanced stages, and occupy their rightful place in this great work.

A GENERAL DISCUSSION UPON LEGISLATION OF RAILROAD EMPLOYEES.

Following the reading of Chief Williams' paper, the delegates participated in a general discussion upon various topics, Messrs. Wade, Williams. Cox, and others speaking upon the question of violation of railroad laws, which directly affect the employee, his health, wages, and general interest. Chief Williams referred particularly to the street car section of the New York law, which led Ex-Senator Holbrook, of Michigan, to explain his experience in the State Legislature, and how holes were put in laws through which the violators might escape.

Chief Wade, of Massachusetts, during the discussion, stated emphatically that of there was any way that legislation could be made to reach the corporations he would indeed be glad of it.

Mr. Gernon, of New York spoke on practical legislation in the interest of the workingmen, and did not want to see further discussion drift away from the main subject. He spoke very earnestly in the interest of railroad employees, and wanted to see some practical results both by the departments and Legislatures that would result in the interest of this class of employees who have to fight against great odds.

Mr. Mullin, of Pennsylvania, then recited his experience as a one-time railroad employee, stating that while he was thus engaged, he found that the company had no respect for his personal rights. He took the position that the traveling public were placed in the hands of the man behind the throttle, who ever thought of the safety of the human freight that he drew, that their lives were ever in his mind and hands, and he thought the public demanded specific legislation in his interest. He believed that the public should be awakened to their responsibility upon this subject, and believed that they had an interest in knowing whether this engineer should be overworked and taxed with all the additional responsibility that naturally followed his employment. He believed that all questions of this character, the matter of crowded trains, street cars, and safety appliances should be put under the supervision of factory inspectors and commissioners of labor. He could not see why railroad employees should not have the same protection that the working people had in factories, mines, and elsewhere.

Mr. Guyon, of Montreal, read the following well-prepared paper, entitled—

"DANGEROUS AND UNHEALTHFUL OCCUPATIONS."

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The records of this convention furnish abundant proof that the subject of this paper has often preoccupied the minds of some of the most able and earnest of its members.

Various contributions have been submitted at our yearly meetings touching upon the subject of dangerous or unhealthful occupations, yet very little progress has been made toward producing uniformity in the different State and Provincia, laws regarding this particular phase of factory legislation.

In examining the synopsis of the various laws, as given at last year's convention, we see that out of a total of 20 States and two Provinces affiliated to this body, only four State laws and one Provincial act require a higher standard of age for boys and girls when employed at dangerous or unhealthful occupations.

It may prove interesting to many that have not given this subject special attention, to know exactly what provisions have been made in the various laws toward regulating the employment of children at dangerous or unhealthful work. I have therefore made a few extracts which may serve to show what progress has been made in this matter of late. Far from me the desire of making comparisons or provoking discussion on the merits of this or that particular system; I simply wish to show reason why there should exist the broadest possible uniformity in our laws on this point, and thus become the humble continuators of the work of such able men as Robert Watetsham, of Pennsylvania; Ellis, of Ohio; and Casserly, of Minnesota.

If any omissions are made in the following quotations, I will only be too happy to rectify.

Massachusetts—The law provides that no child under 14 years of age shall clean machinery operated by mechanical motion. And the chief of the department of inspection, with the approval of the Governor, may designate what employments are injurious to the health of children under 14 years.

New York—Restriction as to running elevators and cleaning machinery.

New Jersey—No minor under 16 shall be employed at work dangerous to health without a certificate from a physician; and no minor shall clean machinery in motion, or be employed between its transversal parts.

Pennsylvania—The law is mute on the subject of unhealthful occupations. No boy under 14 is allowed to run an elevator, and no minor under 16 to clean machinery in motion.

Ohio—No minor under 16 shall work at any employment whereby his life or limb is endangered, or his health likely to be impaired, etc. Inspectors have made a list or industries considered most dangerous.

Illinois—Mute on the subject.

Michigan—Restrictions as to the cleaning of machinery. No female minor under 21 years, and no male minor under 18 years of age, to clean machinery while in motion.

Connecticut—Elevator employees to be over 16 years. No clause relating to unhealthful occupations.

Rhode Island—Mute on the subject.

Ontario—Mute on the subject.

Indiana—Mute on the subject.

Missouri—Mute on the subject.

Minnesota—No child under 14 years to work at any employment injurious to health or dangerous to life or limb.

Maine—Inspector to report to board of health concerning health of employees in certain industries.

Quebec—In establishments classified by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council as dangerous, unwholesome, or inconvenient, the age of the employees shall not be under 16 years for boys, and 18 years for girls or women.

This important clause was introduced in our law eight years ago, found beneficial, and retained through all the vicissitudes that necessarily effect incomplete legislation.

If we push our investigations still further, we find that in all European codes there is always a special clause relating to dangerous and unhealthful occupations.

We also find that in most cases, scheduled lists of these prohibited industries have been appended to the regulations. The question indeed has seemed so important that the usual discretionary powers of the inspectors have been curtailed in the matter.

The various international conventions held in Europe since 1887 have invariably maintained the wisdom of specially protecting young people at dangerous or unhealthful work, by requiring a higher standard of age.

Now, in view of the fact that uniformity is one of the great aims of this convention, and inasmuch as special provisions concerning dangerous and unhealthful industries are totally absent from many of our labor laws, I would humbly ask this convention whether we have reached such a degree of perfection in our methods of guarding machinery, or has the risk surrounding dangerous occupations been so minimized by the solicitude of the employer, or by the conscientious efforts of the inspectors, that in our opinion it would be superfluous to burden the existing laws with special prohibitory clauses concerning employees of a certain age in certain industries?

I would go still farther. Are we prepared to say that industrial hygiene has made such progress as to render uninjurious to children of under age the manipulation of many poisonous substances, or can the emanations of deleterious gases or injurious dusts be so effectively controlled that statutory restrictions for dangerous and unhealthful industries have no more raison d' etre?

I would emphatically say, No, so far as the needs of our Province are concerned, where the age limit of admission for boys and girls has remained stationary, when so much was being accomplished in other countries to blot out this evil.

In justice to our manufacturers I must say, however, that the question of age has never been made an economical one, and still depends to-day upon certain educational reforms for a solution.

When our Provincial act was amended in 1890, raising the ages of boys to 16 and girls to 18 years of age, when employed at dangerous or unhealthful occupations a list containing a certain number of industries, or particular operations offering a larger percentage of danger, was framed on the same lines as that contained in the French law.

This gave immediate relief from an intolerable situation. Under the operation of the new provisions, the number of accidents in stamping works, box factories, and in the feeding of automatic machinery of all kinds, diminished in a surprising manner, furnishing abundant proof of the evil of allowing young people to work at dangerous work.

On the other hand, if we look at the employement of children at unhealthful occupations, it becomes almost impossible to specify the far-reaching and unseen harm that is being worked upon the frail beings just struggling for their share and right to grow and live their allotted time.

I would only be taking up the valuable moments of this convention in trying to add to the long enumeration of dangerous and unhealthful industries, or to supplement the methods of improvement proclaimed in so many able essays already presented to you during other conventions. The subject has been exhaustively treated, the dangerous features of many industries being correctly illustrated, and the complex nature of many unhealthful occupations explained.

Yet it may not be out of place to give you a few facts relating to our own experience in the Province of Quebec before the adoption of the clause relating to dangerous and unhealthful work.

In the tin-stamping industry, accidents to boys ran very high, and, without any exaggeration, I may say that in one factory alone fingers and thumbs were cut at the rate of one or two a week; and wood-working machinery differed only in the number of fingers that were taken at one time. Most of the victims were under fourteen.

In some paint mills paris green was being sifted and put in boxes, arsenic used in preparing colors was being loosely shoveled along the floor, lead was being ground, and all this within ten feet of labeling tables surrounded by young people from 12 years of age upward.

The superintendent was not a believer in ventilation or preventive means outside of a good dose of physic, and the two antiquated exhaust fans propelled in a drowsy fashion were supposed to cover all the requirements. The difficulties encountered at the outset seemed well-nigh insurmountable.

Low standard of admission, badly equipped factories, and no special provision in connection with dangerous occupations were the problems that confronted us ten years ago. There remains but one drawback to-day, that concerning the general admission to work of boys at 12 and girls at 14, which we sincerely hope will soon receive the serious attention of our legislators.

The questions of preventing young people from working at dangerous or unhealthful occupations may not appear to be so vital in those States blessed with a high standard of admission and good sanitary regulations. Yet, in view of the speed required of machinery to-day, from the locomotive down to the simple printing press, fed by hand, and considering the rapid introduction of new compounds of poisonous nature in our modern industries, I maintain that special provisions in all statute books should govern the employment of children in occupations of a dangerous or unhealthful nature.

Should the convention consider the time opportune for energetic action on this question, I would feel highly honored if these few lines could serve as a base for strong resolutions calling for uniformity in our mode of treating dangerous or unhealthful occupations.

The convention then adjourned until 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

FIFTH SESSION—THURSDAY MORNING.

The convention was called to order at 9.20 a. m., President Campbell in the chair. The reading of the minutes was dispensed with, and Mr. Charles Burfitt, of Massachusetts, read the following paper, entitled:

"GUARDING MACHINERY."

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Convention:

I have been requested by our chief to write a paper on "Guarding Machinery" to be read before this convention, but I must say I hardly feel equal to the task. Guarding machinery, as the laws of our State provides, consists of guarding shafts, pulleys, drums, and gears, and the question arises with the inspector, as soon as he enters upon his duties, What are the best means, also the least expensive, and what will give the best results, and make the least trouble for the mill owners?

Now, as to guarding machinery, we can not cover up the machine entirely, for the machine must do its work, and the operative must take some chances. We can protect the belts and gears to a certain extent, and after that is done it will depend wholly upon the workman to keep his mind on his work, and not be dreaming or thinking of other things. In my experience with machinery and men (I was in charge of a wood-working mill for ten years), I found the most experienced men were those who got hurt the most often; and a green hand, as the new man is termed, very seldom got hurt, for he was always looking out, and keeping as far away from danger as possible. During the term of years that I was in charge, we had our belts boxed, our set screws in collars revolving with shafts cut off or covered, and everything guarded as far as possible. Still, every little while, a man would lose a finger or get cut in some way. There was one man, a sash and door maker, who had worked at this work for at least twenty-five years and had received hardly a scratch, who, at last, when using a machine called a tenoning machine, lost one of his fingers. I remember his saying, "There, I have used the same machine 25 years and never got a scratch before, and now I have cut my finger off. It was my own fault; no one is to blame but myself." And I will say, here, that this same machine had all the appliances possible to guard against just such an accident. There are some machines very difficult to protect or guard. One of these is what is generally called a "buzz plane," or, as I will call it, a "surfacing machine." This machine has the knives, or cutting head, lying horizontal and exposed to the operative. There is no way that I know of, when the knives are wholly in use, to guard them, for if you cover this cutting head, it destroys the usefulness of the machine. This machine is of various sizes. Some are 24-inch and some are 20-inch cutting surfaces, and are used for taking the wood out of wind. Sometimes there are pieces that require the whole width of the machines. There are other times, when jointing is being done, when it is not necessary to use the whole surface. In this case, a board can be placed over a part of the knives, leaving only a small part exposed, but this even can be avoided if the person will only take the trouble to move the gauge nearer to the front of the machine. This machine needs the whole attention of the operative. In the case of the buzz saw, I am aware that to some extent and for some uses they can be protected, but when fine or small work is to be done, there is no way but to trust to one's own skill. I know, from my own experience, that most of the accidents occurring on small machines are caused by carelessness, as I know by the marks I carry on my own hands. To illustrate this I will relate a personal incident. I attempted to split a piece of board with the saw. The piece that I wanted to split was very dry, and when I pushed it against the saw and had got about halfway through, it closed up on the saw and was caught and thrown back striking me so as to stop my breath for the instant. Now, this was my own fault, as I was not attending to my work; for I knew just how it would act if I did not hold it firm on the table. No guard could have helped me, as the piece of lumber I was working was very short, scarcely longer than the diameter of the saw. I speak of these cases to show that most if not all of these accidents can be avoided by the operative. But there are other machines that are very dangerous, and no way has been found to guard them; and if a man gets caught in one of them, he is crippled for life, but is usually still kept on by the mill owners, doing some lighter work, such as operating an elevator, or doing chores about the mills. One of the most dangerous machines is the grinding rollers of a rubber mill. These rollers are used for grinding and mixing rubber, and are very powerful, and the man using them runs a very great risk in getting his hands caught—either one or both, generally one—and if he does get caught in the rollers, he is sure to lose his fingers. There is no way to guard these rollers, as the rubber must be placed between them in order to mix and grind it, so the next best thing that can be done is, when a man gets caught, to stop the rolls. The mode of applying the power to these rolls, or grinders, is where the trouble comes. Some of the mil's apply their power by a shaft just below the line of the floor, doing away with belts wholly, and each set of rolls is provided with a tooth clutch that is operated by a hand lever, and when the rolls are empty, they can be stopped by throwing the clutch out of gear with this lever. But when the rolls are filled with rubber, or as is commonly said "loaded," it is impossible to move the clutch by hand, and I am sorry to say that the greater part of these machines for grinding rubber have no device for stopping them, in case of accident, only by shutting down the engine, but that takes some little time, and the man who gets caught is very badly hurt before he is relieved from his dangerous position. There is attached to some of these machines a very crude mode of stopping them while loaded, by using a device which consists of a lever held by a spring just over the clutch in such a position that if it becomes necessary to stop the rollers when loaded, it is released, and falls into a groove made for it in the clutch head, and pushes the clutch apart or throws it out of gear, stopping the rollers very quickly. I have a photograph and plans showing this device, if any of the inspectors would like to examine them.

I also have plans of the friction clutch, as applied to these grinding rollers, which is of a later date and in some respects much better, although the rolls are driven by belts requiring an overhead shaft. These friction clutches are very easily operated, and stop the machines on the instant they are thrown out.

In case of stopping machinery in mills to avoid accident, we have certain companies who are placing automatic devices to shut off the steam engine by pushing a button. This, they claim, will save the person who is being whirled about a shaft. They claim to stop the machinery of any mill inside of a minute, but any one knows that after a person has been whirled around a shaft one minute, he would hardly be alive, especially if the shafting was making 120 revolutions in that time. My idea is to have automatic clutches in every room, so that if an accident should happen, no matter how far away from the clutch, the clutch could be operated by simply touching the button, stopping the machinery of this room only. I have plans showing this device. This device will also slip a belt as well, but I think the friction clutch plan is coming into use very generally. I find the master mechanics of mills to whom I have suggested it are very much in favor of the scheme, and are willing to admit that it is a much better plan than shutting down the engine in case of accident.

Speaking of guarding machinery, there is one small and dangerous part of the machinery that needs looking after very closely, as it sometimes is placed in very obscure places, and becomes more dangerous on this account. I am speaking of the set screw. It is generally placed in collars, and next to the hangers or oiling boxes, and revolves with the shaft. I know most of these boxes are self oiling, but after the man who has charge of the machinery is called upon, for some cause, to get near this hanger or box he either climbs up on a ladder, or uses a stepladder, and in his endeavors to right the trouble is caught by this set screw and badly hurt or killed. I am aware that new shafting, placed in position by first-class machinists, have the set sunk screw, so that the collar is smooth, but old shaftings have the collars with the set screw standing out some distance beyond the face. These, if possible, should be cut off and a slot cut in them for a screw driver. But in some cases it is impossible to force the set screw on to the shaft and make it hold. In this case, a good way is to cover them either with wood or some other device. Mr. Daniel O'Leary, of New York, Factory Inspector, gives a good plan for the wood covering. I have used, or ordered used, this device with excellent results. We also have a tin cover, invented by one of our factory foremen, which I have with me. It is a simple device, and easily taken off in order to adjust the set screw. We also have a rubber cap to cover set screws, but they are liable to come off unless wired on, as the oil from the bearings acts on the rubber, destroying its elasticity.

We have another late improvement, just put on the market, consisting of a device for locking a beater cover, or picker, a machine used in cotton and woolen mills. This prevents the cover from being lifted while the machinery is in motion. In my judgment it is the most simple and useful device ever invented. I have the cuts showing this device, also the parts showing the attachments.

In conclusion, I believe the day is not far distant when power will be transmitted to all machines by electricity, doing away with shafts and belts entirely. In fact, some are even now using electricity to drive their machines, so that each machine can be started or stopped independent of its neighbor, and no belts or shafts are used in the building. I am aware that it will be some time before mills that have been fitted up with shafts and belts will adopt the use of electricity, so we must continue to find ways of guarding belts, shafts, drums, pulleys, and gears, as the laws of the different States provide.

ELEVATORS.

I would like to speak a few words in regard to elevator openings, also safety devices. Most of the elevators coming under the inspection department are freight elevators. These are generally provided with gates and bars worked by the elevator as it moves up or down. Some of them are provided with a lock on the shipper rope to hold them at the floor at which they are stopped, but if the person who uses the elevator neglects to set the lock, the elevator moves up or down as any one above or below chooses to use it. I think on every freight elevator there should be a signal bell that would be kept ringing while the elevator is in motion to attract the attention of whoever may want to use it. There have been quite a number of fatal accidents caused by persons who had arrived at some of the upper floors leaving the elevator, but expecting to use it again immediately, whose attention was drawn away for a few minutes, and thinking the elevator was as when left, have stepped off and fallen to their death; whereas a signal, as described above, would have prevented the accident. As to safety devices there are very few that are safe in all cases, as most of them depend on the slacking of the rope to make the safety device of any use. In case of any part of the machinery breaking, causing the rope to be taut, the safety device could not work, and the elevator must drop. To avoid these accidents, a safety device should work independent of the hoisting rope. There is a single device that works entirely independent of either machinery or hoisting rope, called the Canfield Safety. I have the diagram showing the working of the device. There is another device just placed on the market called the Hanford Air Safety Device. This device has an air cushion, to take off the sudden jar when the elevator is dropped. I have the plans of this also. In either of these devices the speed is set to a certain number of feet per minute, and if from any cause, the car drops faster than the speed, it is not far. The device stops the car, and then by simply starting the car up, the device lets itself off.

Upon motion of Mr. Kelley, of New York, the report of the Conference Committee was adopted.

Mrs. Annie L. Greene, of New York, read the following paper, which was well received, but provoked some considerable discussion:

WOMEN AS FACTORY INSPECTORS.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The last quarter of this nineteenth century has marked the entrance of woman into the varied activities of life, both in a practical and in a philanthropic way. Previous to that time, teaching, the factory, and domestic service constituted almost her entire field of work. Now, Governors of States place her upon the board of managers of State institutions; heads of governmental departments employ her in expert and confidential work; business men call her into their enterprises as superintendents of departments; large mercantile houses send her abroad to select from foreign stocks, with that rare taste and judgment which is hers, the goods that will sell—not lie in musty piles upon their counters until some bargain day shall unload them upon the trusting consumer. She is the forewoman, the factory superintendent, the private secretary, the bookkeeper, the librarian, the editor, the examiner in Greek and Latin, the teacher, the college professor and president—and space only forbids mention of other fields in which her work is sought.

Should she, in this day of uneven balance between the sexes, marry, she becomes the orderly, systematic housekeeper, wife and mother. And will she not, by the very education of business life, perform all these duties as well as the pampered daughter of idleness and luxury, who must depend wholly upon servants in the management of the home and even of her children?

This is not the new woman so much talked about, but the same woman of the past, who has entered into the new activities and demands of the present, taking up the burdens imposed by the ever-changing industrial and social problems of the times, filling the place of the dead husband, father, or brother, and educating the children of the household in ways of sobriety and industry. Surely, the wheels of business activity would be blocked should woman be deprived of the privilege of self-support, and the money which she puts into circulation be withdrawn, and her lot be that of idleness—the greatest enemy to good morals.

In the year 1890 the law makers of the progressive State of New York recognizing the valuable work which women had done in other fields, provided for the appointment of women factory inspectors; and, much to their credit, decided their service as of equal value with that of their co-laborers already in the field. Several of the States have women in the departments of factory inspection, but none provides for so large a force as does New York, the Empire State of the Union. First, is it not just and appropriate to the 210,165 women employed in the industrial establishments within its borders that some of their own sex should look to their welfare, in this supervisory position? I take my own State for illustration because of familiarity with its conditions.

As in the many vocations referred to, there are women and women, not all fitted for positions of responsibility; yet there are many who possess qualities which especially fit them for the duty we are to consider. Now what are these qualities?

The first requisite (for without it others are useless) is good health, for the work is arduous, exacting, and never-ending. With this blessing as a foundation, we have woman's quick intelligence, intuition, tact, and keenness of observation, her attention to detail, her inborn conscientiousness, sterling integrity and sobriety, and untiring devotion to whatever business she undertakes. With these practical qualities, she has the finer ones of ready sympathy, and, in her dealings with women, the comprehension of the nerve force of her sex, and the limit of strain which it may safely bear. She understands the ills that woman is heir to, and the readiness of approach which she attracts from the young and old of her sex makes her a valuable friend to the worker.

She must often exercise great tact in meeting the employer, for much more can be accomplished by a cordial manner than by a show of arrogance and power. In talking with the one in authority, I always make it a point to call my orders suggestions, and seldom fail in securing a ready acquiescence.

This woman inspector must be unprejudiced, practical, and of cool judgment. All the civil service requirements in the statute book will not give her these characteristics, for they are inborn. If her work be general, she must be able to comprehend the workings of machinery, to see its dangers, and to intelligently counsel with those in charge as to the requirements necessary for the safety of the employees.

But she is especially fitted for work in textile and garment-making factories, where the woman wage earner predominates; and also for the work which takes her into the shop, tenement, or dwelling, where she meets with an unembarrassed reception, and where she can find out many things which would be a sealed book to a man. My own experience has been that women employees will speak to a woman inspector of their hours, of fines and extortions, of the lack of ventilation and suitable sanitary conveniences and to various matters which she would not refer to except with her own sex. This information is given with confidence that it will not be used to her detriment. I have also found that the employer recognizes her fitness for inspection in these lines, and is ready to listen to her suggestions without argument. He feels that she does not perform her duties in a perfunctory way, but with an interest as great in serving the State as she would the private employer. A large knit-goods manufacturer recently remarked that the best and most careful inspection his mill had ever had was from a woman, and this was said not to the woman who made the inspection, but to another disinterested person. I quote this not as an invidious comparison, but simply to show that women inspectors can be capable.

When I was requested by the Hon. John Williams, the Chief of the New York Department of Factory Inspection, to prepare a paper on "Women as Factory Inspectors," the thought occurred to me to ascertain, so far as possible, the estimate held by the chiefs of departments in England, Canada and our own States, of the work of women in this capacity. It is always well to have a concensus of opinion on any subject. I therefore entered into a correspondence for this purpose with these gentlemen, and I desire on this occasion to acknowledge the courteous and kindly replies received, some of these busy men even writing the body of the letter. As I did not ask for permission to use the names of the writers, I will quote without the name, except in one case.

As we all know, England is the mother of all legislation for the betterment of the condition of the factory and tenement operative. and all laws, in effect, at least in the Provinces and States, may be said to be modeled after her own. Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Factories kindly sent me reports of his bureau up to date, which include the report of the Principal Lady Inspector, who has five female assistants. In the words of the chief, Mr. D. Arthur Whitlegge, "This report speaks for itself." In examining it, I find that the work of the women inspectors in England goes more into detail, and that the laws governing women's work are even more rigorous than in the States. The fact that the report records many prosecutions shows that not alone on this side of the water are there attempts to evade the law; and also that the same difficulty exists as to the ability of the inspector to secure evidence necessary for conviction.

After I had written this paper, I was interested in reading on the woman's page of the New York Tribune of August 13th, an article from the pen of Miss Carty, of Toronto, who represented the Dominion in the Woman's Council recently held in London. A brief extract may be properly inserted here.

ENGLAND'S GOVERNMENT INSPECTORS.

"In England there are six women government inspectors of factories, who are receiving the highest encomiums for their work. Mrs. W. P. Byles, of Bradford, England, who has been for twenty-three years on the governing body of the Bradford Girl's Grammar School, says that no workers are discharging more responsible duties to society than these women inspectors. Future domestic legislation will be to a large extent inspired and molded by them, and the organization of industry and of the homes of England in the years to come will bear the impress of their insight, their intelligence and their devotion.

"Miss Anderson, the chief of these inspectors, in commenting recently on the work done, mentioned as an interesting proof of their capacity that, in 1897, out of 92 prosecutions, 86 convictions were secured; and in 1898—speaking only from memory—204 convictions were obtained out of 207 cases that were investigated."

From a letter received from one of the Provinces I quote: "Our lady inspectors have been connected with the service for two years, and have done much good, especially in small shops which had not been reached. We anticipate a bright future, and rely very much on their active and earnest collaboration."

From one of the Western States, in referring to the special work of a woman, the writer says: "Her work was eminently satisfactory, and it is my firm opinion that, in each city where there is more than one inspector employed, one or more female inspectors are necessary."

From another Western State, the chief writes: "Our Department consists of seven men and five women. The women do general work, the same as the men, and their work is equal to that of the men. They get over the same amount of work, and there are no favors shown to them. We find their work quite as satisfactory as that done by men."

From still another Western State, the chief writes: "We do not use lady inspectors in factory work, but they are employed to collect labor statistics and matters relative to female employment. We also give them special work in factories, which we think gives us better results."

From the chief of one of our busiest Eastern States comes the following: "The women inspectors of this department have done very good work, and, as a rule, are well received by all the employers." From another one of our largest manufacturing States of the East, the chief, a pioneer, in the work of factory inspection, writes as follows: "My views in the matter of the appointment of women factory inspectors have been often expressed, and are so well known it seems hardly necessary for me to repeat. I would say, however, I have always been a strong advocate for the appointment of women. I have found them in my own department to be of great benefit to the class for which the industrial laws were enacted, especially so in the matter of the employment of women and children. They can obtain information which the male members of the department can not so readily get, and better understand the wants of women and minors, and can, I think, more effectually secure for them the benefits intended for them by the laws. I advocated the appointment of women factory inspectors in England, upon request being made to me as to their usefulness, and I find that the legislative powers in England appointed some six, who have been, according to their reports, very efficient, and have secured good results."

Last, but not least, from one of our smallest States, but one containing more factory operatives to the square mile than any other, the chief writes: "In answer to your request for my estimate of women as factory inspectors, I would say (and I think it covers the whole ground) that they are indispensable to the intelligent and effective work of factory inspection, if of course the proper person is selected. I think, above all, she should be a mother, and, where possible, familiar with factory life."

I may say in passing that I naturally refrained from asking the chief of my own State for his estimate of the ten women inspectors in his department.

From a large manufacturer and employer of both men and women, I have the following letter:

ALBANY, N. Y., August, 1899.

Mrs. A. L. GREENE:

My Dear Madam.—In my dealings with factory inspectors I find ladies as accurate in their criticisms and as observing in the inspections as men are; and where female help are employed, they have the advantage of being able to ask questions of them which it would not be proper for men to put. I have thus far found them very just. In my opinion the employing of women for inspectors is wise on the part of the States.

Yours truly,

RUSSELL LYMAN.

Perhaps sufficient has been said of the qualifications and estimate of women as inspectors, and it seems not out of place to digress from the subject and pass on to some observations and experiences gained in the work. In the exercise of my duties, I have been strongly impressed with the utter lack of interest taken by local boards of health in certain laws which are mandatory and specifically left to them to enforce. These laws were enacted for the benefit of a class of women and children who do not come under factory inspection. I refer to the provisions as to child-labor, and the furnishing of seats in mercantile establishments. While inspecting the workrooms of large department stores, I have sorely felt the injustice of the ability to require them only in those rooms, while powerless to do so behind the counters; and also not to be able to prevent the employment of children under fourteen as cash boys and girls. Not until the Factory Inspection Department has charge of this question, so vital to the health of the great number of working saleswomen, will the law, in most cases, be anything but a dead letter. Politics and questions of policy make the average health board far more fearful of offending the voter than solicitous for the working woman and child. Many times have I been asked: "Can not you do something for the girls and children in the stores?" Dressmakers have told me that they scarcely ever fit a saleswoman who is not out of shape from resting on one foot, while behind the counter.

From the article by Miss Carty, formerly referred to, I find something bearing on this very point, which I will read:

"Miss Carlyle, the woman inspector for factories in Ontario, found that in the large department stores the departments in which goods were manufactured came under the Factory act, and she had supervision of the women and girls working therein, but not over the women and girls in the shop department, though in the same establishment. The local councils of women in Ontario took the matter up, and largely through their efforts the Shops act in its amended form was passed. "Several of the sections in this act are the same as the Factory act: seats must be provided for women, and they must be permitted to use them. A penalty is attached in case any employer endeavors in any way to prevent the seats being used. "In the Province of Quebec the Factory act is very similar to the one in Ontario; the sections on sanitary conditions are very explicit, and they are under the control of the board of health for the Province."

Miss Carlyle, who is here, may be congratulated on her successful efforts in this line of work, and I hope that this example of Ontario may be largely followed by our own State and the execution of this part of the mercantile law be placed under the Factory Inspectors' Department, where it properly belongs.

I have also found systems of fines and deductions, to which no man would submit, and which the law should prevent an employer from imposing upon the wage-earner. In a large millinery establishment in a certain city, I found a copy of rules, intended only for the eyes of the employee, embodying a system of extortions and deductions so unreasonable as to be beyond belief. I found, also, that the employer was cordially disliked by the employees, and was without respect in the community. The law should prevent deductions made beyond actual loss of time. The employer has a remedy in the discharge of a careless and indifferent employee. Making deductions by way of fines, without previous contract, is against English law, and should be so everywhere.

In millinery shops the hours are most elastic and hard to regulate. I have found cases where girls worked into the small hours of Sunday morning, trimming hats for Christian women to wear to church on that day. Orders left early in the week would have prevented this. Many of these customers were working girls, who never for a moment realized that by this delay they were keeping fellow-workers employed twelve, fourteen and sometimes sixteen hours out of the twenty-four. Here is where the Consumer's League can do much good in educating the people to give their orders and to do their shopping early in the day and week.

Another abuse, which has come under my observation, is the custom of many dressmakers and milliners of hiring young girls as apprentices, paying them no wages, with the understanding that they are to be taught the trade. Instead of this they are kept running errands, doing in the meantime some simple sewing, and when the rush of the season is over they are dismissed, with the information that they are not fitted for the work. The following season finds another young girl in the same position, with the same result. It seems to me that there should be a minimum wage, not less than two dollars per week, paid to apprentices in whatever trade they enter.

My observation is that the piece-work system is a most pernicious one. By it wages have been largely reduced, while the nervous strain upon the worker has been increased. The amount of labor necessary to make a fair wage is so great that the average woman must eventually either succumb to nervous prostration or be content to earn very low wages. I found the case of an expert seamstress, formerly a dressmaker, who had taken up work by the piece in a shirt-waist factory, notorious for the low wages paid, and who could only earn, with waists paid for at sixty cents per dozen, two dollars and a half a week, the fines, deductions and thread charged assisting in lowering the amount she should have received.

It has been my experience that the executive officer of a health board often issues children's certificates in a careless and perfunctory way. In a large city, in the office of such a physician, I recently witnessed the following scene: A foreigner entered with his little girl, and, in broken English, requested a certificate for her. The doctor weighed the child, gave the father an affidavit, and sent him to a notary to make an oath as to age. The child looked very frail, and weighed but sixty pounds, and appeared not more than twelve years old. The father, who had regular employment, remarked to me: "She is not very well, but what can a poor man do?" This delicate child was to strip tobacco in a large establishment with other children. The physician did not even test her as to reading and writing simple English, the affidavit of the father being his only consideration. After the man's departure, the doctor said he thought the affidavit false, and yet he issued the certificate, knowing that the law of his State forbade him to do so, unless he was satisfied that the child was fourteen years old and physically able to perform the duties intended. It is unfortunate that some men, holding this responsible position, seem to consider only the extra compensation which they receive for this service. I may say, in passing, that I informed the inspector who was to visit the establishment where the girl was to be employed, and I trust the matter was looked after by him.

The effort to ameliorate the condition of women and child workers has been the cause and foundation of factory legislation, from the time when England, in 1802, passed the first factory acts, making a twelve-hour day, down to 1833, when the first factory inspectors were appointed, and provision was made for the school attendance of children. However, it was not until 1847 that the act was passed, making the legal day ten hours for women and children; but the fact that men could not well work without their assistance, brought about the universal ten-hour day for them, also. All factory legislation in the States, at least, is subsequent to this date.

Benjamin Franklin once said (and this was in the day of the spinning wheel and hand loom): "To work five hours a day would generally do for supplying each member of a civilized nation with the comforts now accessible to the few only, provided everybody took his due share of production." To-day the leisure class is so large that the producer must still wait for the fulfillment of this vision of the future.

Into this field of labor woman has entered as an important and necessary factor. To-day it hardly seems possible that, as late as 1854, the journeyman printers left the office of the Philadelphia Daily Register because two women typesetters were employed. As a contrast, an employer of a large number of men and women in a mercantile and manufacturing establishment recently told me that he could spare the services of all of the men better than those of all of the women. It seems to me to be good judgment that women can, in this day, look after the welfare of this vast number of other women, who are to become the mothers of the brawn and sinew of the State.

The day of the brookside mill and the almost ideal life of the cottage weaver have passed never to return. As we stand at the threshold of the twentieth century and look backward over a hundred years of marvelous discovery and progress, shall we say that we have witnessed the end of this industrial revolution? On the contrary, shall we not conclude that we have simply come to one of the many mile posts on the road of advancement, along which the great army of world workers is marching to new conditions of life and new modes of thought, brought about by the unearthing of hitherto unknown forces and the consequent invention of new mechanisms? Steam, electricity, compressed and liquid air, are to be great factors for the betterment of mankind. Let us hope that with the larger development of the race, made possible by these inventions and the wonderful machinery of our time, the man, the woman, the child, who make the practical use of these mechanisms possible, shall not deteriorate under their mighty power, but shall rather be bettered by the changed conditions, both in mind and body. To see that this is accomplished should be one of the first interests of the State.

Mrs. Greene's paper, as heretofore suggested, provoked a very lively discussion, a number of the old delegates taking sides with the author, while others of the gentlemen delegates and members of trades organizations took advantage of the opportunity to present the evils of women and child labor.

Mr. Gernon stated that he thought every man who could possibly do it should support his wife, daughter or sister, and keep them from taking the places of workingmen, where they invariably brought down the scale of wages. He insisted that employers prefer women in many instances because they are cheap labor.

Mr. Kelly and others spoke very interestingly upon the subject.

Mrs. Martha E. R. Keller, of Pennsylvania, read the following paper, entitled—

FACTORIES AND FACTORY ACTS OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.

Standing upon the threshold of the twentieth century, it is well to pause, and, looking back, behold the warp and woof of the life of the century just closing, into which has been woven, by the busy shuttles of the quickly passing years, the lights and shadows of our aims and efforts, and by the glowing heat of its forges has been fulfilled by the great majority the divine command, "By the sweat of thy brow shalt thou eat thy bread."

While the nineteenth century has been most wonderful in its reaching out and making use of secrets which have been sealed within the bosom of nature from the very beginning, we can not but feel that events and situations, and the deciding of political and philanthropic questions, and what is greater, the far-spreading power of the religion founded by the humble Son of Joseph and Mary, have all conspired to fit this century for its achievements in the sciences and the arts, and its applications of forces and powers which have exceeded the fondest hopes of the alchemists of the past ages, or the wildest flights of the imagination in the more romantic periods.

The more immediate subject of our talk to-day, "Factories and Factory Acts," is as closely allied with the history of the eighteenth century as of the nineteenth; for during the eighteenth abuses of all kinds among the laboring classes were heaping up, until the cry for help became so loud that it reached the ear of monarch and of the law makers.

In the centuries preceding the eighteenth there had been many changes in the industrial situation. We have first the workman who considers the product of his labors as solely his own, which products he can use for his own nourishment, or for barter and sale. Then we have the system where the right of conquest permitted the conquered to be taken home, made slaves, and forced to labor, that the master might eat, live and take his ease, giving to the "drawer of water and the hewer of wood" only that portion which was necessary to sustain life.

When the Romans retired from Britain their great works established for the manufacture of textile fabrics of metal and of earthenware were closed, and for eight or nine hundred years there were no factories. The nearest approach to these were the quarters for workmen found near religious houses, or to the establishments of barons and of the king. The work was not done under any system nor for any profit, but for use. England had by this time become largely an agricultural country, raising sheep and sending the wool out of the country, to be again returned in the form of rich fabrics, and at a much increased cost. Each baron or lord had his adherents who in time of peace tilled the soil or worked the loom, and in time of war followed him to the battlefield, in return for which services he and his family were provided with the most frugal necessities of life.

During the reign of Edward III the "black death" made its appearance, and, because of its reduction of the population, was largely responsible for the abolition of serfdom and villanage. The making of woolen cloths now became an industry, and some of the phases of the factory system began to appear. This industry was fostered by Edward, and at the suggestion of his queen, Phillipa, he invited one John Kempe, a Flemish manufacturer of textiles, to come to England with his skilled workmen, or, as the invitation ran, "with his servants and apprentices of the mysteries, and his goods and chattels, and his dyers and fullers," and they were promised protection and assistance. So, by act of Parliament, the woolen manufacturers were first established in England, in the town of Kendal, manufacturing the cloth that was known to Shakespeare as "Kendal Green." Previous to the time of Edward III, English wool was largely in demand on the Continent; and now, the better to protect this new industry, Edward forbade the export of wool under punishment of life and limb, and obliged his people to wear, as he himself wore, only the natural cloth. From this time on, by legislation and protection, England took care of its woolen industries until the time of Elizabeth, when free importation of wool was permitted, and some historians point to the fact that during this queen's reign the manufactures made the most rapid progress.

During subsequent years extraordinary expedients were resorted to, and Charles II went so far as to declare that all dead bodies should be buried in woolen shrouds, which act remained in the statute book for one hundred and twenty years.

During the reign of Elizabeth, charity schools and poorhouses were established, which in after years were to form a strong factor in the factory system, and ultimately to improve factory conditions.

With the breaking of the feudal system came the break-up of the guilds, and there was no organization of labor or industry outside of towns. Foreigners, particularly artisans, did not go into towns, but selected some piece of ground near to these cities, and thus secured to themselves a living, and to add to his little income he gradually began to manufacture on a small scale. It was not unusual for a farmhouse to have three or four looms in it. The wife and daughters would attend to the churning, cheese-making, carding and spinning, while the farmer and his sons or apprentices would till the soil, and in the long evenings of the winter would work at the loom. In this way they rendered themselves independent, and each family was a factory in itself. At this time it was all hand labor, and it can readily be understood that it required the labor of six or eight hands to prepare and spin the yarn sufficient for the consumption of one weaver. It would thus require the help of every member of the family, and it was no unusual thing for children as young as three years of age to assist in this work. In these times the worsted manufacturer would collect the wool, have it combed and carded, and then carry it around to the house to be spun into yarn. The yarn was then gathered and distributed among the weavers. Thus by the latter part of the eighteenth century small master manufacturers had greatly increased.

About this time improvements had been made in the stocking loom, a great demand for yarns springing up, and new materials were sought everywhere. The cotton wool, a new material in weaving, was now given its impetus, which was to be most important in the modern factory system. Contemporary with this, we have another industry which proved one of the great factors of the nineteenth century. England had great deposits of coal and iron ore. The iron manufacture by the middle of the eighteenth century had almost come to a standstill, owing to the destruction of the once plentiful woods of England, which were used for coke. In 1756 making iron by the use of "pit coal" was successful, and the manufacture of iron again began to be one of the principal industries.

By the middle of the eighteenth century the first factory, in the present sense of the word, was built by the Lombe Brothers. It was a silk mill, and the first in which the motive power was supplied from the outside, and machinery did the work heretofore supplied by human hands. The power used was a water wheel. This naturally set inventive minds to work with a view to supplying like mechanisms to other grades, and many inventions sprang up, particularly for using the cotton wool. Arkwright now came to the front with his water frame, so-called because water was the motive power. There now began a rapid development in spinning machines, and as it was first applied to cotton, we have the explanation how it was in connection with this produce, the earlier triumphs of the factory system were won.

We have now reached the beginning of the nineteenth century, and the modern factory system has become an established one to be developed and improved as the necessity arose. It is now that the child-labor question becomes an all-important one. As the mills were first established by the streams, so that its wheels might be moved by power, it often happened that labor could not be had in the vicinity. Application was made to the almshouses for children who were indentured or bound out at a fixed rate, and for a certain length of time. Forced to work whether sick or well, often sixteen hours a day, and given nothing for breakfast but water porridge, which they would eat as they worked, with forty minutes for dinner, and, again eating their supper as they worked, the food so poor and scant that some of them were known to steal the food that had been thrown to the swine. When suspected of an intention to run away, they had chains fastened from ankle to hip, and in these chains worked all day long, and wore them in walking to and from their work. These children were visited with serious epidemics from time to time, and the attention of the public being thus aroused, we have in 1802 the first factory act for the "Preservation of the health and morals of apprentices in cotton mills;" and, to his honor be it said, it was introduced by Sir Edward Peel, one of the large manufacturers of that time. All mills employing three or more apprentices, or twenty other persons, were subject to this act. The most important clause was that which fixed twelve hours as a working day, and prohibited work altogether from 9 p. m. to 6 a. m. This act, however, was intended only for those factories which brought their labor from a distance.

The use of steam power now caused the growth of factories near large towns and the act of 1819 was called into being, and it declared that no child should be admitted to work under nine years of age; and between that age and sixteen were restricted to twelve hours a day, with one and a half hours for mealtime.

It is largely due to Robert Owen, the great economist of his time, that these bills were passed, for he worked for years in vain endeavors to have Parliament pass laws that would take care of the women and children employed in all mills. He obtained from the elder Peel a promise to take up his bill forbidding the employment of children under ten years of age, and limiting them to ten and a half hours for a working day, and was to apply to all mills. Peel produced a bill to be applied only to cotton mills. Owen wrote many letters to prominent people, and took part in many meetings on labor questions, and gradually the child-labor question was taken up by the people. The revelations made before some of the committees of Parliament made a deep impression upon the minds of the members, so that committees of sympathizers were formed to watch the action of the legislation. In 1830 Richard Oastler was appalled by a description of the evils of the child-labor system, and gave up position, leisure and fortune to secure better legislation. He published a letter headed "Yorkshire Slavery," and after the appearance of this letter the movement became a popular one. The Duke of Sussex became interested, and a Society for the Improvement of Factory Children was established.

It is interesting to note the change in the character of the factory acts. The first took care only of children and of sanitary conditions, and applied to cotton mills alone. Presently the legislation was extended to all textile mills, and finally a most important provision was made, bringing adult labor directly under the care of the factory acts, in 1844 and 1847. It also extended protection to women, and the fencing of dangerous machinery was made obligatory.

At the time the first royal commission on factory labor was appointed, its members were in favor of a ten-hour bill, but considered these hours too long for children so proposed to reduce them to eight, but were at a loss to know what the children were to do during the two hours. The suggestion was made that this time be spent in the schoolroom. From this small and almost insignificant beginning has come the system of compulsory education, which, once it comes to a country or State, comes to stay. In tracing these events as they occurred in England, we accord to her the rightful place of leading in these factory movements. Prussia followed in 1859, France and Germany soon after, and Russia in 1881.

In studying the manufacturing history of our own country, we have nothing to show until after the Revolution, because of the prohibition of manufactures by the mother country, but with the history of the United States began the history of its manufactures. During the first years nearly all the branches of mill and factory industries were undertaken, yet we obtained scarcely a respectable standing among the nations of the second rank, and this, in spite of the aids afforded by our minerals, and our forests, and the wonderful production of cotton which so largely entered into the textile manufactures of the day and age.

We were still an agricultural people, for our rich farming lands offered an inducement to the agricultural elements of other countries, and in particular of England, where the small farms had been gradually absorbed in the larger holdings, and the independent small farmer had almost passed out of existence.

In the earlier years of our factory system we closely resembled that of England, where each home had its spindles and loom, to fill the needs of its own members, the flax and cotton being grown, spun and woven, by the individual householders, or the slaves on the plantations. We may have some idea of the extent of this work when I tell you that Jefferson is said to have required two thousand yards of cloth to supply his family and servants with the needed clothing.

England frowned upon all manufactures in her own colonies, and would allow no machinery, or parts of machinery, to be brought to this country, even forbidding the raising of sheep for the wool trade. But England could not fetter the brain, nor forbid the inventive genius; and Slatter and his associates, coming to this side in the latter part of 1700, brought with them the knowledge and the patience and the skill, which, in 1803, placed upon the banks of one of the picturesque streams of Massachusetts the first cotton mill in America.

These mills, beautifully situated, and, unlike the English mills, built with some pretensions to beauty, became a thing of joy. The class of operators first employed was drawn from the homes of the rural community, the women of these homes bringing with them a purity of thought, a refinement of manner, and an independence of action, the influence of which is still felt; and as labor emigrated to our shores, and these women stepped from the looms and spindles into broader and more intellectual fields of labor, their places were filled by the better class of operators from England and Ireland, these in turn giving way to a less desirable people from Continental Europe.

The first mill to take cotton in its crude state, and pass it through the different processes to the woven cloth, was erected in Waltham, Mass., in 1813.

The first glass works appeared in Pittsburg in 1796.

With the utilization of steam and the wonderful mineral resources at our command, manufactures became varied; and, new forces giving rise to greater thought, we had inventions of all kinds, many of which are distinctively American, and have greatly influenced industries in the Old World as in the New. We have the pistol and the typewriter. The sewing machine, first run by human agency, then by water, and finally by steam or electricity, has been gathered by hundreds into factories, until certain branches of trade are revolutionized and unpleasant, and formidable conditions have been evolved with which we are contending to-day, and economic questions have been raised which are yet to be solved.

The ready-made clothing industry began about seventy years ago in New Bedford, Mass., where clothing was made to supply the pressing needs of sailors returning from whaling voyages. It is not known who was the first man to start this business, but certain it is that it has a strong hold upon the business life of to-day. George Opdyke, who at one time was mayor of New York, was one of the earliest to engage in this work. The clothing made by his firm was of the coarsest grade, largely intended for the field hands in the South. The Civil war gave a great impetus to the trade. It is interesting here to note that in the infant days of this business there was but one Hebrew in the wholesale business, but a large number were in California in the retail business. To-day the wholesale business is largely in the hands of Jews, while the retail end of it is in the hands of Christians.

In 1865 the value of the ready-made clothing amounted to $27,000,000; in 1890 $800,000,000, and three-fourths of the woolen cloth made in this country is consumed by the manufacturer of ready-made clothing. The manner of doing the work has also made great advances, and what it took twelve men to do in 1874 can be done in 1890 by one man. Into this line of industry has drifted a class of foreign labor, which, to-day, harasses and vexes the public, and more particularly the factory inspector. We have the Italian and the Russian Jew, who seem to abhor all pursuits that make the hands hard and sinewy; who are often not in sympathy with our laws, and have been so hounded and oppressed in their own country that to evade the law seems easier to them than to observe it. They have brought with them their uncleanly habits and their gregarious natures, and by their encroachments are driving out of the sewing factories a better class of American labor; and by their sweating and undermining, are bound to raise an issue before long which, as a nation, we can not let pass unheeded, and to which the better class of wage-earners is becoming awakened. It would be wise to deny this impoverished and often criminal class a home in this country. These people are willing, nay, anxious, to send their children into the workshop and the mill at a tender age, while at 36 the parent feels he is entitled to retire from the ranks of the working people and subsist upon the earnings of the junior members of the family. To our honor be it said that so long as the average American can raise his hand, or move his foot, he is not too old to work. With us labor is dignified, and closely allied with the social system of the country.

In 1890 there were in the United States 11,802,840 male and 3,297,363 female wage earners.

In 1795 four-fifths of the population were English speaking; in 1890 one-half claimed the English tongue.

In 1890 nearly 15 per cent., or 9,249,547 of the whole population, were foreign born; and Carroll D. Wright, in one of his papers, says that while this may not have lessened the wages given, it has materially retarded the increase.

The nineteenth century has been one of progress in the labor world, for the factory system has absorbed every industry. There are to-day, few occupations in which women are not represented, and many in which children are employed. To care more particularly for these two classes, the different States have made laws which stand between the greed of the parent on one hand and the indifference of the employer on the other. Massachusetts passed the first ten-hour law in 1874, and leads the other States in its factories acts. Pennsylvania is at the close of its first decade, and many other States are in line.

It would be a good thing for this convention to decide whether, where child labor is employed, it would not be well to have a physical test, rather than an age limit alone; for often a child of 14 is immature and weak, and thus unfitted for a continuous 10 hours' work, while a child of 12 may be sturdy and robust, and find it no hardship to perform a long and tedious task.

"The twentieth century," says Chauncey Depew, "will be a truth-seeking century, as the ninteenth has been one of invention and experiment." We have had our Fulton and our Stephenson in steam power; our Franklin and Morse and Bell and that most wonderful man of all, Edison who have joined to give us the position we hold to-day in the world of the sciences and arts.

At the close of this great century in which it has been our privilege to live, we find that the world has added in science and literature more than in the palmy days of Greece and Rome, and a development in mechanical arts, in manufacturers and in agriculture, far beyond the experiences of preceding centuries.

We have witnessed an era noted for its humanity and liberty. The difficulties between capital and labor are beginning to be adjusted by arbitration, just as difficulties between countries are overcome. "To-day," says one of our foremost men, "after 100 years, the American farm has become the granary of the world." The American loom and spindle, furnace, factory and mill, supply the wants of 70,000,000 people in our own land, and send annually over $200,000,000 in value of products abroad for other countries. American invention of this side the Atlantic has cheapened the cost of production on this side, to the advantage of American wages, and the principles of the Declaration of Independence have done the rest.

STATE CONVENTIONS OF FACTORY INSPECTIONS.

Resolved, That this convention recommends to the several State and Provincial departments represented herein, the advisability of calling together, once in each year, all the working force in each department, for the purpose of securing the uniformity in interpretation of laws that is so essential in order to get the best possible results from the operation of all laws referred to the factory inspectors for enforcement; and further, That the State or provincial gathering select the representatives to attend the sessions of the Convention of The International Association of Factory Inspectors.

Committee recommends the adoption of the foregoing.

JOHN WILLIAMS,
W. S. MULLIN,
F. M. CAMPFIELD,
Committee.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The president then announced that the convention had practically concluded its other worlk, and would now proceed to the annual election of officers, calling Mr. Harris, of Illinois, to the chair.

Upon motion of Hon. Rufus R. Wade, of Massachusetts, the secretary was instructed to cast his ballot for the election of Mr. James Campbell, of Pennsylvania, who was declared by the chairman the newly elected president for the ensuing year.

Messrs. Thomas B. Shaw, of Pennsylvania, and Kelly, of New York, were chosen to act as tellers.

The chair announced that nominations were in order for the position of first vice-president. Mr. Williams, of New York, placed in nomination the name of Chief McLean, of Connecticut; and J. W. Bath, of Ohio, was placed in nomination for the same place. (Through some error of the secretary in the last report Mr. Bath's name was substituted by Anderson, when the first named was really elected first vice-president. The discovery was not made until the present moment of the proceedings when the secretary apologized for the mistake which he was unable to account for.)

The convention then proceeded to ballot for the candidates, and a few moments later the tellers announced the vote to be as follows: For Mr. Bath 28 votes, and for Mr. McLean 18 votes.

Upon motion of Mr. McLean, Mr. Bath was declared the unanimous choice of the convention for first vice-president.

Upon motion of Mr. Mullin, the secretay was instructed to and did cast the vote of the convention for Mr. McLean as second vice-president of the association, and result was so announced by the chair.

Upon motion of Hon. Rufus R. Wade, the secretary was instructed to cast the vote of the convention for Mrs. Green as third vice-president, and the chair so announced the result.

Upon motion of Mr. Mullin, the secretary was instructed to and did cast the vote of the convention for Mr. Guyon for fourth vice-president, and the chair declared his election.

Chief Cox, of Michigan, was re-elected secretary and treasurer by a unanimous vote of the convention, and upon motion of Mr. McAbee of Indiana, Mr. Harris, of Illinois, was chosen assistant secretary-treasurer.

THE PLACE OF HOLDING THE NEXT CONVENTION.

At this juncture, following the election of officers, Chief Wade, of Massachusetts, made a lengthy and telling speech in favor of the association's going to Charleston, S. C., to hold its next annual convention, representing that that State had no factory inspection laws or recognized department of State, and that the influence of the convention would help to build up the same, and would meet a cry that was coming up from the working people from that section who had to labor from 16 to 17 hours per day. He stated that he made the appeal in the name of labor and the people of South Carolina, and concluded with the motion that the next convention be held at Charleston, in 1900.

This motion of Mr. Wade's provoked a very lively and animated discussion.

Mr. McLean, of Connecticut, stated that while he felt very kindly to Indiana, there was a louder call from the South, and that if we could do any good for the working people of that section, he thought we ought to go there.

A CRY FROM INDIANA.

Chief McAbee, of Indiana, then flew to his feet in defense of his own invitation, and thought it very strange that the convention should feel so deeply interested in going south at this particular time when they had promised to come to Indiana, and he expressed his belief that the movement made in the interest of South Carolina was more in answer to the call for protection of the Eastern manufacturers than from the overworked laborers of the south. He was always a friend of the working men, and was trying to better the condition of deserving laborers and factory workers in the Hoosier State where his department was but in its infancy.

Mr. McAbee then read the following:

In extending you an invitation to hold your next session in Indianapolis I am aware of the fact that I am asking you to come to a city that has not the attractions that many of the older cities of the continent have, and of which they are so justly proud. We can not point you to anything ancient, for we are comparatively a new city; but we are so near the center of population that it is necessary for our visitors to come from all points of the compass in equal numbers so as not to disturb the equilibrium of the continent. Hence we will have to have more inspectors from the west of us than we have here, and by this means we will receive an infusion of new blood as well as extend the influenece of our association. I reminded you last year that our Statehouse was the wonder and admiration of the architects of the world; the fact still exists, and why can be pointed out to you when under its dome. Other cities point to their monuments erected in honor of their soldiers; our soldiers' and sailors' monument is so much greater and grander that we do not have to point to it. It attracts your attention by its magnitude, architecture, and sculpture, and has been pronounced by critics the greatest soldiers' monument in existence. Niagara carries the palm for nature's greatest waterfall; the fountain at the base of the monument is the largest artificial fountain on any continent. The groups, representing war and peace, carved from native stone, are the largest made since the days of the ancient Greeks. We have no rivers or bays on which to take up your time with excursions, so ours is a good city in which to attend strictly to business. Our cycle paths are acknowledged to be superior to any yet built, with more shade, beautiful scenery, and no hills; you can have a century run without getting out of sight of the city or in the direct rays of old "Sol. In fact Admiral Brown, who has circumnavigated the globe repeatedly, says that we are the most beautiful city in the world. It is to this city that I extend to you an invitation to hold your convention of 1900.

After a lengthy discussion the convention voted to accept the invitation to hold its next session at Indianapolis.

ORDERED PRINTED.

The following pages contain several very excellent papers that were ordered printed in this report, which will be fully appreciated by all interested in the mission of the factory inspector and reform legislation.

"THE FACTORY—THEN AND NOW."

THOMAS B. SHAW.

The difference between a factory in the days of our fathers and one of the present generation, is as the crude drawing of a house by a child, differs from the finished drawing of a mansion by a learned architect.

The beginning of the factory seems to have begun with the spinning wheel. The earliest method of spinning by hand was with the spindle and distaff; a bunch of carded fiber of cotton, flax, or wool was held upon a distaff under the left arm, while with the thumb and fingers of the right hand the thread was twisted to the right size, the only guide for evenness and regularity of texture being the delicacy of touch in the hand of the operator. As the thread was twisted, it was wound upon a spindle. With this simply and seemingly rude process, very fine and even thread was often made.

The use of the spinning wheel as an improved method of twisting the thread was introduced into England in the time of Henry VIII; by this invention the production of thread was greatly increased, but the industry was chiefly a domestic one, and really a process of hand labor.

The application of machinery to spinning thread began in England in 1767 by James Hargreaves's invention of the spinning jenny; an improvement on this machine was made by Richard Arkwright, who introduced the principle of spinning by rollers which draw out the rolls of the carded fiber. As these rolls are in sets of two, each set revolving faster than the last, the roll is extended sometimes four times its original length. This improvement and others introduced by Arkwright, enabled him to make a thread even and firm enough to be used in weaving for both the warp and the filling.

The next improvement was a machine which combined the jenny and the roller spinning, and was called the mule jenny, or as generally known, the mule. The original machine used from 20 to 30 spindles, but this carried over two thousand, and needed the attention of only a single operative, and two boys called piecers.

The next improvement was the self-acting mule. It was at first rather crude, and needed a great deal of attention, but now it has been so simplified and improved that it can be run as easily as a hand-mule. It will produce one-third more than the old kind, and at much less cost.

From the earliest time some appliance must have been used for transforming the tangled masses of cotton and wool, into an even texture ready for spinning. This was done by means of cards made of bits of wire fitted into strips of leather or of wood. These are the hand-cards which were used when spinning was the regular occupation of the women in every family. Carding machines have improved from time to time along the line with the improvements of other machines.

The first loom for weaving was the hand-loom. The factories furnished the yarn, and the weaving was done in the houses. After the introduction of steam power, the work was taken from the homes, and weaving sheds were built.

The series of inventions which has led up to the marvelous ingenious loom of the present day, began with the invention of the fly-shuttle (so-called because of the rapidity of its motion), by John Kay, of Bury, in 1733. Previously to that, the shuttle was thrown by the weaver's hand across and through the warp threads, from side to side of the web. His invention brought the plain hand-loom practically into the form in which it is at present. The power-loom fought its way to supremacy but slowly, for an imperfect power-loom is no better than a hand-loom; but after many changes and improvements had been made, the real advantage of power-loom weaving became assured. There was much strong opposition to the power-loom at first, so much, in fact, that the first mill into which it was introduced in Lancashire, England, was burned down.

The first successful power-loom was invented by Rev. Edmund Cartwright, about 1787. A cause which delayed the adoption of these looms, was the necessity for stopping the machine frequently to dress the warp as unrolled from the beam. The employment for this purpose of a man for each loom, prevented any saving of expense. In 1802 Johnson & Radcliffe, of Stockport, England, obviated this difficulty by producing the dressing machine, by which the dressing of the warp is completed before it goes into the loom. Later, Horrocks & Marsland, also of Stockport, further completed the improvement of the loom for being driven by steam-power.

The Jacquard apparatus is the most important appliance which has ever been adapted to weaving. By this, it has become possible to produce the most intricate pattern with the same certainty, and almost the same rapidity, as plain cloth. The credit of this machine is due to Joseph Jacquard, a Frenchman. He was requested by Napoleon, in 1801, to examine, and improve on a complicated loom, and he undertook to produce a simple appliance to supplant the involved mechanism.

During the Revolutionary war, the population of America was dependent for its supply of cloth of all kinds upon its own exertions, and after the Revolution, motives of economy led to fostering this, among other branches of domestic economy. There was great difficulty in getting any models of England's improved machines for spinning and weaving, so America's ingenuity was called into action, and in 1787 a cotton factory was established in Beverly, Mass. Soon mills were started here and there, and in a short time our manufacturing vied with the mills on the other side of the ocean.

In the early days, the working hours were from 6 o'clock in the morning, until 8 o'clock at night; children from 8 years of age began work at 6 o'clock in the morning, worked until 8, had a half-hour for breakfast, then worked until 12, after the dinner hour, they went to the factory again, and worked until 8 o'clock at night. The evil of this began to be apparent, and in 1802, an act was passed for the preservation of health and morals of apprentices, and other employees in cotton and other mills. The immediate cause of passing this bill was the fearful spread through the factory districts of epidemics, which made dreadful havoc among the young workers. Long hours of labor and crowded mills were the causes of this spread of disease.

The agitation among the workmen began at this time, working for shorter hours. Unions were formed, and they were clamoring for a restriction of non-adult labor to ten hours a day. A ten-hour bill was finally passed in England in 1847. In 1833 an act was passed in England, appointing factory inspectors to watch over the working of the factory laws. The ten-hour law was passed in Pennsylvania in 1849. This was a great benefit to the laboring classes. This law was the outcome of the strife which had lasted for many years. The provisions of the law, however, were often violated, and finally the people demanded the passage of a factory act, which was passed in 1889, appointing factory inspectors to enforce the law.

As the machinery improved in both quality and quantity of production, the increased speed became a menace to life and limb of the operatives; no thought was given to the guarding of any of the dangerous parts, and accidents became so frequent that finally an act was passed by the government that all dangerous parts of machinery must be guarded. Now we find the carding machine with its rubber gearing, the feed-shaft, the side draw gearings, which were always dangerous, all guarded; the spinning machine, with its dangerous gearing of wheel-head and roll-gearing covered; the loom with its shuttle guard; the finishing machine with its dangerous parts guarded, all dangerous belting cased; the protruding set-screw, not only on machinery, but on shafting all made flush with sollars; the elevator with its automatic gates or doors; the fly-wheel pit guarded; the fire escape, which saves many lives when all other avenues of escape are cut off.

Another great advance from the old to the new, is in the ventilating and sanitary arrangements. In the old-time factory, no thought was given to either of these departments, but now we find ventilators, exhaust fans, and other means of ventilation; dressing rooms and all the latest sanitary arrangements for the comfort and health of the employees.

Factory inspection is, in a great measure, the cause of the improved condition of the factory. For this, we deserve congratulations; but a factory inspector can never cease his vigilance, and may he speed on the good work until the factory is the perfection of perfections, and the working people are still further advanced physically, intellectually and morally.

FACTORIES AND FACTORY LAWS.

H. L. SCHNUR, OF NEW YORK.

Mr. President, Delegates of the Convention, Ladies and Gentlemen:

There exists no single circumstance which more remarkably distinguishes the present from the past than the vast extent and perfection of the productive power of man in the industrial field. When he tamed steam, the era of industrial changes and progress was entered upon. Previously to this it appeared as if the mind of man would never comprehend mechanical art. He could apply the power of wind and water to his uses to a limited extent, and in theory reached out for steam as a motive power, but up to this century the application of it proved illusive to his hopes, and he pursued the slow methods, and used the crude contrivances of primitive times. While past ages furnished unsurpassed models for art, literature, the drama, and the fundamental laws of civil government, the practical application of mechanical science seemed unattainable. It was not until the development of machinery brought about a revolution that the link was broken which formerly connected the farm with the workshop. Factories grew up, and men abandoned the fields. Favored by the powerful impulse given to mechanical science by the great era of inventions, countries developed their manufactures. The necessary machinery was created, and production of manufactured goods went on at a gigantic pace, and new life was imparted to all civilized people. It opened an era of activity, set in motion countless pieces of machinery, brought together an army of useful people and opened wider fields of industry for men, and women also. As an instance of the remarkable change which has taken place in this country: In the year 1840 but seven vocations, outside of the home, were open to them, while to-day women can be found in no less than forty-four hundred different occupations, and to only a few general branches is she a stranger.

It is difficult to point to any one of our industries which has been most largely affected by the introduction of machinery as a substitute for hard labor. What appears the most striking and important is agriculture. Every branch of it has been revolutionized by the introduction of machinery. Labor-saving machinery and mechanical appliances have found their way into the mines, the field, and the forest, and unskilled labor has been superseded in a greater or lesser degree in general laborers' work.

Coincident with this changed state of affairs the law-making arm of governments was confronted with certain abuses which called for immediate remedial legislation. At first general laws were passed to meet the situations as they presented themselves. It is only within recent years in this country—within the lifetime of us all—that practical factory laws have been put upon the statute books and their enforcement placed in the hands of some responsible department.

One of the first laws in this country for the betterment of the laboring classes was an act prohibiting the system known as "trucking," resorted to so much in New England factories at the time labor-saving machinery was first introduced. By this system the manufacturer required or compelled, by express agreement, the employee to expend the whole or a certain part of his wages at his employer's store (which was generally connected with the mill), in sugar, tea, and other table necessities. Under this abuse, workmen were found obilged to pay articles for articles. It is told that persons paid half a pound of sugar and a penny to have a tooth drawn; that sugar was paid to the druggist to obtain the necessary drugs; and that the sexton was paid with sugar and tea for digging a grave.

When these abuses ceased to exist, others of as great moment presented themselves, which have been met from time to time by legislative action in States where the welfare of the wage-worker appeals to the sympathy of the governing powers.

It is not my intention to present a digest of the factory laws of different States and countries. We are familiar with them, and the reports of the association give them in detail. I wish, however, to call your attention to several enactments which should not be passed over lightly.

We find in the laws of Holland a clause which prohibits certa'n work which is trying to the eyesight, where the workroom is ill-defended from the sun, and where artificial light is necessary in daytime, and prohibits such work unless a light of a certain strength be given. In this same country also the inspector is clothed with unlimited powers in designating what machinery is dangerous.

In France we find one hundred occupations prohibited to women on the ground of harmful dust, vapors or affluvia, danger of burning, and danger of fire and accidents; also a law regulating the weight of an article a child is allowed to carry or lift.

Of the new laws enacted pertaining particularly to factory work in New York State the one prohibiting the employment of children under 16 years of age in operating dangerous machinery or assisting in its operation, is one of the most important. The law does not designate what machinery is considered dangerous, and it is left to the discretion of the inspector to decide the matter. Another section prohibits the employment of a male under 18 years and all females from operating or using any emery, corundum, or stone polishing or buffing wheel. In a late lockout which occurred in a factory located in the western part of the State the question of the enforcement of this section of the law was made a prominent feature of the struggle on the part of the workmen, supported by National Polishers' Union of America. Complaint was made that females were operating buffing wheels contrary to this provision of the law. Investigation disclosed that these females were at work on cotton buffing wheels using rouge as a facing. This being the first application of the new law, and a conflict of opinion existing as to its interpretation, the subject was referred to the attorney-general of the State for a legal opinion. His judgment was that under the reading of the section, as passed, children and females could be allowed to work as heretofore, as no corundum, stone, or emery was used in the operation of the wheels.

Another new section is the law requiring that boilers used for generating steam or heat for factory purposes shall be inspected twice in each year, and a copy of the certificate of inspection filed in the office of the factory inspector. To show to what extent boilers had been neglected in this respect I need only mention that in one week over 600 letters of inquiry were received by the department bearing on the matter.

In New York State the scope of inspection has been enlarged to a vast extent. It is no longer confined to the factories and subjects related thereto. It reaches out into the highway and byway, and touches upon economic question as well. The Legislature of the State at its last session charged the Factor Department with the enforcement of the eight-hour law as applied to public work on State and municipal contracts, requiring that the prevailing rate of wages be paid to all classes of laborers, workmen, or mechanics engaged in such work in its final or completed form in the location where such work is to be erected or used. None but an inspector engaged in investigating cases under this section of the law can comprehend the work and responsibility placed upon him by this provision of the law. He is the judge and jury, and he finds it one of the most difficult matters to handle. On his findings may depend the annulment of a contract. The board, department, or officer having charge of such work must, if the inspector reports the complaint well founded, take proceedings to revoke the contract of the person failing to comply with or evading such provisions. The penalty for neglect of taking action in such a case is removal from office of the officer neglecting to perform his duty. A number of these cases have been investigated, and in several instances decisions reordered against firms and corporations, and the contracts revoked. Thus far no appeal to the courts has been made for a reversal of such decisions.

The law restricting the hours of labor on street, surface, and elevated railroads to ten hours is one of the acts which it is found hard to enforce, owing wholly to the employees themselves, who are the aggrieved parties. Rather than make sworn statements to be used against their employers they will bear their hardships and refuse to furnish the necessary evidence to substantiate the cases of complaint. Inspectors in Greater New York have had experience in this matter in the late railroad strike in New York and Brooklyn. Complaints were entered that the railroads were openly violating the law. Upon being called upon to cite specific instances for investigation no scintilla of proof was forthcoming. Without such corroborative evidence, cases of this kind would find no standing in court, much less would the department be justified to render a decision on the unsupported evidence of an inspector.

Another law, the inspection of scaffolding, ropes, etc., heretofore under the jurisdiction of the police departments of cities, has been transferred to the Factory Department. Many fatal accidents are the result of insecure and defective scaffoldings used in constructing, repairing, and painting of buildings. Now on complaint the inspector is required to make an immediate examination as to their safety or otherwise. Likewise has the law been amended for the protection of persons employed on buildings in cities, which requires the floors to be laid as the work progresses, and the guarding of shafts in buildings in course of construction where elevating machines or hoisting apparatus is used.

There are other sections which have been placed under the department for enforcement since the last convention of this association. These are the payment of wages by receivers due to employees at the time of their appointment; that preference be given to citizens of the State in employment upon public works; requiring that stone used in State or municipal works be dressed within the boundaries of the State; restraining the illegal use of labels of labor organiations.

A step further and the Factory Department of the State of New York will have the control of every individual working for his daily bread as a hired employee.

We must ever bear in mind that factory legislation is not the result of the wishes of concentrated wealth. These people can and will take care of themselves. It is the result of endeavor and agitation on the part of the wage-earner who finds that as his employer goes up in the world, he sinks lower, and is treated as a mere commodity without soul or future, and finds that as an individual he is forgotten.

Factory laws to bring about the best results should be enforced on commonsense lines. Nothing illogical, arbitrary, or tinged with motives of spite or partiality must be allowed to enter into the consideration of the question. While patient, we should not temporize. Disrespect and indifference to the law bring it into contempt and disrepute. If we find the law is violated, we should bring the arm of the law into play. If the courts do not mete out the deserved punishment, that is their responsibility, not ours. It is only in this way that the laws will be respected. A rigid enforcement of its provisions will see the sweat-shop abolished, the baker no longer a slave, and the tenement a home instead of a place for the propagation of disease and vice.

GUARDING DANGEROUS MACHINERY.

F. M. CAMPFIELD, OF OHIO.

Mr. President and Members of the Convention:

It is comparatively but a few years since machinery first made its appearance. Prior to that time everything manufactured was hewed and shaped by hand. It was a slow way of production, and the mind of the mechanic set to work to devise a more perfect and speedy method. As a result, there has been perfected a complex construction of simple mechanical elements, such as wheels, levers, etc., with such success that to-day every manufactured article of necessity is a production of this world-wonder known as the machine. It has been so perfected in its construction that each little part automatically performs its duty as if it were inspired with a human mind, and in many instances the machine is now doing the work formerly requiring the services of many men. Does any one cry halt to this state of mechanical progress? Emphatically, no; it is one of the greatest illustrations of the advancement of civilization, and we could not exist without it. We might as well try to prosper without our railroads as without machinery. There have, it is true, been some wonders accomplished in mechanical inventions, yet machinery is still in its infancy, and ere another century I predict almost every branch of manual labor will be performed by a machine. The introduction of machinery has proved itself to be an everlasting benefit to the community, but with it came hazardous employment, and while the machine is competent to turn out perfect work, it is also competent to maim its operator. The inventors of machinery do not seem to look beyond the perfection of production, and the important matter of safety to life and limb has been entirely ignored. It must be admitted that it is an impossibility to make machinery absolutely safe, and while I believe the machine is destined to remain in use so long as the civilized world stands, and just that long will the life and limbs of the people who come in contact with it be subjected to more or less danger; yet machinery can be made reasonably safe, and we believe that we are now laying the foundation on which will rest a system of guarding such machinery that will supply the much-desired object of protecting the life and limb of our people who are compelled, through necessity, to labor in our manufacturing establishments. It is certainly a wide field for operation, and a subject that requires skill and study. We must, however, move along slowly and cautiously, feeling our way, and be sure when we suggest additional protection that it supplies what is needed.

The following are a few of the most dangerous machines coming under our notice: The wood-shaper is known to be one of the most dangerous pieces of wood-working machinery now in existence, yet this machinery can be rendered more than reasonably safe by providing and using shaper-guards. A wood-shaper should never be operated without such guard. Occasionally I find an operator of a wood-shaper who has succeeded in operating this class of machinery without the misfortune of a serious accident, but when I find one thus favored from the thousands who earn their daily bread from such occupation, we come in contact with hundreds who have lost fingers, some hands, and learn of others who have lost their lives.

For the past few years we have had some difficulty in enforcing our orders for the adoption and use of guards for wood-shapers. Various reasons have been advanced against the use of such guards, one to the effect that by fastening the guard to the table of the shaper it interfered with the proper discharge of the operator's duties. This theory, however, has been exploded, from the fact that many persons are now operating just such guards, and say they could not get along without them. To overcome this serious objection was quite a task, as it caused much time and study to devise some means whereby this difficulty could be avoided, and we succeeded by constructing a guard which is a light framework built overhead, securely fastened with keys and braced to the ceiling joists above. The guard is composed of a basket or bell-shaped cylinder, made of bars, encircling the knifehead and knives. The cylinder is securely fastened to a piece of one and one-half inch gas pipe which passes up and down a hollow groove on side of up-rights through an eye-bolt, which, with a washer and thumb screw, can be adjusted and tightened at the height of the thickness of material being worked by the operator, to pass under the guard, and in case of shaping the inside of a circle, there is no difficulty in raising the guard to place the work on the shaper bed, and then lower it, protecting the operator while the machine is in motion. This guard is in general use throughout the State of Ohio, and it gives perfect satisfaction, so far as the guard is concerned, and it can be truthfully said that there has not been reported a single accident from any of the factories in Ohio from wood-shapers where this guard has been adopted and kept in use.

The circular rip-saw is about the most convenient piece of wood-working machinery that is now in existence, and can be classed among the most dangerous. Thousands of men can testify to this by their mangled limbs. The rip-saw can also be made reasonably safe by the use of saw-guards. There are two kinds of saw-guards generally employed in the Ohio factories. Both are very good guards and worthy of recommendation. Frequently an ingenious man will construct something of his own idea, which ofttimes will suffice for his particular work as well, and serve his purpose better than any guard he can purchase. One of the excellent features of the guard known as the Uncle Joe Hand Protector. is its attachments or fastening to the saw-table. There is a brass plate let down into the table in line directly behind the saw. The plate contains several dovetailed grooves, the guard is supported by a spreader made of steel about the thickness of the ordinary rip-saw. On the side of this spreader is fastened two dovetailed strips, and in case of readjustment to remove the guard for any cause, it is simply a question of lifting the guard from its bearings, which is easily done with the hand. The frame of the guard is made of brass, about three-quarters of an inch wide, which comes down over the front of the saw, and on each side is covered with tin riveted to the frame. The frame is provided with two rolls. The saw can be used with guard setting down flat on the table, entirely covering the saw, and when the material desired to be ripped is placed on the table, it will easily rise, allowing the board to slip under. Through the top of the spreader there are four little holes in which a point can be set, which is provided, and the guard can be adjusted according to the thickness of the material being sawed, which position is generally preferred. The O. K. saw guard is a simple guard and is in general use. The guard is supported by a thin steel spreader, which is held in position by a clevis, securely fastened by a bolt to the saw-table, in line directly behind the saw. The spreader is held to the clevis by means of a key. The guard is made of cast iron, which is about one and one-fourth inches wide, hollowed out on the under side. It has no covers on the side. The guard can be adjusted for the use of saws of different sizes by raising or lowering the guard on the spreader, which slips back, and is held by a thumbscrew. The guard is fastened to the spreader by means of a thumbscrew, and is adjusted to the thickness of the work, being made in two pieces, one passing over the other with a round rod passing through a nut. The guard can therefore be made rigid in any position. Any practical guard that covers the top of saw with a spreader in line directly behind the saw will prevent the material from being hurled by reason of getting on top of saw. As to the efficiency and utility of saw-guards too much can not be said, and no rip-saw should be operated without one. It is always practicable to use a saw-guard on a rip-saw, when saw clears the material being sawed; that is, cutting entirely through with one cut.

The wood-jointer is known to be a dangerous machine, in fact classed among the most dangerous of wood-working machinery in existence. It will be found in almost every wood-working establishment in this country. This machine has cause more accidents and maimed more men for life than all other machinery in wood-working establishments combined. After a careful study of the working of this machine and the causes of accidents by its use, we find that they often occur in an unaccountable way, sometimes the cause may be attributed to a change in the grain in the piece of timber being worked, and again by striking a knot in the process of operation, and a number of accidents are caused by the operator's working too small a piece of timber, hurling the piece from the machine and throwing the workman's hand into the knives, and invariably at the side of the piece being worked. Such accidents could readily be prevented by keeping the gauge of the machine set close to the near end of the knives, only exposing a sufficient width of the knives to clear the width of the material being worked. This can be done and is practiced when the knives are sharp and in good trim, but by constantly using them in one place they soon become dull, and the gauge is moved over a little farther, and a little farther, until there is more of the knives exposed, more than the width of the materials being worked, and in case the workman's hand is thrown from his work a serious accident must necessarily follow. Though the most dangerous machine in use in wood-working establishments, it is more simple and easy to provide a guard rendering it reasonably safe, a protection that will reduce accidents from this piece of machinery to a minimum, one that is simple in its construction and adjustable to the surface-plate or bed of the jointer, covering the unused exposure of the knives. This guard consists of a board fastened to the surface-plate or bed of jointer, to cover the opening in the bed allowed for the knives, and without trouble is kept over the knives, close up to the material to be worked, and is fastened by means of a thumbscrew, allowing only sufficient space between the guard and gauge of the machine for the material being worked to pass through. No objection can be made by employer or employee against the use of this device, as it costs the employer comparatively nothing, and has proved in many instances a safeguard against accident to the employee.

This swing-saw is known to be a very dangerous piece of wood-working machinery, and will be found in almost every wood-working establishment. It is simple and easy to provide a guard for rendering it reasonably safe, and protection that will reduce accidents from this piece of machinery to a minimum. This guard consists of a piece of iron three inches in width bent on a radius a little larger than saw, bolted on side of frame and coming down over front of saw as far as mandrel of saw. This will prevent operator's hands from coming in contact with saw, should rope carrying balance weights break, and would prevent serious accident or possible death.

Equalizing saws, such as are used in stave factories, are very dangerous pieces of machinery, not only to the operator, but to other employees around them, as they are very large saws. This machine can also be made reasonably safe by casing in both sides and back of saw; sides to be hung on hinges, so that saws can be removed or filed. This will prevent employees from coming in contact with saws, and prevent anything from falling on to the saw which might cause accident.

To properly guard a band-saw, it is necessary that a casing be placed before the bottom wheel, also casing around top wheel to catch the saw in case it should break or slip off the wheel. This will prevent the saw from kinking, which often causes saws to break at kinked places. The casing in front of the bottom wheel prevents blocks from falling into the same while in motion, which would be hurled with such velocity that, striking the operator, would cause serious injury. The protection in front of the top wheel will catch the saw in case it should break or slip off, preventing its striking the operator, which would do him bodily harm, especially if the saw should become entangled in the bottom of driven wheel.

Circular heading jointers, used in heading and barrel factories, etc., have caused many accidents, which is certainly unnecessary. The circular jointer is a machine with a circular face-plate, with four or more knives fastened thereto. The face-plate is set in motion at a high velocity, with the entire upper half exposed, which varies materially in size, from twenty inches to four feet in diameter. This machine can be rendered harmless by providing a casing over the front of the face-plate, allowing only enough space open or exposed to admit the material being jointed. This attachment is now almost in general use and works to good advantage.

Sandpaper or wood-polishing machines furnish an excellent cause for accidents by the operator getting his hands between the rolls. Numerous accidents have occurred from this source, and some of a very serious nature. The machine is so constructed in its gearing that after the belts have been thrown off of tight on to loose pulleys, the machine will continue in motion for some time, and in case a person should get his hands caught between the rolls, the result is sure to be the loss of the hand or arm, and in all probability a life. We guard against such accidents by providing what we call a safety strip or bar, constructed of metal, placed in front of the top front feed roll, so adjusted that the strip will move with the roll and that the bottom of the strip will be a little above the bottom of the top roll, thus allowing material to be fed between the rolls without any interference, and at the same time prevent the operator's hands coming in contact with the rolls. This mode of protection has prevented many serious accidents and meets with the approval of all who have adopted it. I would say further, that this safety strip or bar can be successfully used on all feed-roll machinery where the danger referred to above is apt to occur, such as on short wood-planers, and I wish to call your attention to the safety-strip referred to in connection with the sand-paper machine. This safeguard was first adopted on what is known as the ironing mangles or ironing rolls, in steam laundries. It is hardly necessary to go into detail of explanation of this machine. We all know that it is a system of hot rolls, used for ironing in all modern laundries to-day, and the machine is generally operated by women. We have had many accidents in Ohio where the operator's hand has been caught between the rolls. Think of such an accident—a person's arm being drawn between two hot rolls of an ironing machine—it does not only crush the arm, but burns the flesh. Poor girls, dependent upon their daily labor for a livelihood, have lost an arm in this way. Such accidents can be prevented almost entirely on these machines by placing the safety-strip, as before described, in front of the top roll, so that the bottom of the strip will be a little above the bottom of top roll, only allowing sufficient open space for the work being ironed to pass. The efficiency of this safeguard has not only been recognized and approved by laundrymen as a valuable attachment, but by the manufacturers of all classes of laundry machinery; it is now being adopted by laundry machinery manufacturers generally, and is being applied to their new work, and the day is not far distant when this class of machinery will be protected in this manner.

SOME STATISTICS IN REGARD TO CONSTRUCTION AND VENTILATION OF SCHOOLHOUSES.

HON. JOHN T. WHITE, OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Mr. President and Members of the Convention:

Probably no law requiring essential changes in methods in common use was ever enacted or enforced without considerable opposition from interested parties, and the law requiring better means of ventilation in school buildings in Massachusetts has been no exception to the rule. The law itself is very simple in terms and may all be summed up in one sentence: That schoolhouses shall be properly ventilated, and that the Inspectors of Factories and Public Buildings shall enforce the law. Nothing is said in the law as to the amount of air that shall be supplied to or removed from the rooms, or how the work shall be done.

Of course it became necessary to formulate some rules for the guidances of the authorities who might be notified by the inspectors that further means of ventilation were required in the buildings under their control, and the following regulations were adopted and approved by the chief of the department of inspection of public buildings, and printed (form No. 83 of that department) and furnished to all interested parties:

1. That the apparatus to be installed will, with proper management, heat all the rooms, including the corridors, to 70° in any weather.

2. That, with the rooms at 70°, and a difference of not less than 40° between the temperature of the outside air and that of the air entering the room at the warm-air inlet, the apparatus will supply at least thirty cubic feet of air per minute for each scholar accommodated in the rooms.

3. That such supply of air will so circulate in the rooms that no uncomfortable draught will be felt, and that the difference in temperature between any two points on the breathing plane in the occupied portion of a room will not exceed 3°.

4. That vitiated air in amount equal to the supply from the inlets will be removed through the ventiducts.

5. That the sanitary appliances will be so ventilated that no odors therefrom will be perceived in any portion of the building.

To secure the approval of this department of plans showing methods of heating and ventilation, the above requirements must be guaranteed in the specifications accompanying the plans.

Approved,

RUFUS R. WADE,

Chief Inspector of Factories and Public Buildings.

Of course, if plans and specifications were presented to an inspector for the ventilation of any schoolhouse which, in his judgment, would not result in a compliance with these regulations, it was incumbent upon him to point out the defects and to suggest such improvements as his experience might indicate were necessary.

At first the requirment for a supply of air of thirty cubic feet per minute for each scholar, and the recommendations of the inspectors for changes in the old methods of heating required to properly introduce and circulate this amount of air in schoolrooms raised a storm of opposition to the law. There were plenty of people who contended that such a supply of air was unnecessary, and that it could not be heated and introduced into any schoolroom without producing uncomfortable draughts, and that the apparatus required to do such work would be so expensive as to be practically prohibitory. Even some architects, who should have known better, asserted that the methods of ventilation recommended by the State inspectors interfered with the proper arrangement of the rooms for educational purposes and largely increased the area and cost of the buildings. I do not think that any architect who has any knowledge of recent methods of ventilation would now pretend to say that such methods in any way hamper him in designing a school building, and it is certainly the case that some of the best ventilated schoolhouses in the State are the best arranged for all other purposes. Nor has the fear of a greatly increased cost in construction proved to be well founded.

I have recently received from Mr. R. J. Condon, superintendent of schools in Everett, a city near Boston, his report for the year 1898, in which he gives some very interesting figures of the cost of one of the schools in that city. Under the head of "Cost of Schoolhouse Construction," Mr. Condon says:

"In 1895 Mr. Edward Atkinson issued a pamphlet on the construction of schoolhouse, in which he attempted to show that schoolhouses were unnecessarily elaborate in construction and were needlessly expensive by external ornamentation, by general plan of interior arrangement, and by unnecessary space devoted to corridors and dressing-rooms. He proposed a schoolhouse built upon the principles of "mill construction," a perfectly plain rectangular building, devoid of all ornamentation, and with a flat roof of tar and gravel. The interior arrangement was to be of the simplest possible character, and was to be designed with the purpose of securing the lowest possible cost of construction. He estimated that this type of building could be constructed at a cost of $1.35 per square foot of floor area, counting all floors." Mr. Condon then goes on to say that "Mr. Edmund M. Wheelwright, under whose supervision nearly all the recently erected schoolhouses in Boston have been constructed," does not believe it possible to reach the low cost of $1.35 per square foot of floor area, and quotes Mr. Wheelwright as saying that he believes that "$1.64 per square foot of floor space is the minimum cost at which a small grammar schoolhouse of four rooms can be constructed as contemplated by Mr. Atkinson. It should be borne in mind that these figures relate to the cost of constructions only; and do not include the cost of heating and plumbing, or the architect's commission."

Mr. Condon then says that "to obtain some standard which shall be of value in determining what a schoolhouse ought to cost, I propose to analyze somewhat in detail the cost of the Lincoln school," recently built in Everett. "This is not a building of mill construction, but of pleasing architectural features, having spacious entrances with ornamental iron work, a slated roof with copper gutters and conductors, instead of tar and gravel. The interior arrangements are almost ideal for comfort and appearance and easy movement of pupils. There are eight class rooms, a principal's office, teachers' rooms, library and reception rooms."

Mr. Condon gives the following figures of the size and cost of this building:

|---|---|
| Total floor area, counting basement and classroom floors | 18,885 sq. ft. |
| Floor space devoted to classrooms | 3,584 sq. ft. |
| Floor space devoted to teachers' rooms, each floor | 330 sq. ft. |
| Floor space devoted to corridors, wardrobes and stairs | 1,910 sq. ft. |
| Floor space devoted to heating and ventilating flues, partitions and closets | 471 sq. ft. |
| Total area inside brick walls | 6,295 sq. ft. |
| Cost of construction | $25,583 00 |
| Heating and ventilation | 2,500 00 |
| Plumbing | 1,516 00 |
| Architect's commission | 1,500 00 |
| Total cost of building | $31,099 00 |

|---|---|
| Cost per sq. ft. of floor surface, for construction, $25,583 divided by 18,885 | 1 35 |
| Total cost per schoolroom, $31,099 divided by 8 | 3,887 38 |

Proportion of total cost of building:

|---|---|
| Construction | 82 per cent. |
| Heating and ventilation | 8 per cent. |
| Plumbing | 5 per cent. |
| Architect's fees | 5 per cent. |

Mr. Condon says, "From the above figures it will be seen that the Lincoln school has been erected at a cost which Mr. Wheelwright declares to be impossible, and at exactly the same cost per square foot of floor area, counting all floors, which Mr. Atkinson figured for a school building upon the principle of mill construction."

I shall now ask your consideration of the figures showing the size and cost of a schoolhouse erected last year in the town of Arlington, and known as the Locke school. This school is built of brick with free stone trimmings, black slate roof, copper gutters, finials, and conductors. It has eight class rooms, and the interior finish is hard wood, treated in the best style of schoolhouse-work, whereas the finish of the Lincoln school is of North Carolina pine. Both buildings are heated by steam, and the plumbing is of the best. There are eight class rooms in the Locke school, 28 x 32, or 896 square feet each, the same as in the Lincoln school. Stated as above for the Lincoln, the figures for the Locke school would be as follows:

| Total floor area, counting basement and class room floors | 17,100 sq. ft. |
| Floor space devoted to class rooms, each floor | 3,584 sq. ft. |
| Floor space devoted to teachers' rooms | 150 sq. ft. |
| Floor space devoted to corridors, wardrobes an stairs | 1,600 sq. ft. |
| Floor space devoted to heating and ventilating flues, partitions and closets | 366 sq. ft. |
| Total area inside brick walls | 5,700 sq. ft. |
| Cost of construction | $21,481 53 |
| Heating and ventilation | 2,323 00 |
| Plumbing | 1,0[illegible]8 74 |
| Plans | 1,050 00 |
| Total cost of building | $25,883 27 |
| Cost per sq. ft. of floor surface, for construction, $21,481.53 divided by 17,100 | 1 25-6 |
| Total cost per schoolroom, $25,883.27 divided by 8 | 3,235 40 |

Proportion of total cost of building:

|---|---|
| Construction | 83 per cent. |
| Heating and ventilation | 9 per cent. |
| Plumbing | 4 per cent. |
| Plans | 4 per cent. |

It will be seen that the cost per square foot of the Locke school, which is in every way a well-built and satisfactory building, is not only below Mr. Atkinson's estimate, but is even below that of the Lincoln school, which Mr. Condon justly claims to be a very economically constructed building.

The next question is, Is the ventilation in these buildings up to the standard set by the inspection department as formulated in form No. 83 above referred to? Both buildings have been inspected and the ventilation carefully tested, and I subjoin in tabulated form a copy of the official reports:

REPORT ON VENTILATION OF THE LINCOLN AND LOCKE SCHOOLS.

| | LINCOLN SCHOOL. | LOCKE SCHOOL. |
|---|---|---|
| Date of inspection | Jan. 12, 1899. | March 24, 18 99. |
| Weather | fair | fair |
| Wind | N. moderate | N. W. moderate. |
| Outside temperature | 22° F. | 36° F. |
| Barometer | 36.6 | 29.9 |
| Temperature of air entering room at inlet, average in rooms | 79° | 79° |
| Air supply to each room, cubic feet per minute | 2003 | 2448 |
| Air supply to each pupil, cubic feet per minute | 40 | 51 |
| Air removed from each room, cubic feet per minute | 2695 | 2904 |
| Air removed per pupil, cubic feet per minute | 54 | 61 |
| Greatest air supply per room, cubic feet per minute | 2212 | 2705 |
| Least supply | 1715 | 2275 |
| Greatest amount removed per room, cubic feet per minute | 3184 | 3642 |
| Least amount | 2280 | 2732 |
| Greatest difference in temperature found in any room at different points on breathing line | 3° | 1° |
| Average difference in temperature in rooms on breathing plane | 1.5° | 9° |
| Average temperature in rooms at teacher's desk | 70.3° | 71° |

It will be seen that in both these schools the amount of air supplied to and removed from the rooms, was largely in excess of that required by the regulations of the inspection department, and that the temperatures noted in the different portions of the rooms were remakably even, in the Locke school especially so. The system of ventilation is substantially the same in both buildings. The rooms are heated wholly by indirect radiation, and the location, size, and arrangement of the supply ducts and vent flues are as recommended and approved by the inspectors. There are eight rooms in the Lincoln school, with seats for 393 pupils, and the Locke school has the same number of rooms, with seats for 381 pupils. The cost of installing the heating and ventilating apparatus in the former is, therefore, $312 per room, and $6.36 per pupil, and in the latter $290 per room, and $6.09 per pupil. I have not selected these two schools for this paper because they are exceptional among the schools of Massachusetts. On the contrary, I believe them to be only fair examples of our recent work in construction and ventilation. The figures I have given show not only that in the ventilation of our schoolhouses we are obtaining results far beyond what would have been thought possible when the ventilation law was enacted, but that instead of increasing the cost of construction as it was predicted we should do, we have reduced that expense even below what such an eminent economist as Mr. Atkinson, and such an expert in schoolhouse construction as Mr. Wheelwright, have given as the minimum cost of such work.

SWEAT-SHOPS.

JOHN H. PLUNKETT.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

In discussing the question of sweat-shops, it will be hardly necessary at this time to go into any explanation of the term now in common use, but more particularly applicable to the clothing trade.

Sweat-shops we have still with us; they exist in every large clothing manufacturing city in the United States, and will continue to exist as long as the conditions which produce them remain an unsettled quantity in the industrial problem. By these conditions, I mean an abundant supply of foreign labor, in an already over-trained labor market. While we are all interested in any movement which will purge the industrial atmosphere of this obnoxious system of employment, and elevate its victims to the level of American manhood and independence, I have as yet found none who has offered a practical remedy.

With the introduction of the "sweating system" in the United States, came a revolution in the clothing industry which has left in its wake destruction and poverty, for, prior to the introduction of this system there were not as a class, a better paid or more comfortably situated people than those engaged in the so-called ready-made clothing trade. Looking backward only a few years, the recollection of a movement in sympathy with a people who were being persecuted by the Russian government, recurs to me; these people were being despoiled of their homes and driven beyond the borders of Russia; other European governments, not being desirous of their company, kept them moving. Finally, through the constant pleading of their advocates, they were directed to the United States, where they might enjoy the blessings of a free government, with the result that within a few years thousands of these people were landed in our seaport cities. Most of these people were not possessed of a knowledge of mechanics, unfitted by nature and education for other than trading pursuits, a majority physically unfit for hard manual labor, and practically penniless. Upon their arrival the sympathy of those who had interested themselves in bringing them here ended; no movement was organized for their care or maintenance, the fact of their coming being sufficient recompense for those who had called them hence. The same conditions which apply to these immigrants from Russia were never experienced before, the average former immigrant from Europe being able-bodied, a mechanic, or only desirous of obtaining laboring work; while with these people there was but the predominating characteristic of their race, their ability as traders. This I do not say to their discredit, but to illustrate the difference between them and other immigrants. Their first duty upon arrival was to procure means to provide food and shelter for themselves and families, and, being without the funds to enter commercial enterprises, the task became a very complicated one.

The manufacture of clothing was carried on to a considerable extent at this time under the contract system, at least in part; the cutting being done under the immediate supervision of the merchants, while the making of the garments was let out to contractors who returned the goods made and ready for sale. The system of manufacturing by these contractors was well organized; and although a knowledge of one particular branch of the business was easily acquired, good wages was the rule, and consequently this business offered the best inducement to these people. There were plenty to take advantage of their poverty and consequent anxiety for employment; the inducement to learn a good paying trade was freely offered to them provided they would work cheap enough to warrant a sufficient return for the knowledge bestowed upon them. It is interesting to relate some of the impositions practiced by these contractors upon the willing aspirants for a knowledge of the tailor's trade. The custom in vogue was that the apprentice (generally a man of a family) should give from one to three months without remuneration, when by force of circumstances he was obliged to stay with his benefactor at a salary of from 75 cents to $1 per day, giving from 12 to 16 hours as a day's work, as long as he was able or obliged to stand these conditions. The profits to contractors employing this class of help was of course enormous. The immense amount of available labor of this class led to a new method of employment which is commonly called the task system, and to which the term "sweating system" was aptly applied; and this was, that a daily or weekly wage-rate was established dependent upon the accomplishment of a certain amount of garments, generally resulting in a return of three to four days' pay for six long days of hard labor.

I have thus far dealt with what to my mind were the causes which led to the introduction of the "sweating system" in the clothing trade; the fact of its existence to-day in a modified form, can not be disputed. The conditions surrounding those employed under this system has been described so often in these conventions that it is not necessary to go into the painful details at this time; but I desire to call your attention to one thing, and it is that whenever the same opportunity presents itself this system will be introduced into other industries; for with the present scientific method of manufacture, that is, the subdivision of labor in the trades, and the constant improvement in machinery, it is only a question of a few days, or at most a few weeks, when the labor of any ordinary man or woman may be made valuable in almost any of the industries of the country; and, wherever there are thousands of idle hands, strangers to the ways and habits of our people, and all allowed to concentrate in certain localities, they will stand as a menace to those employed in manufacturing industries in the immediate surrounding country.

While I have no words of condemnation for these or any people who may seek the freedom and happiness of our American institutions, still I believe that when a movement is started the object of which is to transplant a large number of people from any of the European countries, that some means should be devised whereby they may be given employment, and not be left to their own resources to become the victims of unscrupulous employers and a menace to any one particular industry which is giving employment to thousands of tax-paying citizens. I believe that the question of immigration will never be properly settled until the national government can devise some law which will prevent the colonization of classes of immigrants, and until the question of admitting foreigners is dependent upon the condition of the business of the country; or, in other words, a temporary suspension of immigration during periods of business depression. This to me seems absolutely necessary if the present standard of wages and conditions is to be maintained in the United States. The sweating system, if conducted in workshops located in buildings devoted exclusively to manufacturing purposes, would never have obtained its present prominence in the public mind; but the competition between the employers of labor under this system became so fierce that a bidding for work at reduced prices resulted in a complete revision of conditions; cheaper shops were secured, larger quantities of work per day was imposed upon the employed; finally, the tenement of the contractor was made to answer the double purpose of home and shop. The crowded condition of these tenements, hardly sufficiently large for the accommodation of the family, was intensely increased by the addition of the machinery of trade and the help to be employed, all traces of home privacy were obliterated, sanitary conditions became unmentionable, filth and disease abounded, and the health of the public became endangered by the use of the output of these places. When these conditions were made plain to the people, fear overcame them, and appeals to State Legislatures for the prevention of this system of manufacture were made. These appeals led to the enactment of laws tending to restrict the manufacture of clothing in tenement houses; the first law enacted, like most laws which tend to elevate the conditions of those who are obliged to labor for their living, emanated from the Legislature of Massachusetts; this law provided that whenever any house, room, or place used as a dwelling and also used for the purpose of manufacturing coats, vests, trousers, or wearing apparel of any description, it should, within the meaning of the law, be deemed a workshop. By the term "workshop" was meant what was already ingrafted in the laws of our commonwealth; that is, a legal definition of the term "workshop" had been given long before any law relating to the tenement house system of manufacture had been introduced; this plainly stated that by the term "workshop" was meant any room or place used for the purpose of manufacture, and over which the proprietor or employer had the right of access or control, but excepted any premises where a majority of those employed were members of the family dwelling therein; so, that you can see that in the enactment of the original labor laws of Massachusetts, every effort was used to bring within the scope of the law all premises wherein labor was employed, and yet guarantee every protection possible to home life and freedom from the surveillance of officers of the law. This law, however, contained a clause which restricts the employment of labor in any tenement or dwelling, to the family or any member thereof dwelling therein; it also provided that when any wearing apparel was made in any house or room in any tenement or dwelling used as a workshop they should have attached to each garment a tag or label upon which should be marked the words "tenement made," and the town or city where made. This law also contained a provision which was intended to prevent the importation into the State of garments which had been previously made under unhealthful conditions; and this provision was successfully enforced until similar laws were enacted in other States, and particularly the great State of New York, from which the majority of this class of clothing was produced. The Massachusetts law, crude at first, has been amended from time to time, as, I suppose, have the laws of other States, with the result that to-day it is a violation of statute law to employ labor in any room or place in any tenement or dwelling house for the manufacture of wearing apparel.

This is a long stride from the first law which was enacted eight years ago; it is the final step in the right direction; for, with our advanced civilization, it would seem that every protection possible should be guaranteed by the State to its citizens that what they wear and eat is made under healthful conditions. What the final decision of our Supreme Courts may be if the law is carried up on constitutional ground I dare not predict, but if there is any justice in law, I believe the principle involved will be maintained as a just and righteous one, and also constitutional. If a man can cover violations of our labor laws by throwing the false mantle of the right to do as he pleases in his home, and maintain therein a workshop, gaining thereby an advantage over others, and, preventing proper inspection at will by officers of the State, the whole fabric of the laws tending to restrict tenement-house manufacture falls to the ground. You can see by a perusal of the law that the real principle at stake to-day is the right to employ labor in the home for the purpose of manufacturing.

When this principle is passed upon as good law, it may then be extended as it should be to other industries; for if there is to be any comfort in living and being, the shop must go where it belongs, and not be run in conjunction with the home to the detriment of others and the degradation of labor employed therein. The right to use a room or apartment in any tenement or dwelling for the manufacture of wearing apparel is dependent upon two important restrictions; first, that there be no connection with any room used for living or sleeping purposes, and second, that a separate entrance to the shop from the outside must be provided. This right granted under the law might well have been left out, but was necessarily added, as without it the law would probably have failed of enactment.

You can readily see that what has been accomplished in Massachusetts has not been secured in a day, and that by patience and perseverance, much can be accomplished by accepting what is granted, and, appealing for more, which is the only way to reach the desired end, for, as the saying goes, "Rome was not built in a day," and step by step, perfection and equality between States in our labor laws may be attained, which is the end sought for by those who were the originators of these conventions.
